Foreword

A school is an everchanging institution; it is a dynamic thing moving along irresistably, generation after generation. To the students of the school is given the responsibility of carrying on the traditions, and the high ideals of their Alma Mater.

In this book we have endeavored to perpetuate the present, for memories in the future.

"O, young Mariner,
Down to the haven,
Call your companions,
Launch your vessel
And, ere it vanishes
Over the margin,
After it, follow it,
Follow the Gleam."

I can think of no better words with which to greet you, students, than these fine lines of Tennyson.

Here in your High School you have great opportunities. You are fortunate in being in a large high school where there are many chances for self-expression in scholarship, athletics and student body activities. I would have you learn the great lesson of working with others, to call your companions and launch your vessel and, having begun your task, I would have you put your whole soul in it, crowd your canvas.

But, I would have you realize that all your individual and concerted effort will be of no avail if your vessel has no guiding star. So this is my message: First of all, set before your eyes a worthy ideal, then with all the zeal of youth which is yours—

"Ere it vanishes
Over the margin,
After it, follow it,
Follow the Gleam."

GEORGE MOYSE, Principal.

Greetings from Our Vice-Principals

DEAR STUDENTS:

My wish for you is a big one. I wish every good thing in life for each one of you. A special message of good will goes to you Seniors who are leaving our high school. I hope each one of you will carry in your heart a real affection for your high school and may you, whenever possible, come back to visit her.

A last word of advice? You don't want that, so I will just say again, may your lives be fine and happy and may you look back to your high school as having in some measure helped to make for your success and happiness. If your high school has done that she has succeeded gloriously.

ETHEL HUME FLOOD MOYSE.

DEAR STUDENTS:

The members of the Class of 1927 have contributed to the welfare of the school during their four years of residence. These years cover a period of interesting development and growth. The school has increased in numbers, and it has moved into new buildings with correspondingly new equipment, but the greatest change has been in the development of an increased loyalty to the school.

The members of the Class are to be commended for the constructive work they have done and our best wishes go with them as they complete their High School course.

A. L. FERGUSON.

Student Body

First Semester Cabinet

Sunderland

Glendale Union High School's prestige as one of the foremost schools using the student body plan is due in no small measure to the excellent work of the Cabinet, whose activities strongly show the spirit of service brought out in the school motto, "Scholarship, Sportsmanship and Service."

Although the Cabinet started its year's work without a president, it met in the first week of school, elected Bob Curwell vice-president, and continued under his leadership until a president could be elected by the Student Body. At the earliest possible time, the day for election of the President was set. Dick Sunderland was elected.

The most important work of the First Semester's Cabinet was the adoption of the Student Government plan.

Second Semester Cabinet

The Second Semester Cabinet, under the leadership of President Tom Muff, has steadily worked all through the term for the betterment of the school. Even though they were often confronted with difficult problems, all were successfully solved. One of the most serious obstacles which they have overcome is the auditorium seating. The plan was finally made to seat the students alphabetically by classes, and many hours were spent assigning the seats. This plan was found to be entirely successful.

Other work done was the setting of the date for the election of the Stylus editor, the plans for a better parking system, and much other business of the school.

Student Council

A great step forward was made last semester when the students voted to establish a Student Council. The purpose of the council was to straighten out all difficulties arising among the students over school spirit, discipline, attitude and the like. The court was established in February at the regular student body election.

The Student Council members elected were: Harold Campbell, chairman; Jack Copeland, Jean Williams, Doris Carver and Carroll Toll.

When the court was put in operation there were about ten cases each day which were considered by it. At the present time an average of three or four a day come before it. This shows that the purpose for which it was instituted has been carried out to some degree, namely, to decrease the number of students who break the rules.

The Student Council is composed of students and places in them the sole power of giving demerits and rewarding students for good services to the schools. The organization, according to Harold Campbell, chairman, is a contribution to student government, which is here to stay. He believes this because of the way in which it has succeeded in the past semester.

The Council meets every day of the school week and considers the cases of the more than three thousand students. When one considers the number of students, it is truly remarkable that there are only three or four cases each day. "The Council is an informal body meeting, at the present time, every day to talk to and put the ideals of the school in a different light to the students who break the rules."

Boys' League

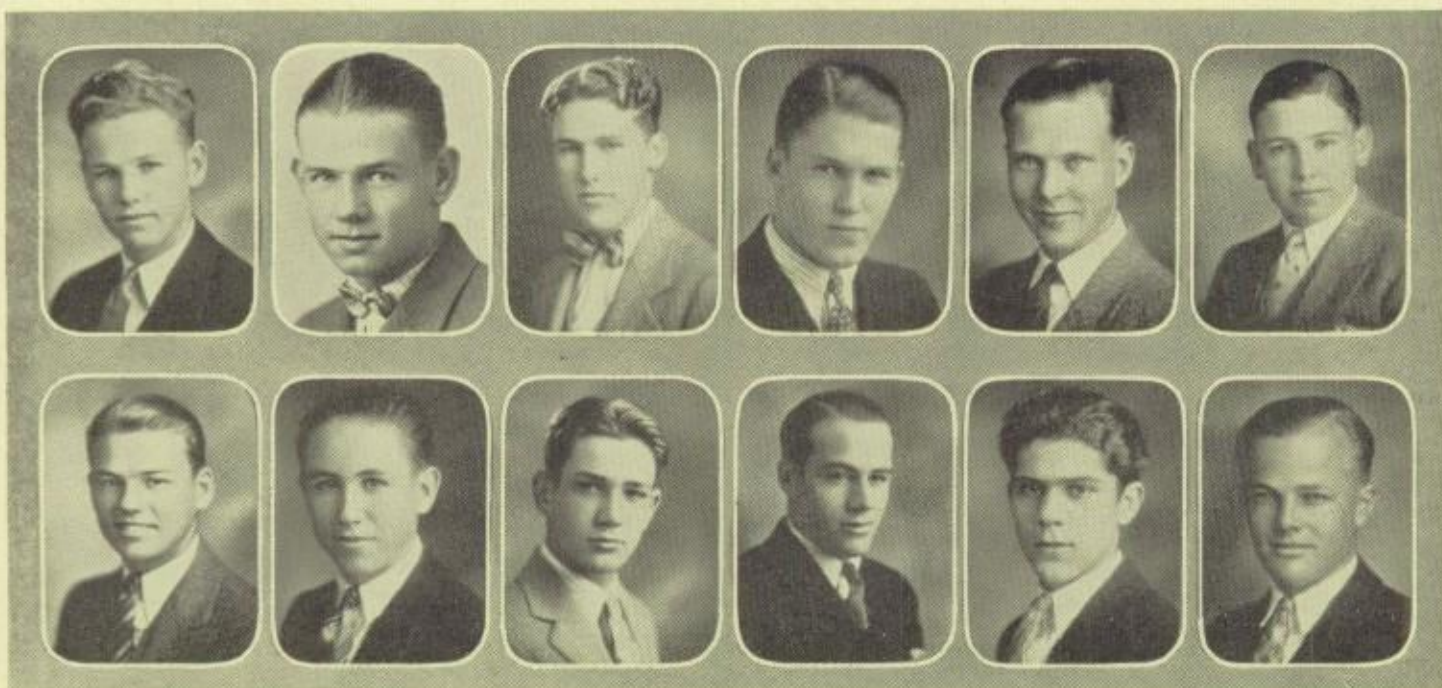

Established early in the history of the school, the Boys' League has become one of Glendale's oldest traditions. With a high standard set before them by many previous years of existence, the year 1926-1927 showed, nevertheless, a progress never before made by the League.

"Pep, Enthusiasm, and School Spirit," the motto of the boys, has truly been a standard worth attaining, and with the enthusiastic assistance of each boy in the school, the ideal set by this motto has really meant something in the League.

With the cooperation of all, the annual stunt party brought to a successful close the first semester of the school year. Over one thousand boys and dads, a larger number than ever before, attended the party at which boxing rounds in which western amateur bantam-weight champion Huerta Evans and other Glendale boys, Bill Tibert, Neil Chrisman, Victor Dupuy, and Mortimer Oakes, were featured; well-known radio entertainers; several reels of comedy; and excellent free food, all contributed to the success of the evening.

The executive board of the first semester was: President, George Laas; vice-president, David Zaun; secretary-treasurer, Harry Clark; order chairman, Eugene Clark; welfare chairman, Ural Johnson, and entertainment chairman, Preston Hanning. For the second semester the boys elected Dick Sunderland, president; Dick West, vice-president; Varian Sloan, secretary-treasurer; Allen Lovell, order chairman; Alejandro Madrid, welfare chairman; and Lloyd Morgan, entertainment chairman.

The League was always ready to do any service for the school, and cooperated in every way with the philanthropic work of the Girls' League.

Girls' League

Striving always to uphold its standard of "Service, Loyalty, Friendship," the Girls' League has overcome every obstacle, and come to the end of the year victorious, with much accomplished. This success, which has surpassed that of any other year, has been made possible only through the loyal cooperation of each member of the League, and the earnest effort of the presidents and executive boards of both semesters to reach a higher standard than had ever before been attained.

Organizing in 1917, and receiving her charter from the California Federation of Girls' Leagues, Glendale has now had ten years of rapid growth as little sister of the Southern California Federation. In but a short time she showed such a record of achievement that she was admitted to the upper division of inter-city Girls' Leagues—a record of which to be proud. In 1924 the girls demonstrated their true democratic spirit by voting, approximately five to one for the adoption of the uniform dress. To exchange ideas and plans with Girls' Leagues of other schools, and to further friendship between other schools and ourselves, Glendale sent representatives to two Girls' League Conventions this year, one in Monrovia, and the other in South Pasadena.

The outstanding event in the progress of the League for the year 1926-1927 has been the establishment of the Big Sister organization, which gives each incoming Sophomore a Senior big sister who takes her to her classes the first day and who watches out for her during the year. A Big-Sister party was given at the first of the semester to enable the B10 girls to become better acquainted with the Seniors.

Being second in size only to the Student Body, many problems confronted the executive board in promoting a stronger feeling of friendship among the girls. This was overcome by giving the girls a chance to help with candy and pom-pom sales and with the philanthropic work. The girls also wrote their own songs and yells, and chose a League yell leader.

Many of the biggest social events of the school year have been sponsored by the Girls' League. The annual Girls' Stunt party was the first big event at which the girls all joined in a big masquerade party. The classes gave stunts for entertainment, and an evening of dancing followed. At the end of the football season the annual Football Banquet was given to the boys of the teams, a delicious dinner being served by the executive board of the League. Special effort was put forth on the annual Home-Coming Day, when alumni were welcomed back to their Alma Mater and entertained with programs and dancing throughout the day.

Madrid . . . Carver . . . Taylor . . . Case . . . Williams . . . McCoubrey
Brant . . . Williams . . . Priaulx . . . Miller . . . Heustis . . . Zaun . . . Osborne

The philanthropic work was the best ever accomplished by the League. At Thanksgiving time a "bring a potato and apple" contest was held between the boys and the girls. Two large boxes were placed in the main halls, and the boys tried to fill their box before the girls. The apples and potatoes were given to the poor for their Thanksgiving. At Christmas, a tag sale resulted in over one hundred dollars which was presented to the welfare committee of Glendale to help give a happier Christmas to many poor children. Each second period class also filled a Christmas stocking with toys, nuts and fruit, which the girls took down to the pupils of the Boyd Street School in Los Angeles for their annual Christmas party. At Easter a "penny hunt" was held in which the students contributed pennies for the expenses of an Easter party given by the League for the children of the Boyd Street School.

Honor Society

Hanna

Distinctive in having been the first high school of California to give awards for high scholarship, Glendale has, since 1913, when the idea was first originated by Mrs. Moyse, used this method of recognizing students who keep up the school average of scholarship by devotion to studies.

Realizing the value of such a system of honor awards in high schools, the California Scholarship Federation was later organized, and patterned after

Hunt

Glendale's plans. Glendale joined the Federation in 1925 as Local Chapter 112, and the State Federation seal is now stamped on the diplomas and the college recommendations of all students graduating with high honor.

Bronze, silver and gold Glendale Honor Pins are awarded to students as they add semesters of honor work to their records. Later, upon graduation, those students who are high enough in scholarship receive the State Federation pins.

Each year the class having the highest percentage of scholarship receives a silver loving cup and have their class numeral engraved upon it. The Seniors won the cup both semesters this year.

The Honor Society does not neglect the social side of life, as they had an excellent banquet at Thanksgiving time and a picnic at Brookside this Spring.

Ushers

A large auditorium, much bigger than auditoriums of most high schools, and as large as many theaters, requires careful planning and capable management of those in charge.

Under the capable direction of Mabel Irwin, faculty advisor, and Beth Patterson, head usher, the system of student ushering in the auditorium worked to perfection.

Plenty of girls were present each performance, dressed in the simple white uniform, to capably, and without confusion handle the large crowds of people who attend high school productions. Flash lights were used at night performances after the house was darkened, and the year was successfully completed with no complaints during the entire time.

The girls were always present in sufficient number to handle the people who attended each performance at the high school, and the capable system used rivals that of many theaters and municipal auditoriums.

At the performance of "Once In a Blue Moon" the ushers dressed in unique Spanish peasant costumes to lend atmosphere to the production.

On several occasions the girls were asked to usher at other than school events, the girls willingly consenting to do this work for other organizations than the school.

Projectionists, Ticket Sellers, Etc.

The work done this year by the ticket sellers and ticket takers deserves much praise, as it is as capable and harmonious as that of professional workers in many theatres.

Under the direction of Freeland Templeton, manager of the auditorium, and Roy D. Johnson, his assistant, the work of these boys has gone on smoothly throughout the entire year with no mistakes. Although many tickets were sold to thousands of people, no complaints of any kind were made.

The boys also showed their school loyalty by watching the doors at every assembly to prevent confusion after the assemblies had started.

The projectionists have also done excellent work with the moving picture machine. Although there have not been many pictures this year they were always ready to run them, and to do it as well as professionals. Eugene Killie deserves much credit for "breaking in" the new projectionists this year.

Stage Crew

The success or failure of a production depends largely upon the stage crew, yet but little credit is given to the boys who work practically every night after school, painting scenery, and planning settings for all the high school productions.

Under the direction of Harold Brewster, who is himself an experienced theatrical worker and scenic artist, the stage crew has accomplished much during the past year. The purchase of the new cyclorama, a curtain that can be used to give an interior-exterior effect, was one of the greatest achievements.

The work done on the settings, scenery, and lighting for the dramatic presentations of the year were beautiful. Much experience was gained by the crew in working on the settings for the Three One-Act Plays, in which three entirely different sets were used, which entailed quick changes. Later came the work on the Variety Show, for which a beautiful curtain was painted, for curtain acts. The most elaborate and beautiful settings, however, were made for "Once in a Blue Moon," the opera, the Spanish Festival setting being especially attractive. The work on the Senior Play, "Adam and Eva," concluded the work of the stage crew for the year.

Charles Fischer was stage crew manager for the first semester, and Dick Wilson took his place for the second semester. Both boys did excellent work in helping Mr. Brewster manage the crew, and their work.

The members of the crew were: Charles Fischer, Edison Ostrom, Milford Brunner, Richard Wilson, Barret Brown, Horace Davenport and Richard Fisher.

Student Body Bank

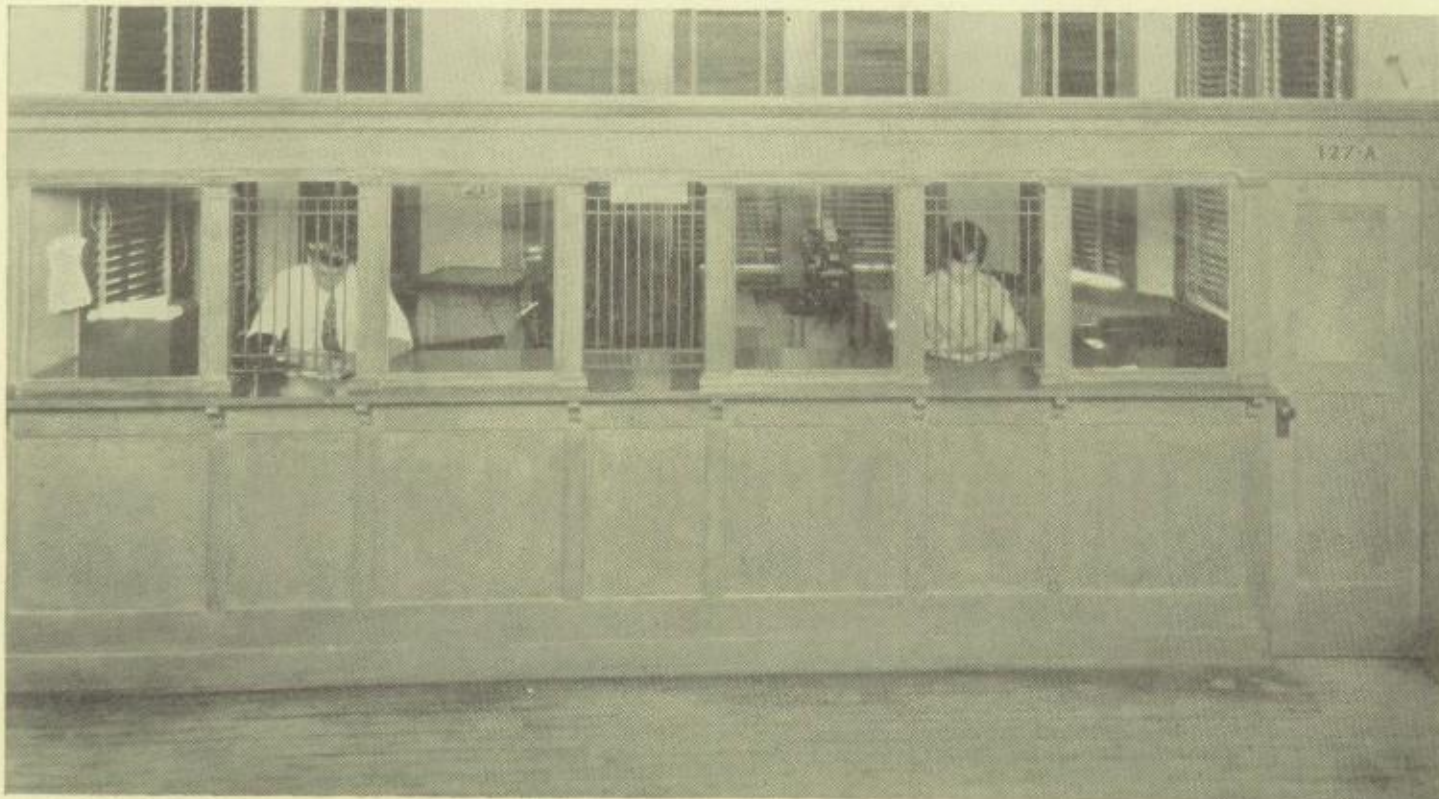

An organization started only at the beginning of this school year, yet one which has already proved its importance is the Student Body Bank. It replaces the old system of having the Secretary of Finance in the office for one period a day, as this plan was outgrown, and has filled a definite need of the school as it handles all Student Body money of every kind, including clubs and organizations.

Before this year, the system of handling the money was extremely difficult as the clubs had trouble in locating the Secretary of Finance when they had money to deposit. The Student Body funds were taken care of in inadequate quarters and under poor conditions.

Now the bank is located in room 127, with ample space to work, and with a convenient place in which to transact the business. The students do all the work, and the bank is open from eight o'clock in the morning until four in the afternoon. Mr. Noble, faculty advisor, Dorothy Armstrong and Dean Evans, Secretaries of Finance for the last two semesters, have been in direct charge of the work.

About twelve thousand dollars are on hand all the time. This makes a centralized control possible. The regulations of the school budget must be lived up to, and a timely record of all the money, is always on hand. Purchase orders, and orders for check signed by faculty advisors, are necessary to draw money, and deposit slips must be made out when money is deposited.

Dorothy's assistants the first semester were: Helen Austill, posting; Inez Boyd, Dean Evans, Ruth Stahlberg, Martha Blanchard, Josephine Miller, and Clarice Parisia. Dean's assistants the second semester were: Jo Miller, posting; Rex Graeb, Garnet Lord, Ruth Rinker, Ethel West, Waldo Winger, Margaret Alley and Clarice Parisia.

Library

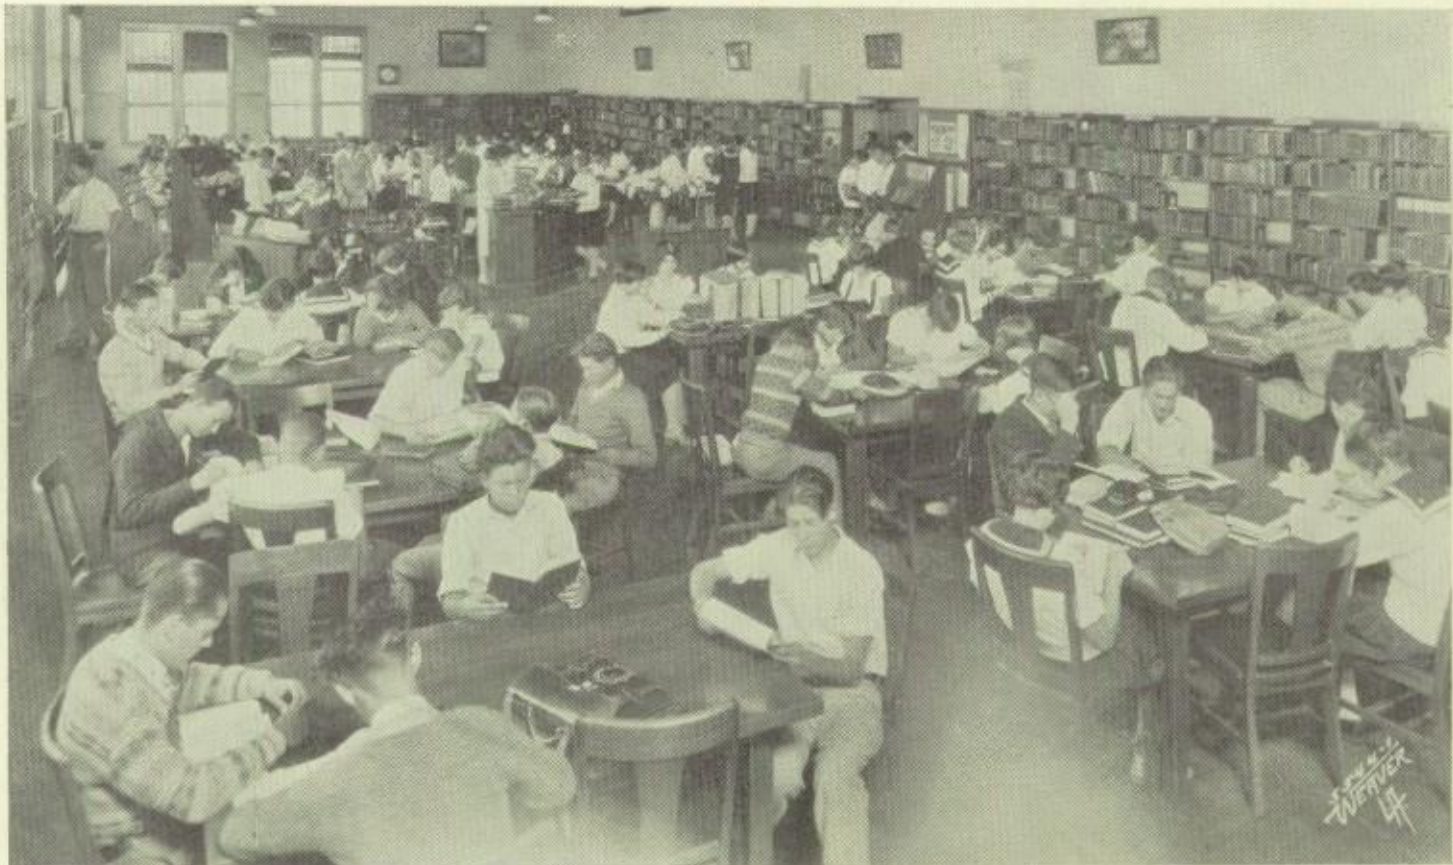

An important part of the school, used by hundreds of students daily, is the Glendale Union High School Library. Many reference books, which answer nearly every desire of the students are found in this room. It is pleasantly located on the quiet patio of the school, is always quiet, and an ideal place to study, surrounded by thousands of books, and with a studious, peaceful atmosphere in the room.

Miss Daisy Lake, head librarian, and Miss Mildred E. Smith, assistant, are always present to help locate books and to solve any problems which might arise. Students from the library classes have charge of the desk and rapidly check in and out the books.

Practically every type of book may be found which is needed by the high school students for reference, and in addition to these books all the modern magazines are subscribed for by the library. Many bound magazines are on the shelves, several sets of encyclopedias and several hundred copies of fiction are also a part of the library equipment. New books are added from time to time and the library is kept entirely up to date.

The exchanges, papers from other schools which are received by the journalism classes, are taken up to the library and filed for the use of the students. This is an interesting feature as students may look up the papers of any school in which they are interested. Another thing of interest in the library is the file of old Explosions.

The library is kept open from seven forty-five until four o'clock, and any student may take out books. A system of fining is used similar to that used in all public libraries.

Hard at Work

Students Book Store

One of the greatest conveniences of the school is the book store which is run by the students, for the benefit of the students. It is conveniently located on one of the main halls of the school, and carries all supplies which the students need in their school life. Paper, ink, art and mechanical supplies, pencils and pens, notebooks, G. U. H. S. stickers and banners, gym suits, track suits, tennis rackets, balls, visors, sweat shirts, and all other supplies which the students need in their school work.

The book store was established with the opening of the Broadway plant, and when first opened sold only note books, paper, pens and pencils. The stock was soon increased and more articles have been added each year until now it is a true store, rivaling the city stores of this type in variety of stock.

The store is open in the morning for about fifteen minutes before first and second period, during both lunch periods, and after school. The stock is conveniently placed so that the service is fast, and many students patronize the store each day.

Cliff Jenkins, manager of the store, and Ruth and Vera Wilson, who have been his assistants, have capably handled the store this year, and have done much hard work in making it a success. Miss Mabel Murphy, faculty advisor, has cooperated with them at all times.

The store is on a firm financial basis, and the profits are under the Student Body budget system, making it entirely a store for the students, financed and run by them.

Cafeteria

Showing even greater efficiency than has been found before, the splendid cafeteria of the school has rapidly served hundreds of students each lunch period every day in the week, rivaling the speed of any cafeteria to be found.

The larger cafeteria, which is for students only, accommodates twelve hundred persons comfortably, while the faculty cafeteria, although smaller, easily takes care of the teachers and office force.

Although it was thought impossible for the boys and girls to eat together, the last two years have found this is not the case, as the students have been eating together successfully during that time. Although members of the cabinet are present to quiet any disorder which might arise, they have seldom been found necessary.

Student administration prevails in both cafeterias, a boy being elected by the Cabinet to manage the cafeteria and all student help. Mr. Furgeson from the administration, Miss Hanson from the faculty, and Mr. Fullen, auditor, counsel with the manager at all times, to aid him in his work. Kenneth White was manager for both semesters this year, while Ezra Smith and Ewart Cornwall were assistant managers, always ready to help him with the work.

Only the best of material is put into the food, and it is sold at cost to the students. Varied and well planned meals are given to the students each day.

Plans are being rapidly completed for a lunch stand to be placed near the new gym. It will have one or two hot dishes each day, a hamburger plate for frying hamburgers, and will sell sandwiches, candy, ice cream, and pie to the students. This will prove a great asset in handling the large numbers of students in such short time.

STYLUS HISTORY

The history of Glendale Union High School is one of romance. The first tiny high school located on the corner of Brand and Broadway would be completely lost in the present large plant of the school's at Broadway and at Harvard. The history of the Stylus, and its parallel growth with the school, is correspondingly one of real interest to the students.

Growing from a tiny monthly magazine, first published in 1909, the Stylus has increased and improved until now it rivals even the college yearbooks, being larger than the annual of any college or prep school in California outside of the University of California at Los Angeles, the University of Southern California and Stanford.

This was the second printed publication of the school, the first being study catalogs published from 1903 to 1910 under the name of Manual of Glendale Union High School. The books were about twenty pages each, and were about half the size of the Stylus. In 1908 the manual gave the plans for the beautiful new Harvard High School. In 1910 the last of these manuals was printed, containing 140 pages, and being the best ever published.

After 1910 the manual's place was taken by the monthly Stylus. Two years later the plans again changed, and from 1911 to 1913 the Stylus was published by the four classes. The editions contained practically no pictures, and were almost entirely literary magazines.

In 1913 the first annual was published by the Senior class. This plan was kept in existence until last year, when the first year book was published by the Student Body of the high school.

The Stylus during this time constantly improved, increasing in size, and each year more and more resembling the annual with which the students are now acquainted.

In 1925 the first stiff leather cover was used, and many new features were introduced into the book. So excellent was this edition that it was judged among the ten best of its size in the entire United States.

The 1926 Stylus, first annual published by the entire Student Body, proved that the new plan of management was a success. It won first place in the Southern California competition, the only contest in which it was entered.

Stylus

"An original and more complete Stylus, of greater interest to the Student Body," has been the motto of the staff in planning this year's publication. From cover to cover this motto has been lived up to by all members of the staff.

The cover has been changed, a new and more beautiful design and colors having been chosen for this important part of the publication. The interesting design on the inside of the cover is another innovation of the edition this year.

The etchings for the view section made by an artist from Hollywood, and the use of three colors in the opening section, divisional pages and borders are phases seldom to be found in a high school annual, while the 15th century theme has suggested pictures of fair ladies, knights and castles, which make unique and beautiful art work.

As the school magazines, the Quill and the Jester have afforded an opportunity for the expression of those students who are literarily inclined, the need for a literary section in the Stylus has decreased, and this section is now replaced by a new Harvard section, which devotes many more pages than ever before to the activities of the other branch of the school.

In every section an attempt has been made to give a complete and interesting account of all events of the years. The staff and the faculty advisor, Mr. Adams, have co-operated in every way in working for an improved Stylus.

On the last of March, after an extensive publicity program—the big Stylus sale was put over in an original and successful manner. The sale was conducted through the second period classes under the supervision of the class representative. Each of these sold the Stylus in his room, and those representatives making a 100% sale in the room received a free Stylus.

Explosion

First Semester

"A timely echo of student opinion and a weekly chronicle of events," is a phrase which has very aptly been used to describe the weekly paper of the school, the Explosion.

The paper is a necessary part of school life. It reflects the progress of the school, brings the students into closer contact with one another and serves as a promoter of school spirit.

Under the capable leadership of Dorothy McMahon editor, the First Semester staff turned out a paper each week which was always worthy of the name of Glendale High School. The news was interesting, complete and timely, and the paper was one which was looked forward to each Friday of the semester.

As the staff was rather small, only three permanent officers were kept during the semester—the editor, the business manager, Susie Smith, and the sports editor, Nathan Finch. The rest of the staff rotated monthly, serving a different position on the staff each month.

On November 9 the staff, assisted by one class of "B" journalists, further showed their ability by publishing a complete edition of the Glendale Press. The other "B" journalism class published the Explosion that week, making a special eight-page edition of a smaller size.

Publishing the most successful paper in the history of the school, the Second Semester Explosion staff had as their goal "A paper which is entirely read by all the students."

This goal was attained, as more interesting and novel papers were published each week that had ever been before written.

A successful attempt was made to have the paper different each week. Many new features were introduced, the sports page was made especially interesting, girls' sports were recognized, and plenty of humor and snappy stories were found in each paper.

A special desert trip pay edition was put on April 3, and a humorous paper was put out on Carnival Day. On Homecoming Day the alumni received a special alumni edition, and on March 14th, "B" journalists edited a special edition boosting the sale of Stylus.

Quill

Again showing the originality and initiative of Glendale High, one of the first monthly literary magazines published by high school students in California was started in May, 1926. Two issues of this magazine were published that year before

With Belle Veysey as editor, and with a staff chosen from the Explosion, Stylus and Scribblers' Club, the magazine was published every month of the first semester of this school year.

It was named "The Jester," and the first issue of this new magazine proved to be all its name promised.

Harvard Student Body

Mr. McDowell

During the last two semesters Harvard's government has been entirely separate from that of Broadway. This new system has been a big success; much of which is due to Mr. McDowell, faculty advisor, and the fine way that the Student Body and its officers have cooperated with him.

Although one would think there existed a divided spirit between the two schools, they are working together in an exceedingly harmonious manner, each helping the other.

Harvard now has its own cabinet of student officers coping with the many problems which naturally arise in connection with school life. The Freshmen have their own bookstore, well-equipped with all the necessities of the students, their library which has been used more during the last year than ever before, and their cafeteria supplying good hot food.

Harvard has made progress in many ways during the past year; likewise the number of students increased until the enrollment was 877. This large class has had many new organizations and activities added to its number during the last year—a Boys' League as well as a Girls' League were installed, separate from the leagues at Broadway. Each league has its own officers, elected semi-annually, and its own business assemblies, and meetings. The Freshmen have never before had an Honor Society, but this year an assembly was held especially for the purpose of awarding pins to the forty-two students who had received the required grades; this shows that Harvard students have not fallen down in scholarship. A staff was organized under the direction of Miss Helmer; and with the assistance of the A9 English classes, was very helpful to the Explosion staff at Broadway. A large orchestra of well trained students played in assemblies and in outside affairs. Many pupils were engaged in hall and ground duty during different periods of the day. It is easily seen that every student is trying to take part in some phase of the school's activities, or organization; and all cooperating together, the students of Harvard have experienced a most successful year.

Not only should the students receive credit for the success of the affairs during the past year, but the staff of teachers, advisors, and office force are responsible to a large degree.

First Semester Cabinet

It has been customary for the Freshmen to send a representative to the cabinet at Broadway, but this year a new system was started; Harvard had its own cabinet. The officers, elected semi-annually, were students well capable of dealing with the problems of the school.

Jack Wilson, a prominent student, well fitted for the office, was elected President of the Student Body; Julia Benson was Secretary of State; Danny Gribbon, Secretary of Finance; Carl Allabrand, Secretary of Publications; Billy Straus, President of the Boys' League; Marie Zaun, President of the Girls' League; Clifton Hanning, Yell Leader; Leoone Rockhold, Secretary of Girls' Athletics, and Huerta Evans, Secretary of Boys' Athletics. Because the cabinet was such a new organization, there were a number of problems which had to be dealt with, but the cabinet met regularly and attended to the business affairs of the school.

Major Cunningham Dundas Morgan Bogen Allison Carleton

Second Semester Cabinet

The biggest problem of the second semester cabinet was the Freshman party: the cabinet had to arrange committees, plan the program, etc. Some members wanted outside entertainers, but local talent was decided upon. The question of class pins arose, and had to be decided upon.

The Student Body elected nine well qualified students as representatives in the cabinet: Ralph Cunningham served a successful term as President of the Student Body; Mary Jane Morgan was Secretary of State; Chilton Allison, Secretary of Finance; Eleanor Carleton, Secretary of Publications; Harry Bogen, President of Boys' League; Barbara Major, President of the Girls' League; Frances Jones, Yell Leader; Frances Dundas, Secretary of Girls' Athletics and of Boys' Athletics.

Boys' League

The Boys' League as a very new organization at Harvard has been a success, especially in creating a much better feeling of fellowship in the school.

Billy Straus was president of the league during the first semester; John Pauluiso, vice-president. During the second semester Harry Bogen performed the duties of the president; Raymond Suttin, vice-president; and Sam Blake, secretary. The main business ordeals were placed in the hands of the different committees where they were attended to in a very orderly and business-like manner.

The boys enjoyed many entertaining and helpful assemblies. On October 20, Mr. Slate of the Glendale Air Port, the inventor of the Slate dirigible, demonstrated the working of his airship and explained the theory behind it; he had a small model which added to the interest of his talk. Mr. Ferguson, who is the advisor of the Boys' League, gave several instructive messages to the boys. On one occasion the entire assembly was devoted to boxing. The fellows eagerly watched the three exciting matches directed by Huerta Evans. Another assembly was turned over to Mr. Cheeseman of the Boy Scouts. He spoke on the trails in the mountains beyond Glendale, and he told of many of his personal experiences which were enjoyable to all. A very entertaining assembly was the one in which some clever stunts and original acts were staged. The numbers included a play written by a member of the league, a fake strong man, and several fine musical numbers.

Because the first two presidents have been such good ones, the Boys' League has been well established as a helpful and instructive organization; it has done its part in bettering school spirit and in making Harvard High what it should be. It is hoped that in the years to come the achievements and activities of the league will be such that will make it an outstanding organization in school life.

Girls' League

The past year has marked the installation of a Girls' League at Harvard entirely separate from that of Broadway.

During the first semester Marie Zaun served a successful term as president of the league. Catherine Fox was Vice-President; Virginia Wise, Secretary; Christine Vahey, Uniform Chairman; Doris Granicker, Chairman of the Social Committee; Frances Macheret, Entertainment Committee; Eleanor Carleton, Chairman Publicity Committee; Barbara Major, Philanthropic Chairman; Rose Lamkin, Friendship Chairman; and Julia Benson, Welfare Chairman.

Barbara Major was elected President for the second semester. Margaret Campbell was Vice-President; Marian Campbell, Secretary; Bernardine Olson, Uniform Chairman; Catharine Fox, Social Chairman; Carol Smith, Entertainment Chairman; Eleanor Carleton, Publicity Chairman; Irma Smith, Philanthropic Chairman; Carol Downe, Friendship Chairman; Geraldine Mars, Welfare Chairman; and Daisy Siberell, Finance Chairman.

The League's busiest moments were around Christmas when an appeal was made by the Philanthropic Committee asking the girls to bring toys, fruit, and nuts to fill stockings for those less fortunate than they.

Near the end of the year some exceedingly good assemblies were put on. There were two outstanding ones: in the first a play entitled "Nevertheless" was enacted by three girls, Ruth Becker, Jean McAllister, and Carol Smith. There were also some very good musical numbers. In the second assembly a guitar duet was played by Irma Smith and Ruth Olson. This number was followed by a clever skit imitating a famous magician, "Madam How-Can-She;" this part was taken by Elizabeth Talbot-Martin. Her assistants were Betty Cannon, Florence Anderson, and Irma Smith.

The Girls' League has experienced one successful year due to the faithfulness and cooperation of its officers and members. It has done a great deal to promote a spirit of friendliness among the girls, and to make them feel at home.

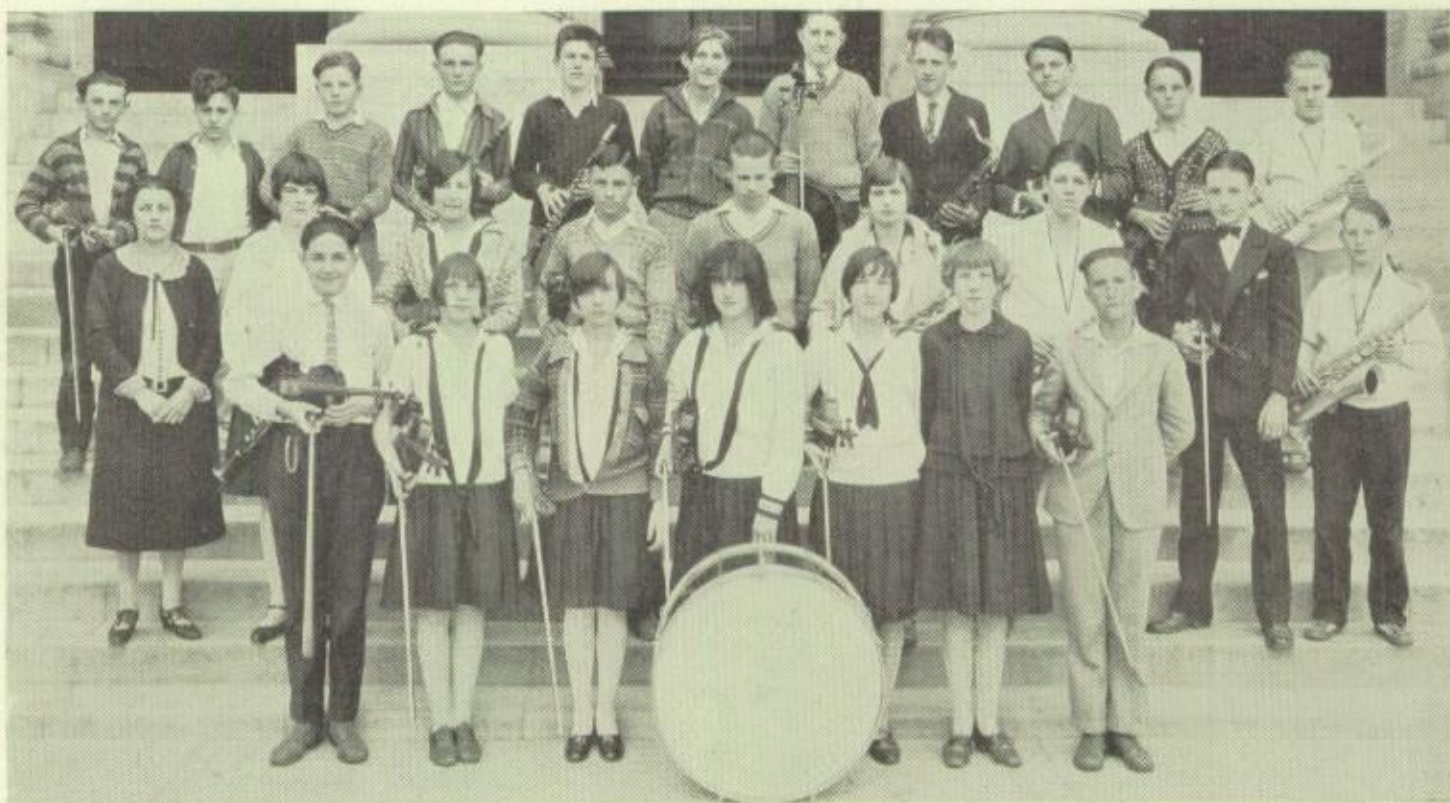

Orchestra

Harvard's Orchestra has been helpful by playing in assemblies during the two past semesters; it has played for Girl Scout Programs and for the Parent-Teachers' Association. Three members of the orchestra were in the Glendale Symphony Orchestra; they included Harold Stancliff, violin; Robert Wilson, cello; and Myra Dennis, harpist. Myra played some beautiful solo parts at the concert given March 15.

In the assembly of March 24, music was the important feature. Winslow Adams played a cello solo entitled, "Serenade Badine;" Maxine Driggs, violinist, and Winslow Adams entertained with a duet, "Iris;" and the Harvard stringed trio, composed of Maxine Driggs, Joseph Kneisel, and Winslow Adams, played "Roses." These selections were greatly enjoyed by the audience.

The orchestra itself, under the direction of Mrs. Rogers, has been a pleasing and entertaining factor in the school; during the second semester a marked increase in players was noticeable. Those playing during the first semester were: Grace Bonwell, piano; Leslie Gerard, drums; Sol Garison, Joseph Kneisel and Lyman Pinkston, first violin; Mick Madonna, Paul Pierce and Francis Green, second violin; Constance Woodward, Francisco Benetti, Lawrence Rice and Stanley Gunther, obligato; Mar Fraley and Wayne Harden, first clarinet; Irving Graham, second clarinet; Wilber Abbott, cornet; William Smith, Brehman Robinson and Beatrice Gunther, saxophone.

Assemblies

Some very entertaining assemblies were held at Harvard during the past year; much credit is due the committee that arranged them. On this committee were Mr. Adams, chairman; Miss Mains, Miss Williams, Mrs. Rogers, and Mr. Wolfe.

An exciting debate was the feature of the Thanksgiving assembly held November 24. On December 10, an assembly was called to celebrate the victories obtained in the Oratorical Contest. The class was exceedingly enthusiastic, having won second place for the oration by their speaker, first place in the line of march, first place in class spirit, and second place for its tableau. Many of the people who made these victories possible were on the stage.

Harvard for the first time had its own Honor Society. The Honor students appeared first in the assembly at Broadway, and a week later received their pins in an assembly at Harvard. In the latter assembly Mrs. Moyse explained the meaning of Scholarship; this talk was enjoyable and instructive. The orchestra played and the pins were awarded. A Booster Assembly was held April 19. Preston Hanning gave a booster talk urging everyone to buy a Jester; he also sang "Mother Machree," with the assembly joining him on the chorus. Eleanor Carlton and Ralph Cunningham spoke in regard to the plans for Freshman Night.

The wonderful spirit in assemblies as well as in the Oratorical was largely due to the fine yell leaders and their cooperation with the Student Body. Clifton Hanning and Frances Jones devoted a great deal of time in bettering class spirit among the Freshmen; and their efforts were not in vain, for their class had the reputation of being one of the liveliest classes of the four.

Although the stage manager is seldom heard of, he is behind the scenes and is largely responsible for the activities on the stage. Charles Tryon's managing of the stage was an important factor in the success of the different assemblies.

Stage Managers

Yell Leaders

Harvard Explosion Staff

The Freshmen have been getting more and more space in the Explosion; their section contained Harvard society, faculty news, musical events, resumes of assemblies, debating results, and in general all about the doings of the school, students, and teachers.

The various A9 English classes were very instrumental in helping to gather news, and they co-operated with the members of the Harvard staff in trying to give their class better publicity, and more of it. Eleanor Carlton had charge of the news; her assistants were Irma Smith and Elizabeth Talbot-Martin. Miss Helmer, faculty advisor, was always helpful and instructive to the reporters.

The Harvard Spark mirrored the events of school life; and many Freshmen have the right idea in starting to keep an Explosion file which will be of great value to them in future years, for there is no better way of keeping a permanent record of school events.

Cafeteria

Since the fall of 1926 the cafeteria trade has increased 505. Under the able direction of Miss Swayer, four women assistants, and 28 student helpers, the cafeteria served about 600 students daily.

The students always received the best attention and they greatly enjoyed as well as appreciated the delicious nourishing food offered them.

Workers through both semesters were: Julia Benson, Frances Green, Bill Straus, Paul Pierce, James Morrow, Olive Shildrick, Charles Schneider, Mariam Clewett, William Maxfield, Barbara Dorrance, Margaret Johansson, Edith Boyce, Millie Barnes, Herb Mars, Frances Jones, Claire Zarembo, James Rains, Helen Scott and Edith Vailancour.

Those who worked only during the second semester include: Frances Dundas, Jessie Edwards, Jeggy Griffen, Ardena Clark, Talbot Harper, Gertrude Springer, Lawrence Holman, Christine Maple and Ethel Hunt.

Library

Under the direction of Miss Helen Hoenshel, the Harvard Library has prospered during the past year.

There are approximately 2,250 books in the library, 430 of which have been added during the past year. An average of 120 books circulate daily; this is an increase over last year, when the daily circulation was about 106.

The Freshmen do considerable reference work, especially in connection with their English and Science courses. At the beginning of each term, instruction is given all B9 students on the use of the card catalogue and reference books.

During the first semester Miss Hoenshel had three students working with her—Katherine Toner, Frances Macheret and Robert Cashey; two new assistants were added the second semester—Winifred Ray and Frances Bragdon. These students and their director have worked together to make the library a place of real benefit and interest to every student; the Student Body has co-operated in a fine way, and the library has been used more during the past year than ever before.

Bookstore

Since last year when the bookstore was moved to a prominent location in the school, its progress has been rapid. The trade is larger than ever before and the stock has been greatly increased. The bookstore now offers the Student Body a complete supply of school articles, including notebooks, visors, drawing pads, pencils, erasers, and stickers.

During the first semester Rosswell Bassell was student manager; he was assisted by Herman Bunting. James Watson did the managing the second semester. Much of the year's success is due to the fine faculty advisor, Miss Jackson, who so graciously rendered her time and thoughts to the problems of the store.

The average daily income is about $4.00. This shows the students are patronizing their bookstore as well as co-operating with it to make it a good business enterprise in their school.

At the present rate of progress and with the backing and help of the Student Body, the bookstore will soon be one of the greatest assets of Harvard High, by supplying the students with their needs and doing it in a pleasing and business-like way.

Debating

Debating between the different English classes was one of the principal features in some of the assemblies; debating is undoubtedly widely advocated by the English teachers of Harvard.

On November 24, there was a debate in the auditorium between Miss Hall's and Mr. Grover's classes. The subject was, "Resolved, That the manner of observing Thanksgiving as the founders of the first day observed it be restored." It was an excellent debate, both sides putting forth good arguments. Another interesting debate was held January 7; the question was, "Resolved, That a person found cheating in an examination should be expelled from the class in which the cheating is done." Miss Hall's third period English class had the affirmative, and Miss Dean's sixth period class upheld the negative. On the negative, which proved the winning side, were Roswell Bossell, Clarence Avery, Coe Burnett, and Tom Spurway; Truman Curtis, Angelina Cardone, Randolph Speck, and Jack Wilson were on the affirmative.

Mr. Adams' fourth period class accepted a challenge from Miss Dean's first period class; accordingly, on May 10 a debate was held in the auditorium. The topic was, "Resolved, That examinations at the end of the term should be abolished." This was one of the most exciting debates of the year. On the affirmative were Betty Cannon, Ethel Sanders, Carol Smith and Irma Smith. Robert Storms, Mary Welch, Jack Reed and Eleanor Carlton were on the negative.

The debating team that defeated the Sophomores included Jack Wilson, Randolph Speck, Eleanor Carlton, and Roswell Bassell.

Freshman Night

The annual Freshman Night was held at Harvard on Friday, April 29. The evening was a successful one, due to the careful plans and preparation of faculty members and students. Mrs. Kolts, Mr. Adams, Miss Williams and Miss Mains helped the student committee, which consisted of Barbara Major, Harry Bogen, Margaret Byerly, Spencer St. Clair, Eleanor Carleton and Ralph Cunningham. Their helpers were Beatrice Marsh and Mary Jane Morgan.

A most enjoyable program was arranged and was especially liked for its variety and clever features. Jack Banks and Jack Cooper took the part of rope-throwers; Betty Phillips entertained with a picturesque Gypsy dance, and Beryl Campbell did a doll dance; Ruth Olson and Irma Smith rendered several beautiful duets on the ukelele and guitar. Their numbers included: "It All Depends" and "The Vest Gets All the Gravy"; Frances Macheret whistled "The Doll Dance," and Graham Van Patten played a harmonica solo.

Light refreshments were served in the cafeteria, which was artistically decorated in pink and green, with wild flowers on each table. Everyone agreed that this Freshman Night was one of the most successful ones ever held and that the program was one of the most delightful ever put on by the Freshmen.

Class History

Some are born great,
Some achieve greatness, and
Some have greatness thrust upon them.

—Shakespeare, from "Twelfth Night."

The Class of '27 was not born great; we did nothing unusual to distinguish ourselves from other young high school classes that would mark us as being great. We did not have greatness thrust upon us; we have worked hard for the accomplishments we have gained.

Disappointed as we were at being left behind at Harvard High while the upper classmen went to the new school, our class spirit was not downed. Directed by Ross V. Miller, faculty supervisor, we achieved our first step toward greatness by winning the line of march in the Oratorical Contest. Three competent girls were our class officers: Jeannette Yarbrough, president; Rebecca Brant, vice-president; Mary Trump, secretary-treasurer.

We seemed to be accumulated in the mass at the new school, and our Sophomore year was not so outstanding or eventful. In debating, however, our fighting team, composed of Mary Scoles, Dorothy Irwin, and Ural Johnson, won from the Freshmen in the interclass debate. We were not famous, but well represented in athletics by girls, as well as boys.

With Frank Lipstreu and Gene Clarke as class presidents, and Mrs. Moir and Mr. Lockwood as class advisors, the junior year of the class of '27 was one of accomplishments in many fields. In social life the Junior Dance was a prominent affair. The Junior-Senior entertainment ran a close second. Heretofore all the Junior-Senior entertainments had been picnics at Brookside Park. This year marked the initiation of a new idea—a dance in the library.

Winifred Hunt, our speaker in the Oratorical, in which we again won the line of march, was student body Secretary of Debating. Elvin Richards, firey-tongued orator, won first honors in the Glendale National Constitutional Oratorical Contest, and represented us in the Southern California semi-finals. Ural Johnson was a debater in a victorious league debate with Pasadena. Our interclass debating team, Mary Elizabeth Campbell, Dorothy McMahon, and Bob Curwell, put up a losing but game fight against the Senior team.

In athletics boys from the class of '27 were stellar participants on football, basketball, baseball, and track teams. Jack Booker captained the varsity football team and Dick Sunderland was captain of class C football.

To all things there is a climax. Our fourth, our Senior year, has been a splendid climax to our four years high school career, so many notable happenings, attainments, and leaders that they need not be mentioned here. They will be remembered by every graduate of '27.

We have been a great class in size and many of us have not been leaders, prominent in class or student body affairs, or personalities in school, but each one of us has gained something superior in value—friendship and "mingling with the other fellow." So the class of '27, four hundred strong, has accomplished greatness, reached its goal and bids farewell.

Testimonial Bequest

Ladies and gentlemen, or what have you, and how. Four and maybe more years ago, we, the Class of 1927, entered upon an ambiguous career, in a new dispensation, conceived in ignorance and dedicated to the proposition that all studies were created for our frolicsome amusement. Now we are engaged in the final struggle, testing whether that dispensation or any dispensation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We have come to bequeath a portion of that dispensation as a lasting memento for those who here "moiled" and "toiled" that that dispensation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this. Therefore—we do it.

P. G. Yes, we think it will rain too.

* * * * *

We, Seniors of Glendale Union High School, City of Glendale, County of Los Angeles, State of California, being in perfect health and memory, Hallelujah, do make and ordain this, our last will and testament in manner and form following. That is to say, first:

I, Betty Glade, bequeath my broken heart to the next good-looking football coach. (Betty says: "For Jim's sake, don't send any more West from De Pauw)."

I, Howard Smits, leave the editorship of the Jester to some nit-wit. (Charles Park will probably pick it up).

I, Fred Kormann, leave my popularity to anyone desiring same. No applications have been received to date. (Catty (?) no, Elixir).

We, Tubby and Preston, knowing that there will never be another two like us, do hereby bequeath our much envied positions as the school cut-ups to Helen Noyes and Frances Van Deusen, knowing they can't fill our places (mentally, morally, or physically).

I, Ural Johnson, leave my bicycle to Ezra Smith. (Now, Ezra, take Ella by-by).

I, Dot McMahan, having landed Jack Bennett, leave my bait to Marcia Cleveland. (Some poor fish wll flop).

I, Tommy Muff, having finished with my latest flame, do hereby bequeath Jeany to Ordean Chase (two's a couple).

I, Charles Stipp, bequeath my splendid citizenship to Lloyd Morgan. (O, them school days at the seaside).

We, Martha Carpenter and Myron Cole, do hereby bequeath our dancing ability to Jo Miller and Ewart Corwell. (Tee Hee).

I, Harold Stingley Campbell, leave my hatred for women to Ted Rathbone. (Another Mormon).

I, Tiny Falter, leave my athletic strut and "It" to Chuck Henry.

We, Myrtle Kimmel and Howard Mason, do bequeath our budding romance (?) to Eileen Young and Howard Arbenz. (If you can't drive her, park the bally thing).

I, Aud Phillips do give and bequeath to Park Lovejoy Turrill a 1926 (?) model Willys-Knight, knowing he will cherish and preserve it. (On thru the Valley of Death was towed or pushed the gallant "13").

I, Bill Kirk, leave my blighted love affair to any good-looking Sheik who desires a first-class harpits. (Closest to heaven Bill will ever get).

Ms. Found In A Mayonnaise Jar

[PUBLISHER'S NOTE: Not long ago, June 15, 1975, to be exact, a little, old, grey-haired woman, who gave her name as Beatrice Case, confirmed spinster, hobbled into the office with a discovery she thought might be of interest to us. It was a bottle picked up on Bancroft beach near the famous Blumenthal dock. The bottle was hermitically (word suggested by Emery Turner, professor of lexicography) sealed, and contained a series of manuscripts we believe were written by the crew and passengers of the "Nancy Hill," which was lost at sea fifteen years ago. The bottle, by the way, had been fashioned by our eminent glass blower, Red Richards, and had originally contained the world-known mayonnaise manufactured by Mr. Alexander Chase, salad oil king. The manuscript follows.]

* * * * *

I, Captain Dick Sunderland, being (at the present time) of sound mind, memory and understanding, do hereby make the first entry in this, our daily record book, which I hope may prove educational to the younger generation, particularly Bob Hemp-hill's twins. Although this is but the first day out, I am sorely troubled about Bobbie. Since the third time she had her face lifted I scarcely know her for my wife, and I'm afraid she forgets it herself, so enthralled does she become listening to Dick Widdis on "What We Great Men Like in Women," which he delivers nightly in the salon. Might I add that the widow Mynatt, formerly Grace McClesky, who recently had a rejuvenation a la Hindustan, pleases me immensely.

* * * * *

Three months out and already sacked and plundered by the naughty sea wolves. And how! I, Click Clark, witnessed it all from the mizzenmast. The dashing pirate chief, Eddie Ostrom, scrambled over the rail first, followed by his bloody band. I swallowed my molars as I recognized Dave Ward, Lee Read, Wayne Exans and Ralph Shaw among the crowd. They proceeded to enjoy themselves by initiating the passengers to the "walk the plank" ceremony. The Morello sisters went off first, hands clasked. Next came Phyllis Butcher with the air of a martyr (she would), followed by Dale Read, Bill Vinacre and Roy Jones, none of whom seemed to know what it was all about. Then came Charlotte Foy (splash), Cecelia Mudge (splash), Martha Burger, Gail Otto, Nancy Grant and Gertie Gratias (one splash apiece). Tubby saved the day—she took the plank with her, and also several nearby pirates, Kenny White, Dave Hanna, Welsey Hunt and Bob Richardson, to help build a golf course for the idle rich among the finny tribe.

* * * * *

And now that I, Nip Walker, cabin boy elect, have disposed of the pirate crew, the voyage will continue peaceably as before. The list of plank victims includes Wilfred Tibert, Dean Evans, Maxine Olsen and Eldora Nickerson. We mourn our departed brethren. To cheer our morbid spirits, Jimmy Ghiggia, manager of the Connella vaudeville circuit, arranged an impromptu program, featuring Nari-Sari (the versatile Frank Lipstrew), prima ballerina of Europe. Mlle. Sari charmingly executed a sprightly spring dance. Gwen Merrill and Clytelle Hewitt favored us with a vocal duet, "Our Tombs Are Yawning Wide." When they had finished, we discovered that Nedra Belle, Lou Emerick and Marjie Swan had gently passed on, so we heaved them overboard. Our number is decreasing daily.

At this time, the gentle reader might like to hear from me, Skipper Calvin Drake. We dropped anchor at Pardo Bay, Spain, last week. A native boy who closely resembled my dear departed friend, Art Prater, rowed me ashore and found me a guide. I was astounded to recognize the latter as Rex Hartmen, but the old boy explained that he was living incognito for awhile until his wife, the changeable Marian Cummings, would come to better terms concerning alimony. I borrowed the little donkey he affectionately called "Baby Joe Edwards," and jogged along, noticing that the native girls looked like a row of turnips 'longside of Dot Read. So to the bull fight, and was duly entertained by the horn-blowing and an exhibition waltz by the bull and Toreador Ed Bridgeman Pinney, respectively. Feeling hunger gnawing at my interior, I ambled over to "Mexican" Harris' tamale temple; so to the boat in a stretcher.

When the ship dropped anchor at the Sandwich Islands this morning, I, Ural, the cook, and my kitchen corps, Tom and Ted Sawyer, left the crew and passengers in the throes of Canned Ptomaine packed by the Hezmalhalch-Dickey Company, and swam ashore. Upon our arrival, a dusky band of the savage inhabitants met us and ushered us into the presence of their king. I stared. He so closely resembled the Eddie Greutert of my high school days that it startled me for a minute. All doubt vanished when I discovered his wife to be Nellie. The king was surely Russell Lavelle after all.

We wandered aimlessly about, and spied Carla Tomaso, Marjorie Priaux and Lily Horton sporting around in the cocoanut grove with their pet baboon (or was it Johnny Needham?) They were garbed in cute straw skirts quite similar to the Paris creations of the famous Parisienne designer, Mlle. Salli Dwerre. After a few more hours of wandering, during which we ran across a skeleton garbed in Janice Brown's famous fur coat, we arrived once more at the village. The natives had grown hostile in our absence, and we were seized by two tall, gaunt, dusky warriors, who, though quite toothless, gaped at us most disconcertingly. They still bore a faint likeness to Gene Clarke and Laurence Marion. The king, with much ceremony, offered us a pencil and pointed to a queer book on a nearby stump. I glanced through it hurriedly and groaned as I read, "Our last words before being relegated to the soup pot. Fortunately no one will miss us. (Signed) Nate Finch, Wilbur Lemon, Eloise Madrid and Marion La Roque."

Another ran, "Woe is me. The soup is simmering, and I fear I will be needed for seasoning. (Signed) Grace Jones."

At this I looked around and spied the huge black soup pot which probably already contained Willa Hoyt Budd and Mary Scoles, who swam ashore a few days ago at Nippy Walker's suggestion. Looks like we're doomed. Possibly Tom will be able to slip down to the shore to throw this bottle into the sea after I have sealed it. May it fall into the fair hands of Dorothy Reed or of Rose Marias.

For the second time in its history, the class of 1928 was victorious in the Oratorical Contest. Helen Noyes represented the Juniors. In debating, the Junior team, Robert Grey, Josephine Creighton, and Marian Laas, defeated both the Seniors and Freshmen, thus winning the Horace Anderson Debating Trophy.

The officers who have piloted the class through its third eventful year are: President, Beth Patterson; vice-president, Margaret Huse; secretary, Robert Burns; treasurer, Betty Brown.

A big affair for the school as well as the class, was the Junior Prom. The committee who made the dance successful were: Beth Patterson, reception; Doris Carver, invitations; Billie Rieth, decorations; Virginia Nissen, program; Alice Routt, publicity; Curtis Doll, floor, and Clara Roberts, refreshments.

Judging by past accomplishments, the Senior Class of 1928 will well uphold Glendale High School's three-fold motto: "Scholarship, Sportsmanship, Service."

Having completed the first, and perhaps the hardest year of its high school career, the class of 1929 entered Broadway High School in September. Memories of a most successful freshman year, and no small amount of pep and enthusiasm came with it. The year was started right with a wise selection of officers. Emery Wanless was chosen class president; Alice Hitchcock, vice-president; Helen McCormack, secretary; Marian Whitmore, treasurer.

In the annual oratorical contest the Sophomores were awarded first place for the best tableau. Although not so successful in the interclass debates, they had a worthy team composed of Rex Morthland, Alice Hitchcock, Fredrick Dundas and Robert Rist.

A high light in the social life of the class was the annual party, given November 5, 1926. Through the efforts of Alice Hitchcock, entertainment chairman, and Emery Wanless, refreshment chairman, the event was a great success.

The class is now terminating its second year with a reputation which offers much competition to the other classes.

Drama

Three One-Act Plays

The Three One-Act Plays have become one of the biggest dramatic events of the school year, and surely the biggest of the first half. These plays are the production of the drama classes under the direction and instruction of Harold L. Brewster, the drama coach. They are the most finished work of these groups, and the plots are chosen with regard to portrayal of types of action and characters. Mr. Brewster directs these and other plays, conducting as well a class in dramatics and training a stage-crew that makes the scenery and works the lighting effects.

The plays were presented November 19, and the house was filled. Three complete changes of setting were carried out, a thing never tried before at one performance at the school. A new thing in stage craft, a scene in which both the interior and the exterior of the house were shown, was used in "The Bishop's Candlesticks." Between sets, the curtains were opened, to everyone's surprise, and the audience was allowed to watch the boys of the stage-crew change the setting.

Mr. Brewster used student directors in all of the plays, Nancy Hill acting in that capacity in "The White Elephants," and Lois Osborne for "The Bishop's Candlesticks" and "The Travelers."

The cast of "The White Elephants" was:

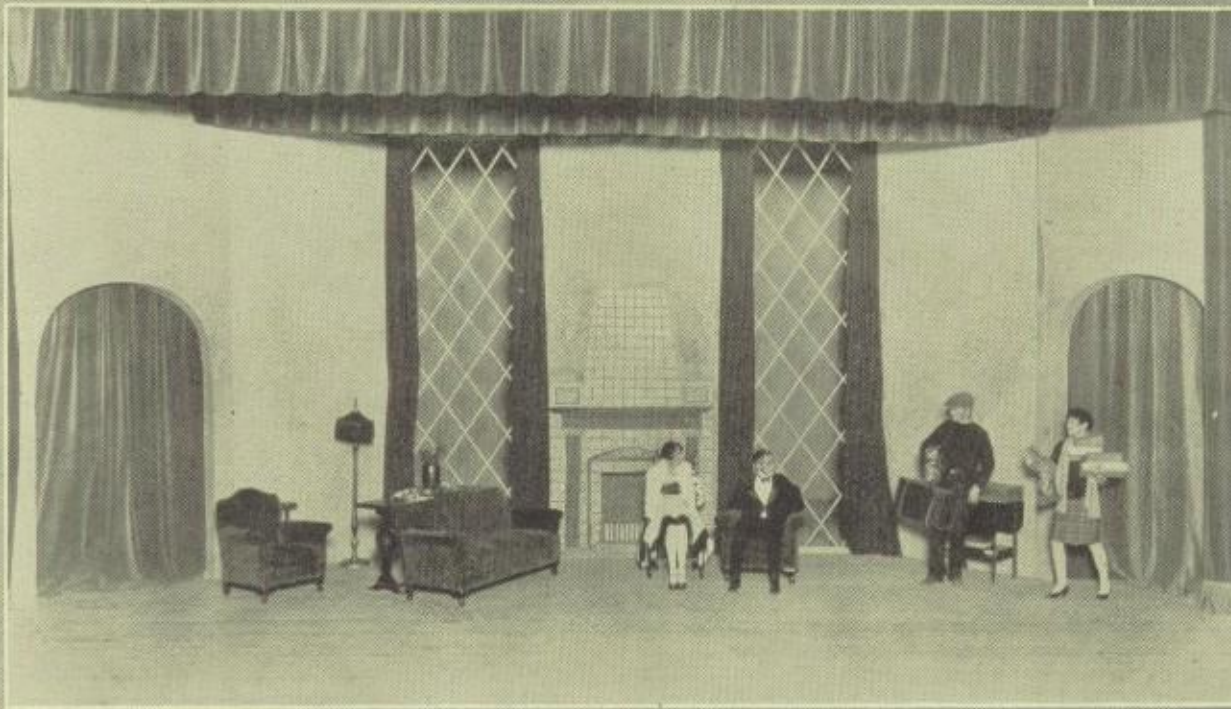

Larry	Ted Springfield
Flo	Phyllis Butcher
Albert Fenton.....	Wilbur Booth
Irene Fenton, his wife.....	Vada Broderick

The cast of "The Bishop's Candlesticks" included:

Persome.....	Veda Dye
Marie	Jeannette Zeitlin

Those acting in "The Travelers" were:

"Bishop's Candle Sticks"

"White Elephants"

27 Variety Show

The Thirteenth Annual Variety Show, given by the students of G. U. H. S. on February 24 and 25, combined twelve individual and group acts of the greatest originality and cleverness.

A "Butterfly Dance," by Dora Bradey, opened the program. The "Black and White Minstrel Show" by the combined Glee Clubs under the direction of Mrs. Florence Parker, contained beautiful singing and clever lines, with Mary Babcock, Doris Carver, Vanette Ward and others as soloists. The musical numbers were:

Mr. Worthy

9. "Hail, Hail, Hail".....Chorus

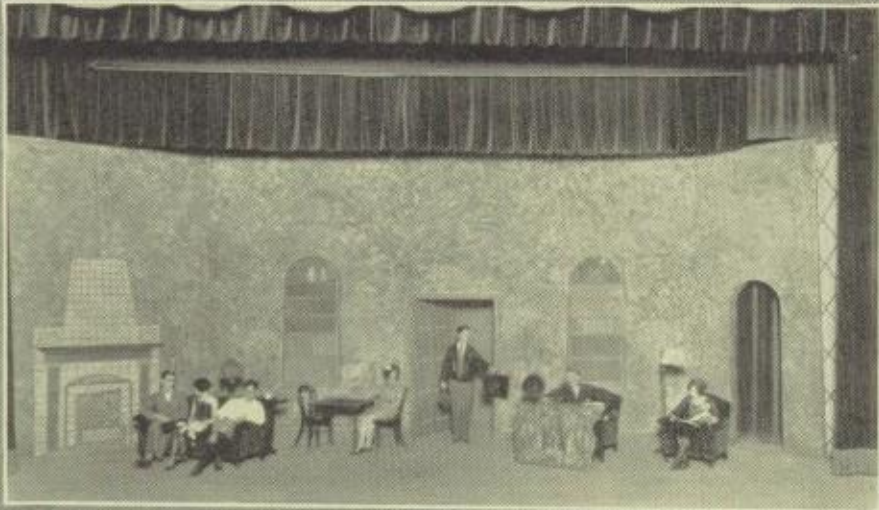

"Cartoon Comics," presented by Edison Ostrom and Preston Hanning, was a clever combination of drawing and jokes. "Station YYYY," by Booth Tarkington, presented by Mr. Brewster's drama class, was a riot of laughs at the expense of the father who believed everything he heard over radio. The cast was:

"Crime," a play in one act, was given by Wilbur Booth, as the journalist, and Ted Springfield, as the crook.

The Harvard act, "Orientale," proved a sensation, with a solo dancer, Betty Phillips, and chorus in a harem scene. A solo whistled by Frances Macheret, and with violin obligato, was novel and sweet.

"Peeps at Pictures," originated and presented by the Parnassian Club, was a difficult, but exceptionally well done, piece of work, portraying famous pictures on a miniature stage.

The committee in charge of the show was composed of Harold Campbell, student manager; advertising class, advertising; art classes, posters; Miss Crandall, costumes; sewing classes, sewing; tickets, Dana Van Loon and Ewart Cornwall. Mr. Brewster had charge of the scenery and lighting effects. Mr. Worthy was general chairman of the Variety Show.

Harvard Act

Senior Play

"Adam and Eva," the Senior Play, presented under the direction of Mr. Harold L. Brewster, May 5 and 6, was a laugh from the time the curtain went up to the final bow. The members of the cast were chosen for their merits as actors from the whole Senior Class. Mr. Brewster claimed the cast was the greatest he had ever had for a high school play, and the audience agreed with him fully.

The play centers around a rich family that has always had every luxury, and, in consequence, is rather snobbish. James King, father, is disgusted with family life and with the huge expenditures of his daughters. He hires a young man in his firm to be business manager. The young fellow, Adam Smith, is very romantic and has pleasing pictures of family life, so cannot understand why Mr. King is so disgusted. The gold-digger, Doctor Delamater, advises Mr. King to go on a journey for his health, and the head of the family consents, provided that his business manager, Adam, is in charge and acts as father during his absence. The reactions that the family, composed of Aunt Abby Rocker, the prominent club worker; Julie De Witt, the married daughter; her husband, Clinton; Lord Andrew Gordon, who is out to marry an heiress but turns out to be a good sort after all; Uncle Horace, the old sponge; Eva King, the younger daughter, and the maid, Corinthia, show to this situation is very amusing.

French Play

"Les Precieuses Ridicules," one of Moliere's famous comedies, was presented March 25 in the library by the A-11 French students, under the direction of Mrs. Ethel Bailey. The costumes used were of the 17th century, elaborate and beautiful. Helen Orr cleverly arranged the "Powder Box Dance," which added color and grace to the entertainment. The cast of the play was: La Grange, Helen Noyse; Du Croisy, Betty Sheid;

Girgibus, Alfred Moise; Magdelon, Loretta Wiggins; Cathos, Gwendolyn Bittner; Mascorille, Louise Jeckel; Todelet, Rose di Vittorio; Marotte, Mavis Cooper; Porters, Victor Depuy, John Blade.

The Girls' Ensemble played for the entertainment. Refreshments were served after the program by several of the French students, Genevieve Luc, Dorothy Kennedy and Josephine Creighton.

Spanish Play

The combined Spanish Clubs presented "Castillos de Torrisnobles," a three-act play, in Spanish, December 15.

The cast of the production was: La Marquesa de Torresnobles, Naida Taylor; Duque de Guzman, Robert Smallman; Cura, William Grey; Agapita, Charles Richards; Busita, Lolita Parker; Gitana, Jewel Smith; Tio Thompeta, Theodore Edwards; Senor Rodrigo, Charles Singer; Perico, Edwin Ball.

Music

Music

The school year of 1926-27 has been notable for its accomplishment in music. The programs of the year have shown an unusual amount of talent, well directed, from the various branches of the Music Department.

Miss Zula Zeigler, the efficient head of the Music Department; Mrs. Florence E. Parker, director of the Glee Clubs, and Mr. Harry W. Anderson, director of the Broadway Orchestra, Band, and smaller groups, are to be given much of the credit for the tremendous amount of work done.

The piano classes, under the direction and instruction of Miss Zeigler, have, during the year, put on several recitals, which have shown the splendid work done. Besides this, many of the entertainers for assemblies have received much of their training in the department. Creative work along musical lines is encouraged, and several songs and pieces have resulted, notably the Girls' League song by Doris Carver. In the annual Appolliad there were also several students of this department represented by original and interpreted pieces.

The Glee Clubs, under the direction of Mrs. Parker, have presented a surprising amount of finished work during this year. The biggest thing was the operetta, "Once in a Blue Moon." In this production the talent, singing and acting as well, was brought out to the greatest advantage. Besides this, the Glee Clubs have sung outside at various entertainments, in assemblies and for many special occasions. The quartette and different small groups have done excellent work also. Some soloists of note have been developed in both the Boys' and the Girls' Glee Clubs.

The Orchestra and the Band, under the direction of Mr. Anderson, have done much to add to the musical productions of the school. The Orchestra accompanied the numbers in "Once in a Blue Moon," has played in assemblies a great number of times, has presented musical numbers at plays and the like presented by the school, which means a great amount of work on the part of every one concerned in the Orchestra. The Band has added enthusiasm and pep to football games and rallies. The most notable achievement to its credit was the Band Pay Assembly, put on to help out the student body funds. The Girls' Ensemble has done much work in entertaining in assemblies and for outside organizations. The various other groups have done much, as well as the new groups.

This year, with its many achievements, can count music among its greatest, for more has been done this year than ever before in any one year.

Operetta

"Once in a Blue Moon," given by the combined Glee Club as the annual operetta, March and April 1, combined mystery, thrill and laughs a-plenty.

A picturesque prologue, portraying the Moon Lady in a huge blue moon, a chorus in white, and a feature balloon dance, opened the program. "Once in a Blue Moon" began: After an absence of four years at college, Bob Harrington is expected to return to the home of his foster aunt, Mrs. Montgomery, whose daughter, Sylvia, was his boyhood sweetheart. Having fallen in love with another girl at college, he sends his chum, George Taylor, who closely resembles him, to substitute for him at the week-end party. George has always been anxious to meet Sylvia, whose picture greatly attracts him. He arrives amid preparations for a Spanish fiesta, and finds Sylvia more charming than her photograph. Unexpected guests, in the persons of Sir Percival Chetwood and M. Rene LeMon, arrive and are welcomed as distinguished noblemen, and are invited to remain for the festivities. That night, while the guests are dancing, a robbery takes place and the blame is put on George, who is forced to disclose his identity. Things look black until the real parties are brought to justice. The telegram from the real Bob announcing his marriage leaves George free to finish the thing in the approved fashion.

Debating

League Debates

Mr. Worthy

Glendale has had surprising success in League debating every year. The coach, Mr. Elmer T. Worthy, deserves much of the credit for the fine debate teams he has turned out to compete with other schools. This year, in particular, Glendale has made an exceptional record, winning every league debate except one.

The first encounter was with Jefferson. Each school had two teams, a negative and also an affirmative team. The Glendale affirmative team debated at Jefferson High School, November 12, on the question, "Resolved, that the Philippines should be granted the same degree of independence by 1930 as Cuba has." The team was composed of Mary Bear and Charles Park. The decision was two to one in favor of the Jefferson negative. The Glendale negative team, Mary Elizabeth Campbell and Ruth Berndt, on the same question, obtained a three to nothing decision in their favor November 15 at Glendale.

The Compton-Glendale debate, held on February 11, was given at Compton, there being only one team for each school. Glendale's team, Ruth Berndt and Ural Johnson, upheld the negative of the question, "Resolved, that Congress should have the power to nullify decisions of the Supreme Court by re-enacting by two-thirds majority legislation declared unconstitutional." The decision was two to one in favor of Glendale.

The same evening, at Glendale, the Manual Arts and Glendale teams debated upon the same question, Glendale again upholding the negative. Mary Bear and Charles Park obtained the two to one decision in their favor.

The Inglewood-Glendale debate was held March 25, with Glendale again victorious. The question, "Resolved, that all foreign nations should relinquish all government control in China, except that ordinarily exercised by consulates and legations," was debated by the Glendale affirmative team at Glendale, and the negative team at Inglewood. The affirmative team, Ural Johnson and Dorothy McMahon, obtained a three to nothing decision from Inglewood, as did the negative team, composed of Alice Hitchcock and Rex Morthland. This league debate had an additional feature. As a preliminary contest, a feeble-minded debate was held, Howard Smits and Charles Stipp upholding the affirmative for Glendale that a giraffe has more trouble with sore throat than a centipede has with corns. The Black Cat Jazz Orchestra of Glendale furnished the music for the evening.

Glendale's League debate record for this year is one to be envied by any school. The debators were exceptionally good, worked hard and were coached well by Mr. Worthy—all factors that won for Glendale her league standing.

Debating, it can be seen, is coming to the foreground in school affairs, as proved by the steadily increasing number of students who show their interest by attending the debates. There is a great future for debate and oratory in Glendale High School.

Interclass Debating

Interclass debating is comparatively new in Glendale Hi, having been introduced in 1923. It has proved one of the most interesting series of debates given at high school, however. The Anderson Trophy, a cup presented by Horace Anderson, a former Glendale student, is given to the winning class, and adds a further incentive to class rivalry.

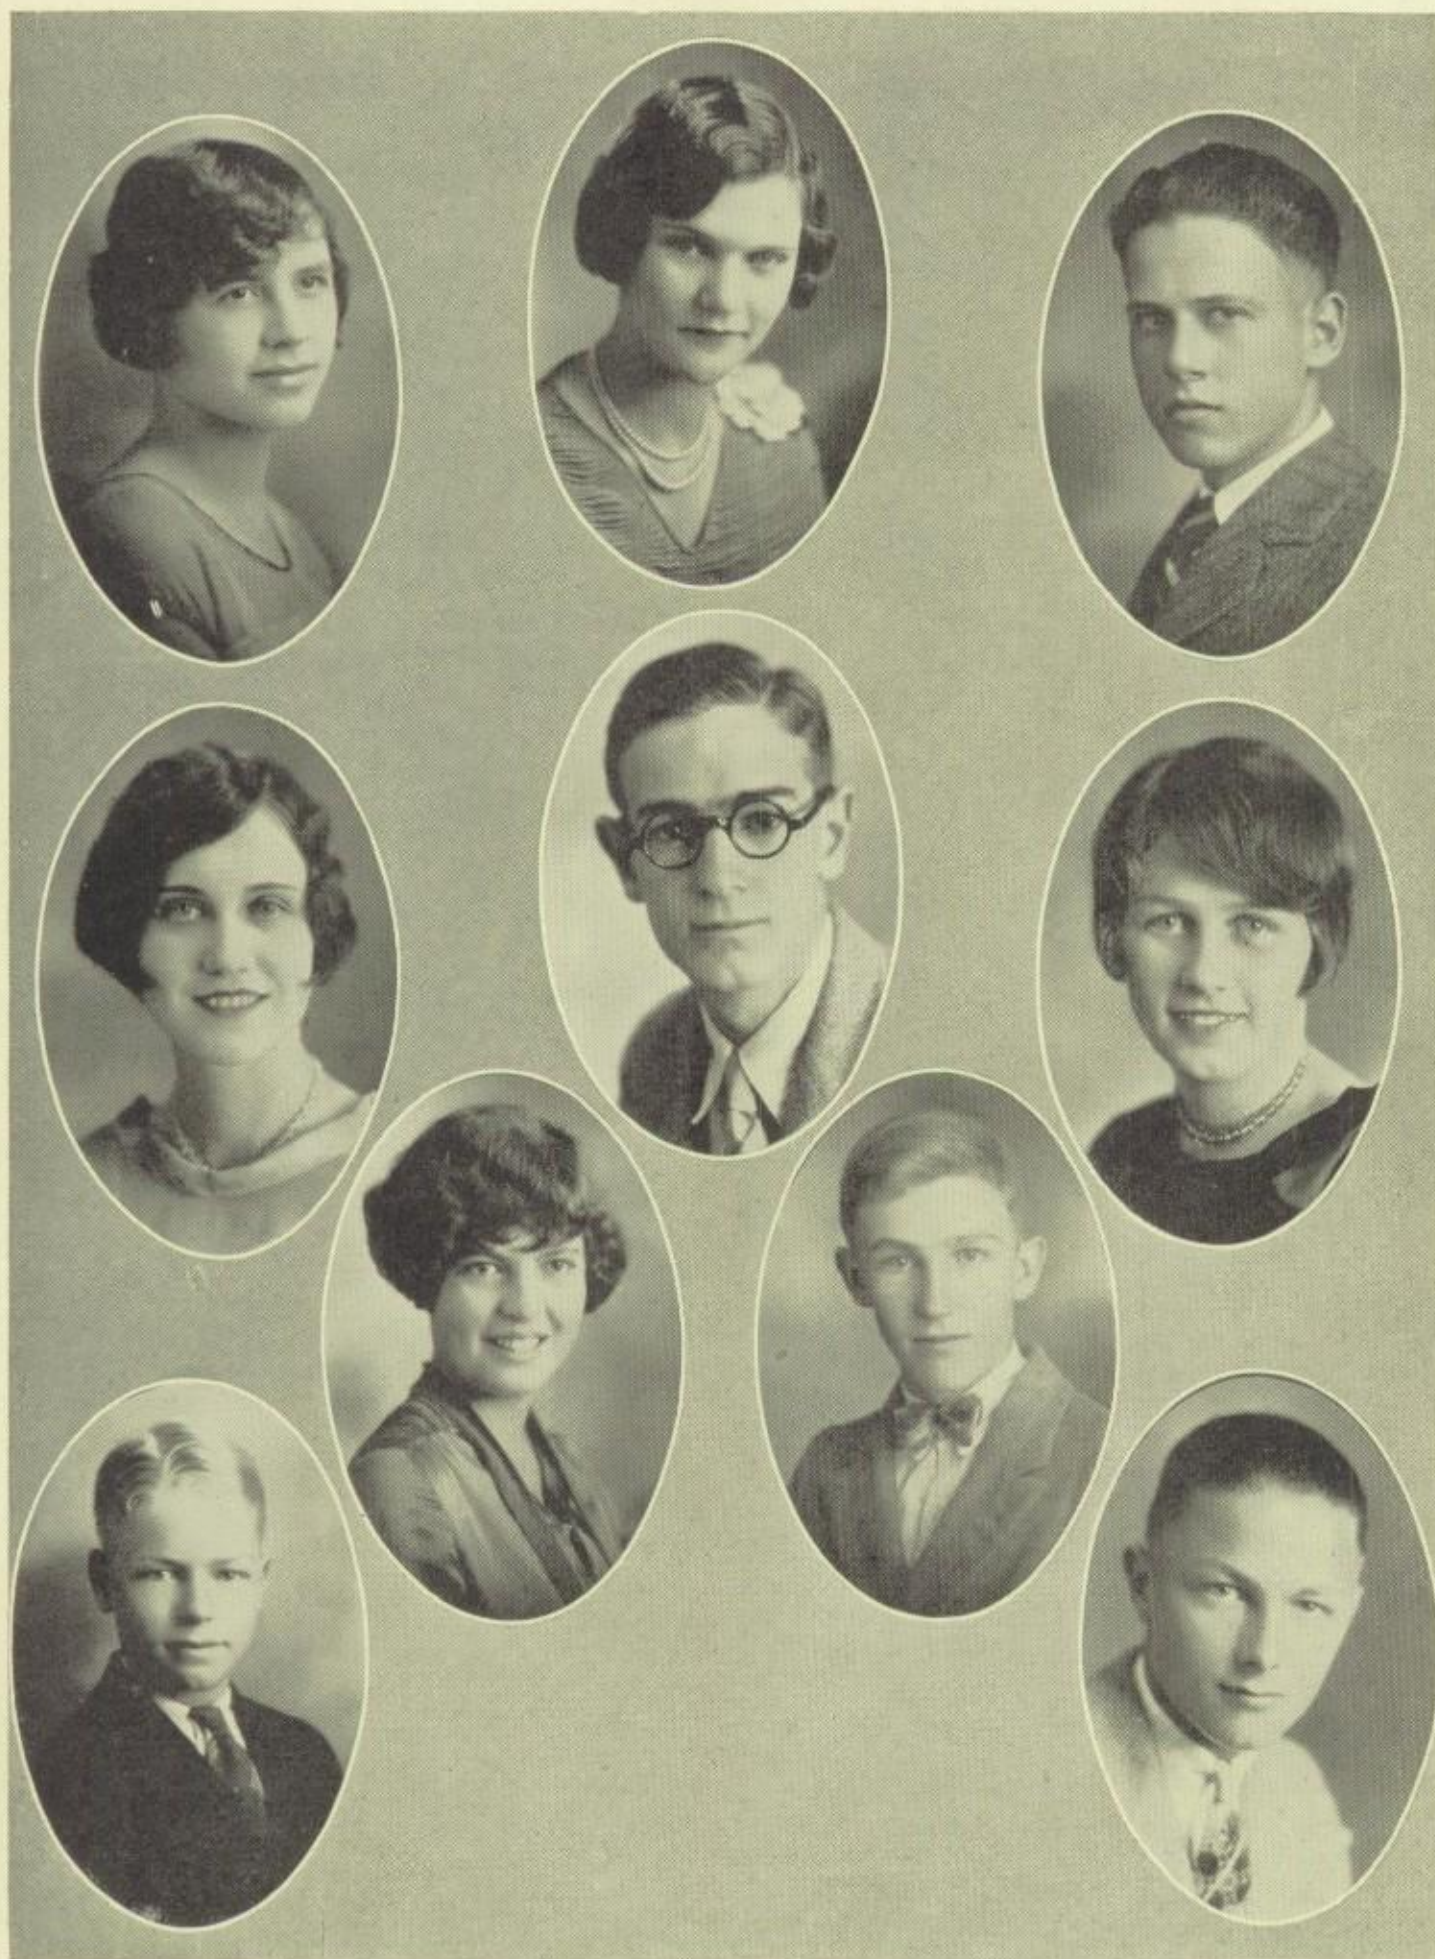

Following all precedents, the Junior-Senior debate was held first, on November 15. The question, "Resolved, that there should be a department of education with a secretary of education in the President's cabinet as is stated in the Curtis-Reed Bill," was of great interest and well debated. The decision was close, two to one, being in favor of the Juniors. The Senior affirmative team was composed of Mary Scoles, Winifred Hunt, and John Scribner. The Junior negative team had Robert Grey, Marion Laas and Josephine Creighton as debaters. The judges were Miss Hardy and Mr. Allen of the English department, and Miss Hill of the History department.

The Sophomore-Freshman debate was held January 25, the winner of this debate to contest against the Juniors. The question was, "Resolved, that the four quarter system should be adopted in the high schools of California." The Sophomore affirmative team was composed of Alice Hitchcock, Robert Rist, Rex Morthland, and Frederick Dundas. They lost by a two to one decision to the Freshman negative team, which was composed of Jack Wilson, Randolph Speck, Rosswell Bassell, and Elinor Carleton. The judges were Miss Gunderson, Miss Hill and Miss Starr.

The final interclass debate was to be between the Freshmen and the Juniors, and was to be held on May 12. The question was, "Resolved, that the state of California should be divided into two separate states." The Freshman team upheld the affirmative of the question, and the Juniors handled the negative side. The Freshman team was composed of Jack Wilson, Randolph Speck and Rosswell Bassell. The Junior team was Marion Laas, Josephine Creighton, and Robert Grey. The debate promised to be very good and spirited, but the Stylus went to Press too early to get the results.

For these interclass debates, the students were excused from class if they wished to hear them, and the large attendance showed the growing interest in forensics.

Oratorical Contest

In the annual Oratorical Contest, held Thursday morning, December 9, the Freshmen for the second year walked away with two of the possible four honors.

The speaker for the Senior class, Elvin Richards, used for the subject of his oration the consolidation of the poor farms. He stressed the fact that the poor houses are human dumping grounds. To carry out the idea of the oration, the line of march was led by Seniors dressed as poor children, followed by those representing sick, crippled, aged, decrepit persons and hoboes. The tableau further carried out the idea of the drab and sordid conditions by depicting the injustice done to these less fortunate ones, and their crying needs, which call for remedy. The class song was led by a quartette, an idea never carried out in a contest before.

The general faculty chairman for the Seniors was Miss Maude E. Soper. The advisors for the line of march were Miss Esther Crandall and Mr. George O. Lockwood. The chairmen of this committee were Janice Brown and Bob McReynolds. The tableau committee consisted of Miss Mary Rigg, faculty advisor, and Louise Emerick and Vera Wilson, chairmen. Mrs. Helen S. Moir, faculty advisor, and Preston Hanning and George Laas had charge of class spirit.

Helen Noyes, the Junior speaker, brought success and glory to her class by giving the winning oration, "The Power of the Press." She brought out a striking contrast between "white" journalism and "yellow" journalism. The line of march was through a large newspaper, and represented the public and newspaper reporters. Before the march, "extras" were brought in and distributed to the assembly, and aided in the effectiveness of the speech. Newspaper attire was worn by about one-half the class, but the other half could not resist the opportunity to wear their new Junior sweaters. The tableau also showed the effect of white and yellow journalism, depicting the rich and happy on the one side, and the poor and the criminal on the other.

The general chairmen for the Juniors were Miss Carey Bailard and Mr. Park L. Turrill. Miss Myrtle McGrath was the faculty advisor for the line of march, and Myrtle Davis was chairman. Miss Hobush and Mary Bear were in charge of the tableau, and Mr. Johnson, Carter Booth and Gladys Doty had charge of class spirit.

The Sophomore speaker, Josephine Moors, chose for her topic the moonlight schools of Miss Stewart, and the good which they are doing for the illiterate mountaineers of Kentucky. The line of march was made of those representing the attendants of those schools, the mountaineers, the miners, mill workers, young children and old, gray-haired men. The tableau, which won the honors, had in the background a group of college students, Boy Scouts and small children, and in the foreground were the illiterates, bound in chains and shackles.

Mr. Templeton and Emery Wanless had charge of the line of march. Miss Cornelius was faculty advisor for the tableau, and Marie McSpadden and Dick Wilson worked with her. Mr. Rankin, Mrs. Florence Parker and Al Madrid had charge of class spirit.

"The American Indian" was the subject of the Freshman speaker, Geraldine Mars, who started her oration with a story told in the Indian sign language. Their line of march, which received first place, was made up of Freshmen, dressed as Indians, and every imaginable tribe was represented. A chief and two bearers preceded the procession. The tableau showed, as the light slowly changed from darkness to dawning, a group of Indians, chief, squaw and children, and above them a brave poised with drawn bow. The class spirit award was also given the Freshmen. The Indian yells were followed by the tossing of brightly colored arrows and feathers into the air.

The general chairman for the Freshman was Mr. E. Adams, and Mrs. Kolts, Mrs. Foster, Mrs. Rogers and Mr. McDonald assisted him. The Freshman speaker was coached by Miss Ruhlman.

The judges were: Mrs. Miller of Lincoln, Miss Foote of South Pasadena, Mr. Turner and Mr. McDonald of Occidental, and Mr. Hutchinson of U. S. C.

For the winning of the oration, a prize of $20 is given. Each class presented its orator with a beautiful bouquet of flowers. This event is an old tradition of Glendale High, the only one of the year in which the classes compete for spirit.

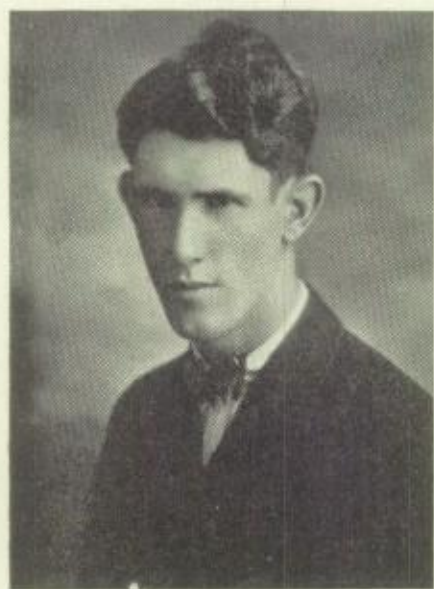

Sophomore Tableau

Constitutional Oratorical

For the second time, consecutively, the Constitutional Oratorical Contest for the Glendale district has been won by Elvin Richards, of the class of '27.

His speech, entitled "The Constitution," delivered with the fire and determination of a true orator, showed great possibilities of further success. He pointed out the three destructive elements of man's soul—jealousy, selfishness and hate—all working for the downfall of government and the Constitution. He appealed for a new spirit in regard to this great document that has bound the United States together for so many years.

Richards

The other contestants were Winifred Hunt, who took second place, and Grace Kutz, third. Winifred spoke on "The Constitution and Liberty," showing in her perfected speech that the world looks to America as the supreme example of democracy, and that the duty of every American citizen should be to study and understand the Constitution. Grace Kutz, speaking on "The Constitution," showed how the Constitution is a strong binding link and is a wonderful document, being as strong today as 136 years ago when it was made. Grace should have a splendid chance in next year's Constitutional Oratorical.

The classes were allowed to vote whether they wanted to attend the Oratorical and showed their interest and enthusiasm by a large attendance and splendid attention.

The decisions were rendered by capable judges: Reverend Mercer, assistant pastor of the First Christian Church; Mr. Morosco, former Stanford debator; and Mr. Arthur Terrill, Park Commissioner of Glendale. The awards consisted of twenty-five dollars or a bronze bust of Lincoln as first prize; fifteen dollars for second, and five dollars for third place. The Oratorical Contest was held under the general direction of Mr. Elmer T. Worthy, debate coach, with Misses Mary Rigg, Iva F. Hunter and Marion Underwood coaching the entrants.

By winning the Glendale district contest, Elvin Richards won the right to compete in the Southern California Contest against winners of other high schools.

Social Events

Girls' Annual Stunt Party

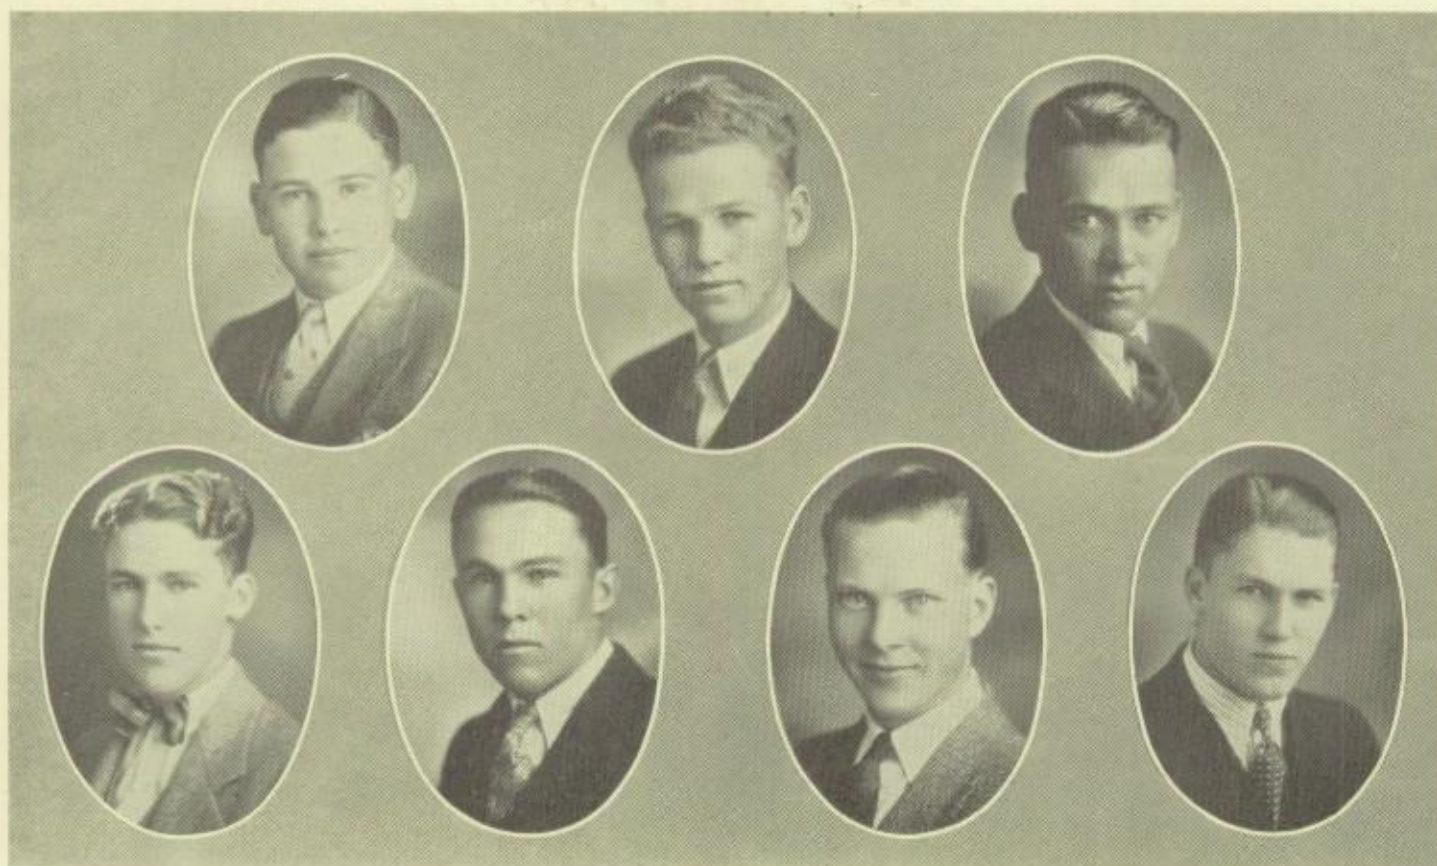

The Girls' Annual Stunt Party has become a traditional social affair for the feminine members of the student body at Glendale. Held every autumn under the auspices of the Girls League, this one evening the girls came to the school auditorium in costume, and prepared for a good time. Dancing, stunts, costumes, and refreshments are all means by which this annual affair proves a success.

This year was no exception. The stunts began promptly Friday evening, October 23, and were followed by a grand march to the cafeteria. The sophomore stunt was a typical scene of the halls of G. U. H. S., characterizing several remarkable and renowned students of the high school. The seniors presented "The Girl with the Many Suitors," and her difficulties when all called on the same evening, ending disastrously. The juniors beat them all with a meeting of the I Ata Pi sorority, low lighted lamps, pajamas, uke music, and dancing. The faculty surprised all with a gypsy who granted the astonishing wishes of the lady teachers.

Marcia Cleveland and Julia Pelley gave colorful curtain dances.

Dancing and refreshments were followed by the prize waltz. A tie was judged between Josephine Franklin and Betty Heustis, and Dorothy Irwin and Eunice Jones. The orchestra, consisting of Mary Bear, Lucille Gratias, Louise Scott, Virginia Clark, Wanda Arbogast and Juanita Arbogast, played for the dancing.

The committees were under Jean Williams, Girls' League social chairman, and were: General Chairman, Jean Williams; Floor, Betty Heustis; Invitations, Dorothy McMahon; Entertainment, Josephine Franklin; Reception, Jane Thimm; Student, Dorothy Jensen; Decorations, Marcia Cleveland; Music, Virginia Clark; Refreshments, Josephine Miller; Senior Stunt, Eunice Jones; Junior Stunt, Mary Bear; Sophomore Stunt, Frances Birmingham.

Boys' Stag Party

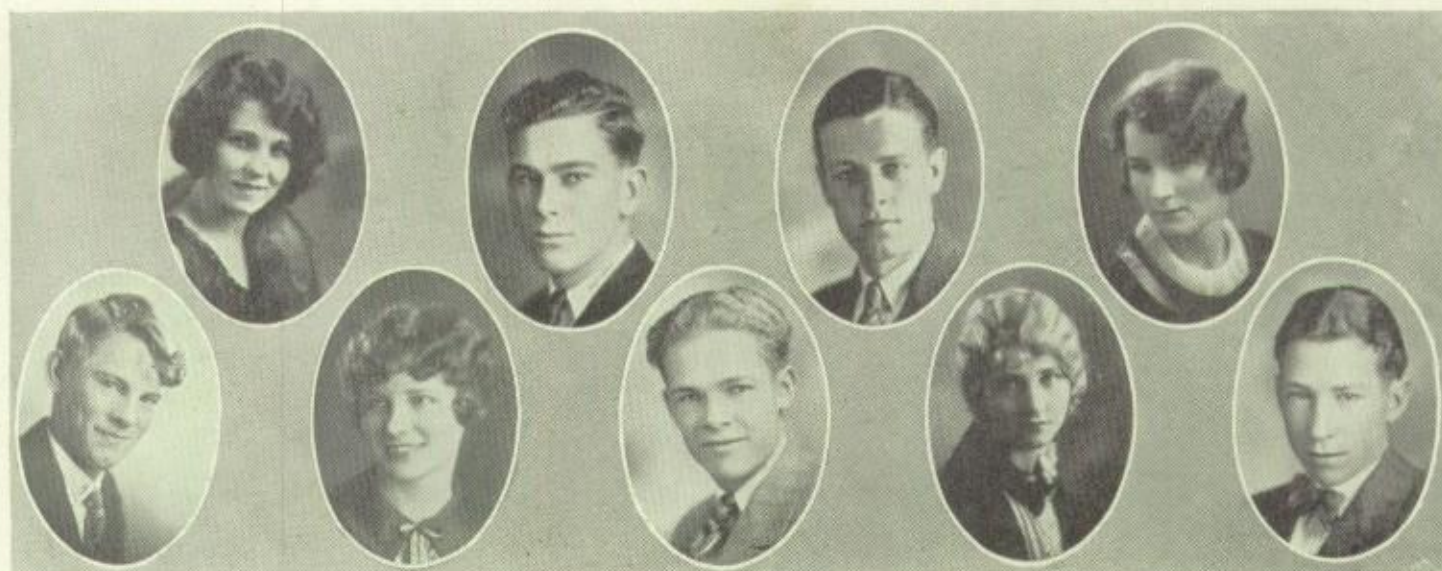

More than 1000 fellows and their dads attended the annual Stag Party held at the high school January 21, and had a grand time, the whole bunch of them.

The chief feature of the party was an exhibition boxing match of two rounds between Huerta Evans, western amateur bantam-weight champion, who attends Harvard Hi, and Mike Waters, the Pacific coast amateur lightweight champion. Four local boys, Bill Tibert, Neil Chrisman, Victor Depuy, and Mortimer Oakes boxed a few rounds.

Maurice Leaf, and Kenny Gillam, the "Count" and "Duke" of KNX, were also present, and gave several vaudeville acts, including songs, jazzy piano numbers, stories and jokes. A Harry Langdon comedy, "Feet of Mud," and another comedy were shown.

After the entertainment in the auditorium, the party went to the cafeteria, where hot dogs, cake and ice cream sundaes were served.

The committees that arranged for the party were: General Chairman—George Laas. Program—Preston Hanning, Harold Campbell, Ted Springfield. Eats—Kenneth White, Jack Booker, Russell Lavell, William Halstead. Order—Gene Clark, "G" Club boys. Publicity—Ural Johnson, Robert Curwell, Nathan Finch. Clean-up—Colon Harris. Tickets—Hank Clark.

Senior Dance

The annual Senior Dance was held Friday night, November 12, in the library in the Broadway High School. This dance is a great social affair, eagerly looked forward to and planned for. About 120 attended and were unanimous in declaring they had the best time of their lives. The library was decorated in Japanese style, large lights hanging from the ceiling covered with many colored shades, and vari-colored lanterns lent an atmosphere of Oriental mystery. Panels in Oriental fashion with pretty little ladies, cherry blossoms and fans hid the book shelves and screened Ed Stockbride's jazz orchestra, which furnished the music for the evening.

The programs were carried out in green and black colors, with a charming little Japanese holding a lantern on the front, and contained, besides the dance program, the list of chaperones, the class advisors, officers and committee chairmen. For favors, the girls were given dainty little Japanese fans.

Josephine Franklin, president of the A Seniors, and Herbert Snow led the grand march, which started promptly at 8:30. Jack Copeland, the president of the B Seniors, and Ruth Wilson were to have been second, but Jack was unable to dance because he had injured his foot while playing football.

Mrs. Helen S. Moir had complete charge of the affair, and she deserves much credit for its success. The chairmen of the committees which assisted her were:

Publicity, Jack Packard; Programs, Nathan Finch; Refreshments, Edith Thompson; Floor, Howard Richardson; Tickets, Agar Brown; Music, Janice Brown; Invitations, Louise Emerick; Decorations, Vera Wilson; Clean-up, Jerry Osier.

The class advisors were: Miss Maude E. Soper, chairman, and Miss Esther Crandall, Miss Mary Rigg, Mrs. Helen S. Moir, and Mr. George O. Lockwood.

Members of the Class A football squad were the guests of the class the first part of the evening. They came in a group with the coaches.

The chaperones were: Mr. and Mrs. Blake Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Copeland, Mr. and Mrs. James Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Emerick, and Mrs. Grace Thompson.

Junior Dance

At the long looked-for Junior Prom, held April 22, in the school library, about 120 couples were present. The room was decorated to represent "El Patio." A high garden gate, blossoming flowers, brightly colored balloons and huge butterflies all combined to change the studious atmosphere to one of a romantic country garden. The newly waxed floor, combined with the good jazz music, made this one of the best school dances of the year.

The features of the evening were the grand march and several novelty dances. The El Sereno Ballroom orchestra played, providing the best of dance music. Novel favors were presented to all of the couples. During the evening punch was served.

The prize waltz was won by Marcia Cleveland and Grecian Mitchell. Mr. Park L. Turrill, class advisor, presented the prize, a beautiful five-pound box of candy.

The committees working in co-operation with Miss Cary Bailard, the class advisor, were:

Reception, Beth Patterson; Invitation, Doris Carver; Music, Mary Bear; Decorations, Billie Rieth, Louis Kopp, Jean Williams, Robert Burns and Arthur Hudson; Program, Virginia Nissen, Genevieve Boise and Dixon Kelly; Publicity, Alice Routt and Charles Park; Tickets, Ewart Cornwall; Floor, Curtis Doll, John Torrey and Ezra Smith; Refreshments, Clara Roberts, Dorothy Jensen, Dorothy Cannon, Evelyn Yung and Lloyd Morgan.

Sophomore Party

The annual Sophomore Party was held at the Broadway High School on Friday evening, November 5. The whole evening was featured by fun and enthusiastic good times.

After assembling and receiving a word of greeting and welcome, an exciting bean race was held. Madeline Fingbeiner and Emery Wanless proved to be the speediest contestants.

Several popular songs were sung by Madeline Finkbeiner, accompanied by Helen McCormack. Doris Brady entertained with several dances, among them a clever toe dance.

A comical skit, entitled, "An Introduction to the Ruggles Family," was put on by several members of the Sophomore class. The Black Cat Orchestra was one of the best sources of entertainment for the evening, playing a number of late jazz pieces.

After the program, the class adjourned to the cafeteria, where more games were played and refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

The committees in charge of the affair, which were in a large measure responsible for the success, were: Entertainment, Alice Hitchcock, Helen McCormick, Marion Whitmore, and Al Madrid; Refreshments, Betty Biggs; and Decorations, Freda Dassoff.

Football Banquet

The banquet given for the football teams of G. U. H. S. was held December 6, in the school cafeteria. It has been customary to honor our football heroes with this annual affair, and about 115 team members were present.

The cafeteria was decorated with red and black streamers, the tables being shaped in the form of a U, with a football field in the center. The tables were colorful with holly berries, and by the side of each plate was a chocolate football and some mixed candy. The whole room was lit by large red candles.

Howard Elliott, former football star of Glendale, was toasmaster. Among the speakers were Mr. Moyse, Coaches Sperry, Butterfield, Hayhurst, Wolfe, and Vance, Captain Jack Booker, and George Grey. The main speaker of the evening was Charlie Erb, famous All-American quarterback of the University of California, who was present as the guest of Mr. Kitch. He spoke of the co-operation needed between players and coaches, of the importance of a football player keeping up in school work, and of the necessity of going to college.

The Girls' League Executive Board gave several yells, and yells were also given for each speaker as he rose in turn.

Cabinet Banquet

The big Cabinet banquet, attended by members of both semesters' cabinets, had fun, food and peppy jazz music as its features. It was held in the model bungalow of the Domestic Arts department. Mr. and Mrs. Moyse were the guests.

Dick Sunderland, past president, was toastmaster of the evening. As a token of the cabinet's appreciation of his work, he was presented with an engraved silver gavel. Bob Curwell, passing vice-president, made the presentation speech.

Extemporaneous speeches were given by everyone, and Velpo Pender's jazz orchestra furnished the music for the evening. The room was decorated in yellow and green, with palms and ferns hiding the orchestra.

Harold Campbell, assisted by Bob Curwell and Audrey Phillips, were in charge of the whole affair.

Codes Banquet

The C-O-D-E-S Banquet, Friday, May 13, was held in the school cafeteria. Over 100 people, representing the five organizations, Cabinet, Orators, Debators, Explosion Staff and Stylus Staff, for which the word CODES stands, attended.

After the banquet speeches were made by Mr. George U. Moyse, Mr. A. L. Furgeson, several faculty advisors, members of the Cabinet, editors of the Explosion and Stylus staffs and others.

This banquet is an annual affair, at which those who have been prominent in school activities come together.

Home Coming Day

Home Coming Day this year was a gala event. The Girls' League and the Alumni Association combined their efforts and welcomed back the graduates of other years and entertained them royally.

May 22 was Home Coming Day. In the afternoon the alumni were met at the door and given tags with their names. The Guide Committee escorted them around the building, showing them places of interest. At 2 o'clock a program, including a play presented by Mr. Harold L. Brewster's drama class, and several numbers by the orchestra, was given.

In the evening, after another entertainment, all adjourned to the library to dance. Punch was served between dances.

Big Sister Party

For the first time in the history of Glendale Hi, the A-12 girls gave a Big Sister Party for the incoming B-10 girls from Harvard. It was done to acquaint every new girl with the upper class girls at Broadway and to make them feel that they were part of the school.

The party was held after school in the auditorium, January 27. A program, including dances by Julia Pelley and Marcia Cleveland, and several numbers by the Black Cat Orchestra, was presented.

The names of all the B-10 girls were put in a box and every A-12 girl went to the stage and drew one. Then she found her little sister and started an acquaintance.

The party journeyed to the cafeteria after this, and apple pie a la mode was served. Everyone enjoyed the party, and the idea will probably be carried out every year to further friendship between the Senior and Sophomore girls.

Junior-Senior Entertainment

The Junior-Senior Entertainment this year was given with Eddie Peabody style jazz, two motion pictures and lots of refreshments. The plans were kept dark until the night of the affair, January 28.

Beth Patterson, president of the Junior class, welcomed the Seniors, and then Dave Stuart, as master of ceremonies, opened the program. He carried it out in Eddie Peabody style, introducing the entertainers between numbers by the Black Cat Orchestra.

John Blades gave a tap dance, and Julia Pelley followed with one of those popular Hawaiian dances. A masked Turkish dancer came next, and after much guessing, was identified as Howard Fallis. Marcia Cleveland entertained with a jazz dance, and the orchestra concluded that part of the program with several numbers.

The surprise of the evening came next, when "The Bat," a thrilling picture, was shown. Marcia Cleveland and Jean Williams presented a prologue before the film, blood curdling enough to thrill everyone. To relieve the excitement, a two-reel comedy was shown next, and then refreshments were served in the cafeteria.

Girls' Athletic Association Party

The Girls' Athletic Association gave a hard times party, October 8, in the Harvard girls' gym. Everyone came in costume and prepared for fun. A short business meeting was held first, and Mrs. Moyse was elected as the club mascot.

Louise Scott and Mary Bear, with their ukes, sang "How Many Times," accompanied by Wanda Arbogast at the piano. Julia Pelley gave a dance to the tune of "Turkey in the Straw."

The club acts were next. The Swimming Club gave a take-off of Gertrude Ederle swimming the English Channel. The next, a pantomime given by the Girls' "G" Club, had no name, but the hero won out as usual. The Hiking Club put on an interesting cornfield skit, in which Helen Orr and Martha Carpenter danced. The officers of the club imitated auto troubles. Probably the act which caused the most laughter was the one given by the gym teachers, who imitated the daily program of the girls' gym.

After the program the girls enjoyed music, popcorn, doughnuts and cider. Barbara Potts did an exhibition dance, which was greatly applauded. The prize waltz came last, and the judges decided a tie between Clytelle Hewitt and Gwendolyn Merrill, and Jeannette Yarbrough and Marian Williams.

Comites Banquet

Old Roman customs were carried out at the Comites banquet held, December 3. More than sixty members of the Latin Club were present. The tables were decorated in the colors of the club, and were waited upon by slaves, lower classmen among the Latin students. The members were seated according to their rank, the guests and teachers occupying the table of honor. The menus were in the club colors, and were printed in Latin. Finger bowls were provided between each course.

Mrs. Moyse gave an interesting account of the origin of the Comites Club. Dorothy Jenson did a Grecian dance; Dixon Kelly and Edward Lloyd furnished the music; and some clever stunts of juggling and with Indian clubs were presented.

Honor Society Banquet

The Honor Society banquet, Tuesday evening, November 23, was attended by about eighty honor students. The decorations and the menu were in keeping with Thanksgiving time.

David Hanna, president of the club, was toastmaster, and toasts were also given by Mr. Moyse, Mrs. Moyse, Virginia Nissen, Mary Boyles, Varian Sloan and Ural Johnson. Rebecca Brant played, and Mary Babcock sang.

Miss Ahl, Mr. Wiebe, and Miss Rensch had charge of the preparations, and it was a banquet that did honor to the Honor Society.

Assemblies

Some of the assemblies are "Getting a Right Start," by Dr. J. A. Francis; the Howdy Day get-acquainted assembly; football rally on the bleachers; Harry A. James, the Englishman with the sense of humor; football assemblies; Christmas assembly and the blow-outs; track assemblies and the miniature relay team and race; Stylus assembly; Mr. Spaethe, banana song man; Band pay assembly; "Adam and Eva" advertising assembly; and many more too numerous to attempt to list. The Glee Clubs, Band, Orchestra, Ensemble, Black Cat Orchestra and much local talent have helped out.

The great variety of these programs and the number of them has been accomplished only through the untiring efforts of the two secretaries, Mrs. Moyse, Mr. Kienle, Dick Sunderland, Tommy Muff and Miss Gilson.

VIOLIN CHOIR

BRASS TRIO

Grant Laughlin, cornet; Charles Hirt, cornet; Wayne Evans, baritone; Evelyn Keller, piano.

BOYS' ENSEMBLE

Virgil Todd, oboe; Charles Cronkhite, oboe; Myron Cole, clarinet; George Hewitt, bassoon; Wayne Evans, French horn.

GIRLS' ENSEMBLE

Gertrude Fried, violin; Kathleen Lord, violin; Evelyn Keller, flute; Myra Dennis, harp.

Desert Chemistry Trip

With sirens screeching at full blast, and movie cameras clicking, the crowd left the High School for the Annual Desert Trip. Eighteen cars and one truck, containing 110 people, followed the pilot car driven by Park L. Turrill, out to the great open spaces, where the cactus plants grow and the horned toads dwell.

Turrill

many others, were seen on the trip.

Mr. Park L. Turrill had, as usual, general charge of this expedition and because of the careful preparations the trip was made without accident, but not without incidents. Each car was numbered, and Mr. Turrill has promised that next year there will be no number 13.

Mrs. Helen S. Moir was the chief of the commissary department, as well as being official "mother" for the trip. Kitchen police duty was ably performed by various members of the party.

New Gym

Work on the new girls' gym began the first of April, and it promises to be one of the best features of our school plant. It fills a long felt need among the girls for adequate basketball courts and a place to meet on rainy days.

It is of the most modern construction, being two stories in height and costing about $75,000. On the first floor there is to be a large amount of room devoted to showers, dressing rooms, corrective rooms, two large towel rooms, wash rooms, doctor's room and first aid room.

On the second floor will be three basketball courts 85 by 115 feet. They are to be hardwood courts without any pillars on the floor, being some of the finest courts in the west. There are also to be spacious teachers' rooms and a kitchen for parties and dances. There is also a large sun porch with awnings, which, besides being very useful, will be a beautiful addition.

This gym, which is being built back of the main building, is the first of a series of improvements that are planned. It is desired to build a boys' gym back of the Science building with a swimming pool between that and the girls' gym. There is also to be a long arcade from the boys' gym to the present bleachers.

These two gyms, with the swimming pool, proposed shop buildings and present tennis courts, will make Glendale High School the best equipped school in the South.

COACH
HAYHURST

A MOST important change in athletic administration was made at the first of the season. Normal C. Hayhurst, varsity football and track coach, was made supervisor of physical education at G. U. H. S.

George "Stubby" Sperry, football coach at Taft Union High and student under Knute Rockne, was secured as football mentor of the Dynamiters.

James "Apollo" Pierce, head line coach of the varsity team, forsook the profession of coaching and entered the movies. James J. Vance, later to be known as "Dazzy," who hailed from Depauw University in Indiana, succeeded Pierce and was made Sperry's assistant.

The varsity team did not make such an exceedingly brilliant showing, but fought hard and was not white-washed. The team finished sixth in the Coast League. The lightweight team had some hard luck during the season and placed second.

The fleaweight team, under the able supervision of Coach Eugene Wolfe, for the third consecutive year, won the Southern California championship by defeating Huntington Park, 9 to 6, in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

The class B team fell before Old Man Jinx and did not come out on top as expected of them. Only two defeats marred a perfect record and one of these was a questionable loss by the whim of a foreign referee. The other was lost in the fifth period after the game had ended in a tie. During important games the team was considerably weakened by the loss of several stars who were on the injured list. Summing up the lightweight season, we should say that Fate played an important part in the schedule.

After winning the opening game, the heavyweights dropped a terrific fight to San Diego, 2 to 0. Defeats followed at the hands of Long Beach, Alhambra, Santa Ana and Pasadena. Staging a come-back, the team defeated the Whittier eleven, 14 to 0. This was Sperry's first year at Glendale and better things are expected next season.

The varsity boys dropped back a place in the league standing this season, having won fifth honors in 1925. However, the lightweight crew moved up from fourth to second.

The football spirit and support showed a remarkable change to the better over last season and could not be bested. Frequent rallies were staged and pep and enthusiasm waxed high throughout the season.

CAPTAIN JACK BOOKER

"Ernie Nevers" Booker, a three-stripe letterman and a wonderful scrapper, led the 1926 football squad through countless defeats, maintaining an example of clean sportsmanship and grit for his fellow-teammates to follow.

Jack, husky and blond, was a hard man for Glendale's opponents to stop and broke through enemy lines for numerous first downs, and when two or three yards were needed badly, reliable Jack plunged through and did his stuff.

Captain Booker ended his three-year career on the varsity team by his wonderful work this season and will be remembered for many years at Glendale Union High School as a clean fighter.

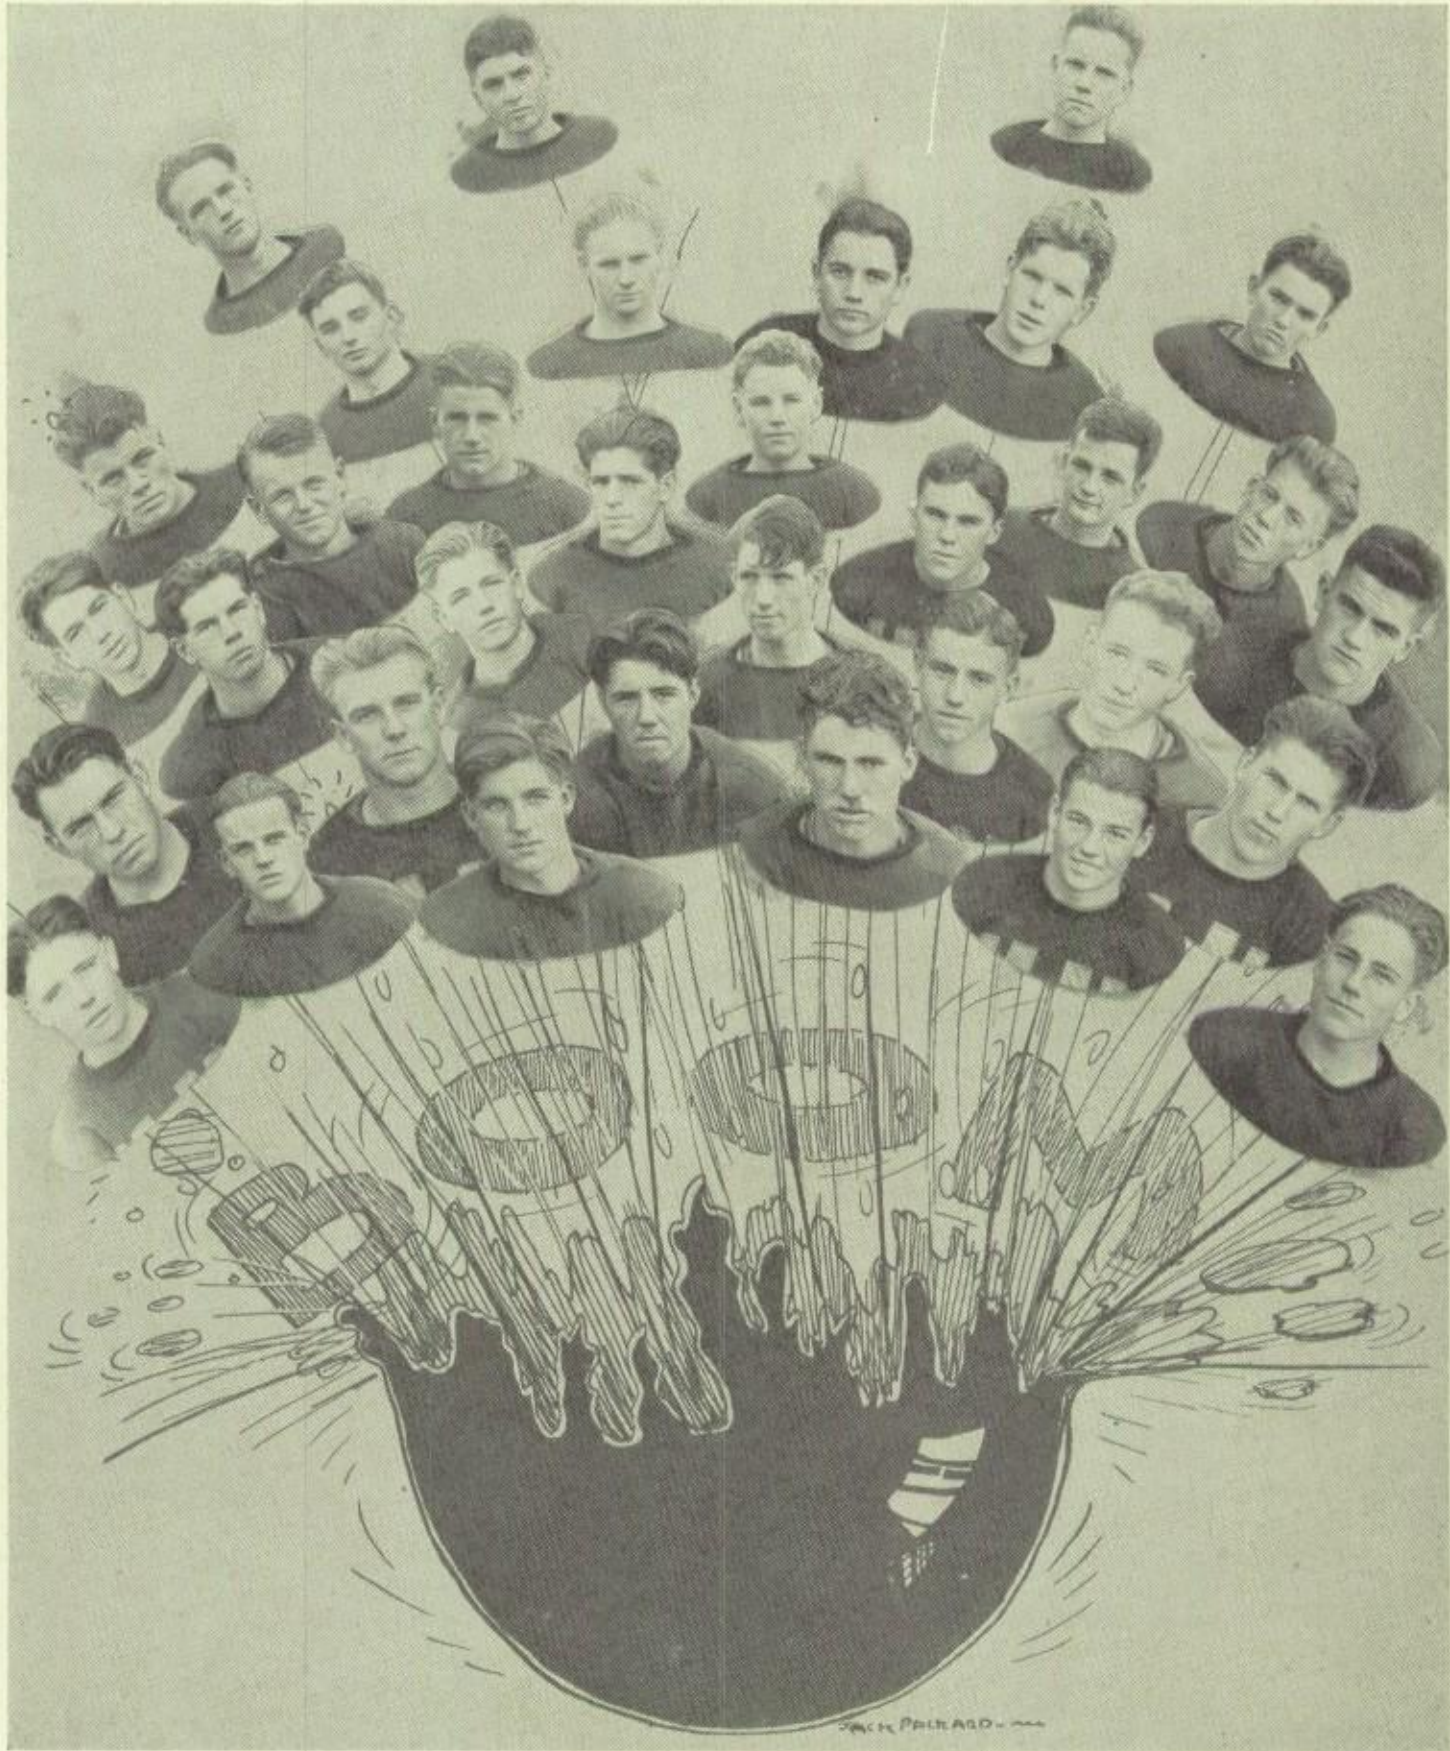

CAPTAIN-ELECT GREY

George Grey, powerful guard, was chosen by his teammates as the 1927 football captain. In coincidence with his election, Grey was named as guard on the Glendale Evening News all Southern California team.

George was the outstanding linesman during the season. A wonderful offensive man, he broke up many an enemy's play that was planned to go through center as well as most of those along the whole line. On the defense he was a tower of strength, always opening a hole and always getting his man.

If Grey continues his wonderful work, it is obvious that he will be one of the best linesmen in California.

GLENDAL'S BEST

SOUTH PASADENA

Sperry

The 1926 football season started under the leadership of a new coach, not generally known at Glendale High, but recognized in the North as one of the best high school football coaches California has ever seen. George S. Sperry, formerly at Taft Union High School, with the assistance of James J. Vance, also a newcomer to G. U. H. S., began the task of forming an A-1 football team out of a group of young men who were mostly unseasoned.

Only four lettermen were back for practice, Captain Jack Booker, Gene Clarke, Colon Harris and Elbert Reed. However, Dick Sunderland, captain of the 1925 lightweights, and Bill Mainland, former class C captain, were two players who had made names for themselves on other squads. Earl Fiock, a newcomer, was considered a valuable find as a triple threat man. Paul Merritt, Harold Falter, George Grey, Joe Edwards, Louis Ryan, George Laas and Don Baughman were the most promising of the other candidates.

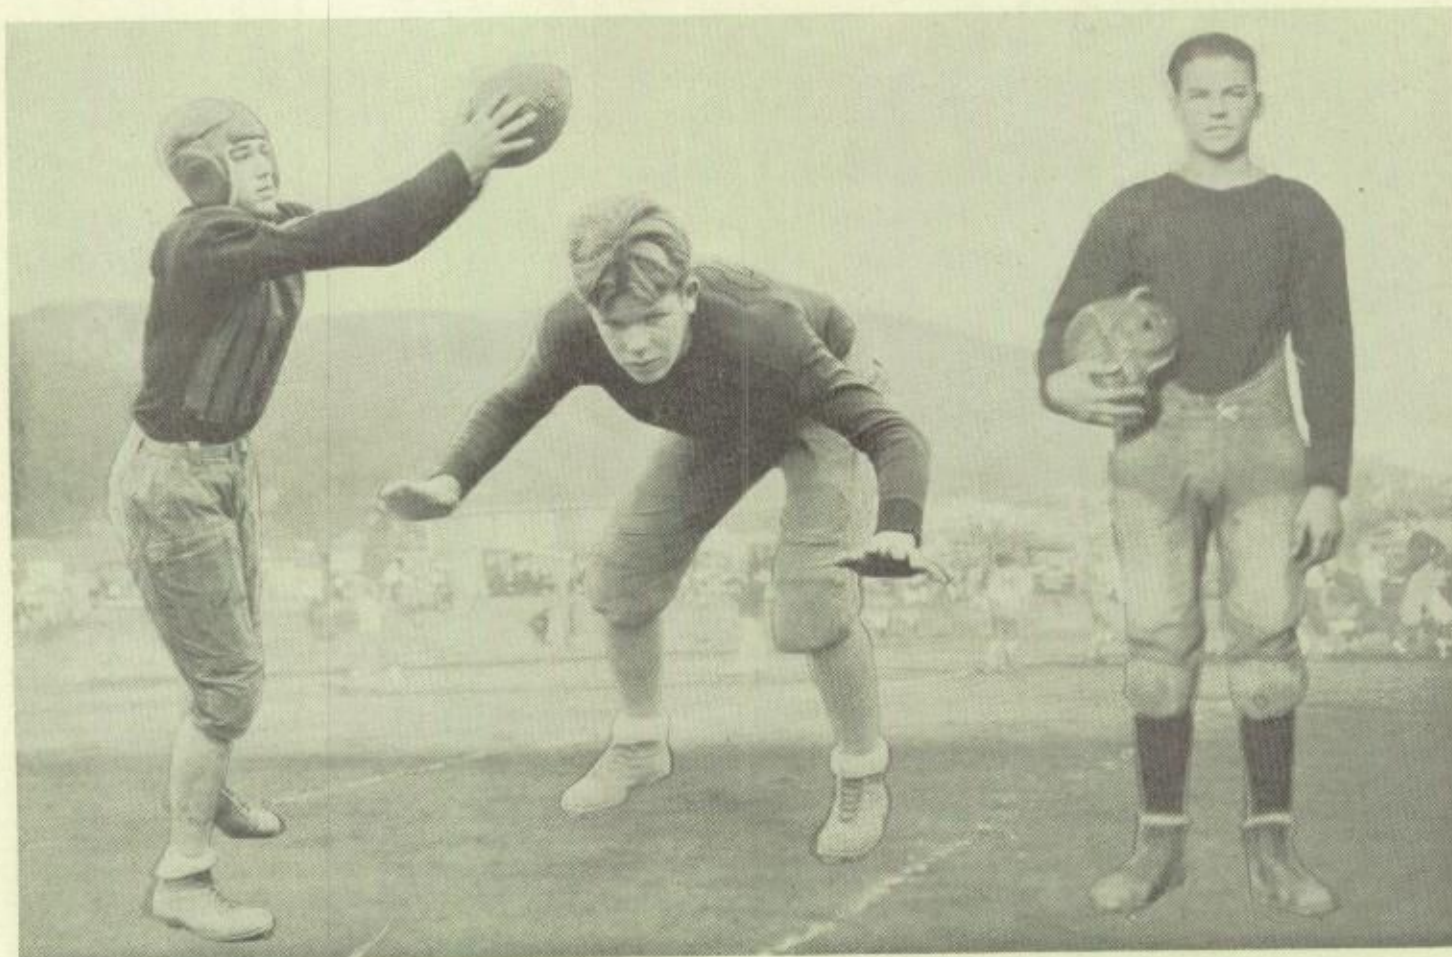

The league football season opened with fans predicting a very unusual schedule, which practice games had merited. Although only four lettermen were back, Coach Sperry managed to get together a team that won all of its practice games.

The first game, with South Pasadena, furthered the expectations of the fans when the Dynamiters came out on top after a furious struggle which ended with only one score. The battle was madly fought and the Red and Black team won only on a break, recovering one of the numerous fumbles of the Tigers for a touchdown.

In the first quarter, the South Pasadena team threatened the goal many times, but never scored. The ball was in the center of the field most of the time. Recovering a fumble by Mainland, South Pasadena toted the pigskin to the Red and Black 10-yard line and then fumbled itself, Needham recovering for Glendale and saving a score. Booker punted 45 yards to Perkins, who fumbled again. Glendale recovered and in two plays Clarke made it first down. Sunderland, substituting for Mainland at quarter, bucked the line and next caught a 10-yard pass from Clarke. Another pass failed and the ball was lost to the Tigers on downs at their 20-yard marker. The Orange and Black team gained 20 yards, only to fumble, and Glendale recovered. Booker punted, and again Perkins fumbled; this time Clarke recovered and raced across the goal for the lone tally as the half ended. During the third quarter the play was quite even. Booker and Heffner exchanged numerous punts. Glendale recovered another fumble and during the last minutes worked a passing attack, only to have Perkins intercept the toss and race 30 yards before being stopped. The Tigers turned to the aerial game, and as the game ended, Sunderland had intercepted a short pass and gained 10 yards. Gene Clarke was the outstanding player on the field and it was his fighting spirit that kept the Tigers from scoring.

SAN DIEGO

The San Diego-Glendale game was the most hotly contested one that the Dynamiters played during the season, and ended with a score of 2 to 0 in favor of the Hilltoppers after a fifth period had been played. San Diego threatened to score only twice, first in the opening quarter and second in the fourth quarter. After failing to make anything by passing or through the line, the Blue and White resorted to place kicking. Five times Moeller's shots went wide of the goal, and during the fourth quarter, with only two minutes left to play, his attempt from the 22-yard line was but inches from the bar. Donahue passed to Ritchie, but the black boy failed to get it. Glendale then took the ball and "Fightin'" Gene Clarke ploughed over for five yards. After battling six more downs, the teams ended up with the ball exactly on the 50-yard line, where it started. On the next play, Ritchie crashed through for four yards. Glendale took the ball for the final effort and Captain Jack Booker made up three of the four yards.

Booker

The Dynamiters never really threatened the Blue and White goal, but showed up marvelously well on the defensive. Time after time the Red and Black line broke through to toss Ritchie and his teammates for losses. Gene Clarke was the outstanding star of this game also. The husky fullback broke through to smear the San Diego backfield before it had started. Only twice did Bert Ritchie, "The Black Phantom of the Coast," get started, and then it was for gains of twenty and forty yards. This game put Glendale in second place in the league standing.

LONG BEACH

The next game, with Long Beach, proved to be one of overwhelming score in favor of the Jackrabbits, 21 to 6. The ability to take advantage of breaks was the main factor in the success of Long Beach. Maltby and Lake, opposing ends, were the undoing of the Dynamiters. In the first quarter, Maltby picked up Clarke's fumble and raced 80 yards, untouched, for a tally. In the next quarter, Lake blocked Booker's punt and scooped up the ball and ran 10 yards for the second score. During the last period, Fiock attempted to pass, and fumbled, and the ever alert Maltby picked the elusive ball up and ran 10 yards for the Jackrabbits' final score. Glendale's only tally came in the third quarter, when a beautiful pass, Clarke to Merritt, was good for 35 yards. In an earlier moment the Dynamiters failed to score by inches. A pass, Clarke to Falter, put the ball on the 22-yard line. As the game went on, the Glendale boys went from bad to worse, and it was surprising that they were not scored on more often. They were at their lowest ebb, in hard contrast to the San Diego game, when they were in top form. After this defeat the Dynamiters went into a coma, from which they emerged but once.

The remaining games were all defeats except the one with Whittier.

SANTA ANA

Richards

The failure to convert lost a victory for the Glendale team in its next game, with Santa Ana. Johnny Needham, fullback, carried the ball over for a touchdown, but failed to convert. Captain Booker ran 70 yards in the first quarter to cross the goal line, but stepped out of bounds and was called back. In the second half, the Saints staged a comeback and scored two touchdowns, converting once. In the last few minutes the Dynamiters made a terrific attempt to score, and passed repeatedly. After having been penalized many times for incomplete passes, they finally completed one that was good for a score.

In the first quarter, Glendale worked the ball down to the three-yard line, but it failed to go over. The Saints punted, and Sunderland then passed to Booker, who ran out of bounds. Clarke tried a place-kick, but it went low. Mainland, who replaced Sunderland at quarter, went over on a series of passes and bucks, but the conversion was blocked. Immediately after the kickoff, Santa Ana on a triple reverse scored and then converted for the point that won the game. The Dynamiters realized the need of a score and made a desperate comeback. They were held for downs, and Clarke punted, the ball being fumbled on the Santa Ana 42-yard line and recovered by Glendale. By a series of passes, Clarke to Merritt, the ball was put over, and Clarke converted. After the Saints were penalized twice for stalling, the final whistle blew, and the Dynamiters were defeated, 13-14.

ALHAMBRA

Harris

The Alhambra game was dropped next, 14 to 0. All of the Moors' points were scored in the first half, and they presented as good a team as the Dynamiters ran up against all season. In the latter part of the first quarter Mohler got loose for a 25-yard gain to Glendale's five-yard line. "Pinky" Parslow toted the ball over on the next two downs, and Mohler converted. After an exchange of punts, which left the Moors in possession of the ball on their own 40-yard line, Mohler again broke loose and was brought down by Clarke with a shoestring tackle. Three bucks put the ball on the Red and Black eight-yard line and made first down. Parslow took the ball over, and Mohler again converted. A new Glendale team came on the field in the second half and started fine, but a fumble spoiled it all, and Mohler kicked 50 yards over the Dynamiters' goal. Penalties inflicted on the Moors failed to help any, and repeated efforts of the Red and Black team to gain were checked. The Moors gained strength in the last quarter and began a march down the field. It was all the Glendale team could do to keep its opponents from scoring again. The game ended with the ball in the possession of the Alhambra team and on the Red and Black 30-yard line. Dick Sunderland was injured in this game and unable to play for some time to come.

The Alhambra team was one of the strongest teams that the Dynamiters had run up against and although the Glendale team fought very hard, it was almost scored upon as the game ended.

WHITTIER

After four straight defeats, the Glendale Dynamiting team came out of its coma and defeated the strong Whittier aggregation, 14 to 0, in a very exciting game played at Whittier. The Poets were strong favorites to win, having defeated the San Diego crew (15 to 3), and Santa Ana (20 to 0), and both of these teams had defeated Glendale. Coaches Sperry and Vance played an entirely new lineup, using most of the second string men. These fellows held the Poets, and after a quarter had been played in Whittier territory, the first string was sent in. This bunch was afraid of getting jerked, as the coaches had threatened to do, and played like demons, the wonderful Whittier defense assuming proportions of an eggshell against them. After the opening of the second quarter, Clarke passed 35 yards to Sunderland, who ran untouched for the first touchdown, which Clarke converted. A few minutes later, Clarke, on a series of rushes and bucks, put the ball over and again converted. The remainder of the game was uneventful, with no exciting parts. The Poets could not score against the Dynamiters' defense and, while the Red and Black team had the ball down to the three-yard line, it could neither score. Harold Wanless, practically unknown and playing his first game, made a wonderful showing by running fine interference for Clarke and Booker.

The Dynamiters showed their real fight and spirit in this game. The appearance of the substitute team had a fighting effect upon the Glendale boys.

Wrong Man

PASADENA

The last game of the season was played with dire results on the Glendale field with Pasadena. The Bulldogs presented an exceptionally strong team, which walloped the Blasters, 10 to 0. The Crown City stars outweighed the local boys many pounds to the man, but in the first quarter they were outplayed by the lighter and faster men. In the second period, Pasadena's Bulldogs got a firm hold and didn't let go. After being stopped on the 10-yard line, Maxey dropped back and kicked a perfect field goal for three points. After Laas had recovered a fumble in the last quarter, the Red and Black team had a chance to score, but a smeared pass for a loss of 12 yards was too much. On the next play, a Pasadena man intercepted a pass, and Maxey crashed through center for 35 yards, being stopped by Sunderland. On a 30-yard pass, Cox to Maxey, the ball was put over, and Cox converted. Sunderland showed up remarkably well as safety man, never missing a tackle. Booker played a consistent game, snagging difficult passes and outpunting Mallory. This game brought the season to a close, with the Red and Black team tied for sixth place with Santa Ana.

Glendale lost all of her first-string men by graduation, except Captain-elect Grey, but there will be a squad of lightweights trying for heavyweight berths when the call is sounded.

Although the team made a very poor showing in the Coast League, a better season can be hoped for next year. With a flock of lightweight stars, Glendale looks good next year.

LETTERS AWARDED

Those who were awarded letters for their work on the class "A" football team are: Captain Jack Booker, three years of experience; Gene Clarke, two years; Colon Harris, two years; Elbert Reed, two years; Captain-elect Grey, one year; Harold (Tiny) Falter, one year; Joe Edwards, one year; George Laas, one year; Donald Baughman, one year; Paul Merritt, one year; Dick Sunderland, one year; Bill Mainland, one year; Bartlett Landis, one year; Elvin Richards, one year; Johnny Needham, one year; and Carroll Toll, one year. Unnamable credit must go to those second and third-string men, who hung on evening after evening, scrimmaging with the varsity, when they knew that they did not hold the slightest chance of making a letter.

Gibson

Never did the varsity team have a better manager than Austin (Hoot) Gibson. The field was in perfect condition for every game, due to the hard work and effort that he put forth. Not only did he work hard after school every day sprinkling and leveling the gridiron, but he turned out early on the morning of a game and marked off the field before anyone was around.

In an address to the boys of the High School, Coach James (Dazzy) Vance declared that he wanted to see more than twice the number of candidates out for football next season than there was last year. He seems to think that there is a great deal more football talent in our school than turns out, and he almost demanded that every one of these turn out in the fall. We hope he is right, and that next season Glendale will again put out a championship team.

Class B Football

Coach Howard Butterfield' lightweiht football squad had a very unfortunate and unlucky season.

In all practice games, the lightweight squad completely overwhelmed its opponents and everyone was confident of the league championship. The league schedule was opened when the Red and Blach squadron swamped the aggregation from South Pasadena, 41 to 6. The Tigers were woefully weak, especially on the defensive. After taking his first string out in the first quarter, "Nucoa" decided to send them back in during the last period. This proved costly for Tom Muff broke his ankle when he was tackeded. Muff, Osier, Lovell and Lewis looked fine in the back-field while Copland, Lee and Finch made good performances on the line. Practically everyone on the squad entered into the massacre at one time or other.

The second game was with San Diego, and it was indeed a "game." Kenny Lewis, playing full, ran 70 yards for a touch-down, but the ball was called back because some Red shirt was offside. This was a costly penalty and probably was the important factor that caused Glendale to lose the championship. The only Dynamite score came in the second quarter when Captain Allie Lovell made a field goal from the 27-yard line. The Hilltop score came during the closing minutes of a play by a series of passes. The Glendale team outplayed the San Diego squad during the entire game and should have won.

Lovell

Class B Squad

Butterfield

The Red and Black hopes were shattered at the next game when the Bees lost to Long Beach, 9 to 7. The Glendale team started out like a lion and ended like a lamb. After the Long Beacher punter made a bad kick and the Red shirts took the ball on the Oiler's 20-yard line, the team worked down to the one-yard line where it was held. The Beachers then took possession of the ball and marched up the field to a score and victory. Lovell scored soon and the game ended a tie. On the playoff, the Jackrabbits managed to push the pigskin a few yards farther than the Dynamiters and won the game by two points.

The team overcame its slump and came back to defeat the Santa Ana crew, 24 to 0. Woodrow Covington played a sensational game at half and was supported by Captain Lovell who scored two touchdowns, one place kick and two conversions. The first score of the game came when Osier's pass made a kick possible. In the same period Lee, playing end, intercepted a pass and ran to the Saints' 10-yard line where Lovell bucked it over. Covington made the next score when he ran 30 yards for a tally. Lovell took the ball on a "short" buck and just kept on going until he crossed the last line.

The lightweights continued their romp and next scalped the Alhambra Moors, 30 to 0. All of the substitutes were put into the game and still the score mounted and mounted. The game opened as if it was going to be a tough one. But Morgan's cultivated toe kept the Moors from danger and the ball was marched to the 20-yard line and there Lovell made another famous place kick. With three points in their bonnets, the Dynamiters opened up with an aerial attack that left the Moors wondering what it was "all about." Muff sneaked over the line for the first touchdown. Merle Staub soon romped through for another score and Lovell converted.

Hold the Line

The game with Whittier almost proved fatal, the Bees winning 2 to 0 on a touchback. The Red shirts started off fine carrying the ball to the Whittier 28-yard line where the march was halted.

In the second period, Lloyd Morgan attempted a place kick from the 48-yard marker that was two feet low. Whittier started a tramp down the gridiron but were promptly checked. In the second half, spectators were given a thrill when Lovell's kick was blocked and recovered by the Poets on the Red and Black 7-yard line. The ball was advanced one yard and then it stopped. Lovell punted out of danger and the teams again fought evenly. Glendale finally began a march up the field but was checked on the 10-yard marker. The Poet center fumbled the ball and in an effort to recover the ball fell on it behind his own goal for the Red and Black only score. The game soon came to a close and the Dynamiters had won.

The Red shirts climaxed their careers when they administered to Pasadena, its only defeat. The score was 8 to 6. The Millionaires were sighted for the championship, but their hopes were ruined by the defeat. In the first few minutes of play the Pasadenaians kicked to Osier who fumbled the slippery and wet pigskin. Pasadena recovered and their plunging fullback went over for six points. In the second quarter Osier caught a punt and raced for 20 yards before being stopped. On a series of plunges and split bucks, the Dynamiting backfield tied the score. For the remaining periods, Glendale outplayed her opponents but failed to score. On the playoff the Dynamiters gained 23 yards, while the Pasadena crew lost three.

Francy

Class C Football

Wolfe

As customary, and by the way, a custom that is becoming a tradition at G. U. H. S., Coach Eugene Wolfe produced a championship, high-caliber football team. For the fourth consecutive year, the class C team entered the Southern California finals and came out on top. Eugene Wolfe has won the regard and respect of football coaches all over California for the consistency with which he is turning out championship teams. Despite the fact that not a single letterman was out for fleaweight football the best team in California was produced by the only one that could do it.

Thirty candidates answered the call for huskies and from these green men, Wolfe moulded a real team. The opening game of the league schedule was simply a track meet for the Blasters who won 40 to 0. Waldo Forrester, who was elected captain prior to the game, starred for the Red and Black boys. Jesse Peinado and Windy Sherman showed that they would remain in the backfield throughout the season by their steady "toting." The opposition encountered can scarcely be called such as the Tigers did not even show fight. Sherman was credited with three touchdowns, as did Gilly Eckles, quarterback. The thrill of the game came when Sherman sprinted 70 yards for a touchdown, in the last quarter.

In a practice game with Los Angeles High the fleaweights again won, 12 to 0. Sherman and Peinado starred in this game, both reeling off countless yards against their opponents. The line showed up particularly well and Dick Vanderwood was the outstanding star. This game was held because San Diego does not have class C teams and only afforded the Firecrackers practice.

Long Beach was the next victim of the fighting mob from Glendale and was defeated 19 to 0. Jesse Peinado scored first when he ran 45 yards with perfect interference for a goal during the first period. The balance of the half was played at the center of the field with neither team making great gains. In the third quarter Sherman carried the ball to the Jack Rabbits' 15-yard line and the quarter ended with the ball on the five-yard line. On the second play of the quarter, Windy plunged over for the second score. During the last quarter the Long Beach team attempted to pass but failed when Wenstrom, Red and Black end, intercepted an unlucky toss and Forrester bucked the ball over to end the third game of the season.

The Santa Ana Saints were beaten by the same score at the next game. The Glendale team completely outclassed the visitors and were never playing their best. This victory put the Firecrackers well on their way to the championship. In the first quarter, the Glendale boys had the edge over the Saints but no scoring was made. Penalties and fumbles prevailed throughout the period. In the second quarter Peinado and Forrester, carrying the ball alternately, scored the first blood. On the kickoff of the second half, Glendale marched right down the field for the second score. On the last play in the quarter, Sherman made a wonderful end run of 45 yards to place the ball on the Saints' 26-yard line. A few seconds later, he plunged over for the final tally. Instead of kicking, Forrester gave the ball to Peinado, who romped across the line untouched.

The Glendale line was crossed for the first time by the Whittier Poets, the score being 19 to 6. The Firecrackers were not up to their usual standard and displayed a poor brand of football even though they won. In the first three minutes of play, Captain Forrester crossed the opposing line for an easy goal. Whittier received the kickoff and fumbled. Glendale, ever alert, recovered and Forrester again scored. Peinado, supported by Forrester, made the Red and Black final score on a series of sweeping end runs. In the last few minutes of play, the Dynamiters weakened and allowed the captain of the opposing team to score.

They met their stiffest competition when they defeated the Pasadena Puppies, 7 to 0. The Dynamiters started out badly but tightened up in the second quarter and Sherman raced for a touchdown through the entire Pasadena team and he converted. At the end of the game the Bulldogs were going strong, having completed three long passes which netted 40 yards. The Pasadena crew was undoubtedly the strongest outfit defeated by the G. U. H. S. upholders. This victory meant that the Firecrackers had won the league championship and were ready for the Southern California championship.

In a slow game played on a wet field, the class C babes defeated the El Monte team, 6 to 0, in the semi-finals of the championship. The teams used straight football because of the rain and slowed up a game that would otherwise have been very fast. In the first quarter Windy Sherman galloped to the only score, assisted by Forrester and Peinado giving perfect interference. Glendale almost scored again in the second quarter when Forrester punted the pigskin out of bounds on the El Monte two-yard line. For a time it seemed as if the Lions would score for they pushed the ball right up the field until the Firecrackers finally held them for downs. The third quarter was uneventful and very slow, each team resorting to kicks which averaged about sixteen yards each. Neither team was able to make the necessary 10 yards. The game ended with the ball in possession of Glendale on the El Monte 39-yard line.

In the closest game of the season, the babes defeated Huntington Park and won the Southern California championship. The first quarter was tremendously close and exciting with each team fighting for the advantage. The period was scoreless although the Huntington Park team threatened the Red and Black goal several times. With the first half nearing a close, Captain Forrester passed to Eckles who was but a few yards from the goal. The opposing end scented the play and leaped high in the air to nab the toss. He raced for his goal and was well on his way when the whistle blew, saving the Firecrackers from defeat. There was some dispute between officials about the end of the half and the end was awarded the goal. Huntington Park kicked off in the second half and Forrester galloped for 17 yards. Sherman made 16 more and Peinado added several more. Forrester again hit the line for a large gain and Sherman took the pigskin across. He failed to convert and the score stood 9 to 6. In the final quarter the Dynamiters were headed for another score when a 15-yard penalty for holding ruined the chances. Bucks by Forrester, Sherman and Peinado then placed the ball on the Huntington Park 10-yard line but the gun stopped further scoring. The Wolfemen line displayed wonderful fight and power and too much credit cannot be given its members for the important victory.

The little fighting men lived up to the reputation that Eugene Wolfe's teams have gained and again won the championship of Southern California. They were by far the best team in the Southland and at no time did they win by luck. They certainly deserve a great deal of praise.

Those fighting fellows who received letters are: Captain Waldo Forrester, Gilbert Eckles, Jesse Peinado, Wendell Sherman, Charles Wenstrom, Dick Vanderwood, Varian Sloan, Bill Grey, Mar Frailey, Jack McDonald, David Chasse, Calvin Carey, Garland Cole. These fellows all fought hard and put up some of the fastest and cleanest games of football ever seen on any field. They were always good, clean and sportsmanlike and it was a real pleasure to watch them. The work of the second and third string men was just as important as that upon any good team and they deserve a great deal of praise for their efforts in making a championship team.

Busting Through

Class A Basketball

The basketball season opened with many bright prospects. Three letter men returned to the team, in addition to a host of others, Captain Mitchell, Earl Exup, and Jack Booker were the returning men.

Elvin Richards, George Grey, Paul Merrit, Eddie Greutert, Kenneth Bushey, Loyd Morgan, Morton Nickle, Bob Elmore, Bob Rhule, Bill Hallam, Calvin Drake, and Poul Moulder were the other candidates. With these good men Glendale's chances for the league championship were very good.

The first league game was with South Pasadena in which a converted foul spelled defeat for the Dynamiters. The Tigers were outplayed on team work and passing, but the Glendale boys could not locate the basket. George Gray put in the first Glendale basket, which was followed by two of Eddie Greutert's and a foul by Paul Merrit. The South Pasadena team came back to tie the score at the end of the last quarter. As the closing whistle blew one red and black player fouled a Tiger man, and South Pasadena sunk the winning goal. Captain Mitchell, George Grey, Eddie Greutert, Paul Merrit and Jack Booker played the entire game.

San Diego fell before the conquering Dynamiters in the second league game after the contest required two extra periods. At the end of the game the score was 21 to 19. As the game started Grey passed to Greutert, who shot a basket from the center of the floor. San Diego came back and tied the score, but at the end of the quarter Glendale led 4 to 2. At the start of the next period Greutert shot a foul throw which was followed by a basket and a foul by San Diego, tying the score. Merrit made the score 7 to 5, but as the half ended San Diego again tied the score seven all. The third period was full of exciting, words cannot describe the fourth. Lloyd Morgan was sent in to relieve Captain Mitchell and played a very brilliant game. At the opening of the last quarter, he tossed a nice one to put Glendale in the lead, 11 to 10. San Diego followed and again Morgan tossed a basket to give the Dynamiters a one point lead. San Diego again followed and again Morgan had to shoot a nice basket. Paul Merrit soon followed this with one of his own which gave Glendale a three point lead, however, the ice was broken and as the game ended, San Diego had tied the score. The first playoff period was eventless although the Hilltoppers had a chance to score by a foul but missed. Another period was necessary and Greutert opened it with a perfect toss. A San Diego man also tossed one in which tied the score again. Jack Booker made a wonderful throw and his toss had barely entered the basket when the closing whistle blew and the Dynamiters had won.

The Alhambra Moors turned the tables on the Dynamiters in the third league game ot win, by a close score, 14 to 12. The game was played in the huge Alhambra gymnasium in which the Red and Black team was completely lost. In the first half the Dynamiters made only two points to the Moors' nine. The Glendale team tried a desperate rally in the last half and score ten points but could not overcome the strong Moor team. Gene Hibbs, freshman player, started the game in the place of Captain Mitchell and made a fine showing. Boyd of Alhambra was high point man with four baskets to his credit and Kenny Bushey accounted for three of Glendale's baskets.

The Glendale team was next swamped by the strong aggregation from Long Beach. The dynamiters were all wet and failed to go off. The final score was 26 to 7 in favor of the Jackrabbits. Not a single free shot was made by the Glendale team until the middle of the last quarter when Captain Mitchell tossed a long one in from the middle of the floor. The only other goal was made by George Grey, shortly after. The game started with a bang and Greutert scored for the Dynamiters by a foul throw. The green shirts opened up then and by the end of the quarter has amassed 11 points while Glendale had two. During the second quarter Merrit threw a foul giving the Dynamiters three points. The Long Beach coach injected his second and third string men into the fray and they totaled 15 points. In the last period Glendale tried weakly to come back but failed. Mitchell and Grey made the only baskets of theh game. Mitchell, Morgan, Booker, Greutert, Richards and Grey made the best showing of any of the Glendale men.

A rejuvenated Glendale team faced Santa Ana in the fourth league game. The boys fought hard and outplayed their opponents, 21 to 16. The score was tied in the last quarter and the Dynamiters showed whatthey could do and scored three tosses. Captain Mitchell and Kenneth Bushey were the main factors in the Glendale victory and subdued the Beetgrowers. The first quarter was nip and tuck; Axup and Bushey getting many free shots because of their fast footwork. The Dynamiters featured short snappy passes and the first quarter ended with Glendale in the lead, 5 to 4. In the second quarter, Santa Ana perked up and led the Dynamiters at the end of the half, 11 to 9. The third period had hardly opened when Bushey tossed in a nice basket tying the score. Both teams tightened up then and the rest of the period was scoreless. The last quarter opened with the deadlock Glendale then opened up and swamped the Santa Ana Saints although they also made many baskets. The four-man offense, Morgan, Bushey, Mitchell and Nickel worked fine and the victory was attributed to these boys' work.

In the last league game of the season the Dynamiters were hopelessly outclassed by the Pasadena Bulldogs, 29 to 5. Bushey and Hibbs, both of whom usually throw four or five baskets, failed to even locate the basket. During the last half the Glendale team failed to score once, while the Bulldogs ran up 12 points.

The first quarter started rough, many personal fouls being called on players of both teams. The Millionaires scored eight points in the first quarter, while the Dynamiters managed to get one. In the second quarter, the Dynamiters tried to rally, but couldn't get going. Morgan scored two points while Richards counted for one. Before the half ended, Pasadena had totaled 17 points to the Glendale's 5. The Red and Black team grew worse and worse as the game went on and failed to even hit the hoop in the last half. The Bulldogs kept going and ran up 12 points.

Looping shots in from every position on the floor, the Whittier Quakers completely outplayed the Dynamiters, 29 to 13. The Dynamiters started out strong. Mitchell being the first man to score with a neat side shot. Bushey soon followed with another basket from the same spot. Before the quarter had ended, Whittier gathered in two points from free shots. The first period ended with Glendale in the lead, 4 to 2. The second quarter was ruinous to Glendale. No sooner had the whistle sounded than Landreth shot a long, pretty basket. Mifflin and Crooks followed with two more and before the half ended Landreth managed to slip in another. Glendale was able to muster only one point, a foul throw by Bushey. The score at the half stood 12 to 5. In the third period the Quakers continued their expert shooting and no combination of players were able to stop the attack. At the end of the third quarter the Poets had run up a lead of 25 to 6. The Dynamiters perked up some during the last quarter with the insertion of Hibbs, but the Poets' lead could not be overcome.

Mitchell

Class "B" Basketball

Vance

The Class B hoopsters also started the league season with bright outlooks. They won their opening game against the South Pasadena team, 19 to 10. All of the Tiger's points were made in the first half, and then the Dynamiters rallied and did not allow the visiting team to score. The Red and Black boys outpassed their rivals easily in the first quarter, but did not score. In the second period Rathbone started with a goal, which was followed by a foul by Covington. South Pasadena scored and again the Blasters came back to score again. Ted Rathbone and Allen Lovell made exceptionally good showings.

The next game reversed the tables on the Glendale Bees and they were defeated, 16 to 10, by the strong San Diego crew.

The Blue and White team deserved to win, largely through the efforts of "Chuck" Snyder, former Dynamiter. Otsuko, diminutive Oriental forward, covered himself with glory, scoring six of the visitors' scores. His floorwork was the feature of the game. At the end of the first half the score was in favor of Glendale, 7 to 6, but during the second half the team only scored three points. Rathbone put Glendale in the lead in the first ten seconds by sinking a foul. Snyder of San Diego followed suit, but Osier's toss again put the Dynamiters in the front. San Diego ran up several points. However, Woodie Covington, substituting for Osier, brought the Red and Black team to the front as the half ended. During the last half, the Hilltoppers made ten points to Glendale's three, due to the efforts of Snyder.

Showing little of their real form and failing entirely to get started, the Bees dropped the next game to Long Beach, 29 to 11. The Jackrabbits took the lead early and maintained it throughout the tilt. This defeat destroyed all hope for a top position in the league standing. Coach Vance threw in twelve substitutes, but the game was lifeless. The boys were slow in starting and their progress was poor, even on the open floor. They were somewhat better on the defensive, but were still outclassed by the Long Beach team. Lovell and Osier started at forwards, Covington at center with Rathbone and Moorhead at guard. None of these men played throughout the game.

The next defeat was at the hands of the Santa Ana Saints. After playing a consistent game for the first half, Vance's boys sunk to defeat, 28 to 16. Osier started the fireworks by sinking one in the first 30 seconds. This and a foul by Covington were the only scores of the first period. The rural boys made a strong comeback in the second quarter to tie the score. Fouling was prevalent during the third quarter and the score was 17 to 10 in favor of the Saints. Repeated substitutions by Vance failed to stem the Saint tide and the whistle blew at 28 to 10.

The Baby Blasters were again swamped by the weakest team in the league, Alhambra, by an overwhelming score of 31 to 16. The Red and Black boys played as if they were in a coma and never displayed any real talent. The Moorish second string held its own against the Dynamiters despite more substitutions by Vance. Blonde, star forward of Alhambra, was high point man with ten points to his credit. This was the fourth consecutive defeat for the Bees and things looked very black.

However, the boys rose to great heights and upset all dope by beating the strong Whittier team, 26 to 16. The game was exceedingly fast and was only marred by the referee, who called 25 fouls. The Poets had the large end of the score throughout most of the first half, but a pretty shot by Lovell as the whistle blew gave the Blasters a 11 to 10 lead. The Whittier boys failed to score in the last half, while the Dynamiters made 15 chalkers.

The Bees went back into their coma, and although they had plenty of chances to score and played a consistent game, dropped the last game of the season to Pasadena, 33 to 18. In the third quarter the boys rallied and scored eight points. The large Pasadena lead could not be overcome, though. Muff was high point for Glendale with 7 points; Captain Lovell was also behind with 6. Captain Anderson of the visitors played a good game and was high point man with 12 markers.

The Bullpups got an early lead, which they held throughout. Muff and Read were the only Dynamiters to score during the first period. The count at the end of the half was 16 to 6. A desperate rally did no good and the Millionaires fought harder and swamped the locals, 33 to 18.

Class "C" Basketball

Wolfe

The Class C team was handicapped by the extended football season and managed to get only one week of practice before the league season opened.

Wendell Sherman and Waldo Forrester were the only two men with previous experience. Sherman played a fine game last season and was looked upon as a certain star. Forrester, because of his height, was valuable as center man. A large group of men, including Wenstrom, Carey, Zeniga, Cole, Davidson and Peinado from the football team, turned out and the season looked fairly hopeful. In a practice game against Burbank the Bees made a fine showing and won by a large score.

The season opened with a bang and the South Pasadena Kitties fell before the Glendale team, 8 to 5. The game was a preliminary to the A contest and was slow and uninteresting. Poor passing, bad footwork and worse shooting were the features. At the end of the half, South Pasadena was leading 3 to 2, but the Firecrackers passed them as Forrester sank a long shot. Johns, Glendale forward and high point man of the day, then sank two of his three baskets to end the game. "Windy" Sherman was the star of the game, being the only consistent passer on the floor.

San Diego had no Class C basketball team and consequently the local boys had a week more of practice. They were handed a setback, however, when they were trimmed by the Long Beach Bunnies, 19 to 16. The game was crammed with interest and action. "Stevie" Stevenson caused the defeat of the Fire crackers by piling up 16 of the total 19 points gained by Long Beach. He played the entire game and was as good on the offensive as defensive.

Waldo Forrester played a fine game at center position and totaled five points for the locals. The first quarter was close, the opposing teams sinking goals alternately. It closed with the score of 5 to 4 in favor of Long Beach. By the end of the half the lead had been increased to 11 to 6. Glendale made a strong bid for the lead in the last quarter, but the brilliant guarding of the Beach City was too good for them.

The Firecrackers again sputtered out in a preliminary to the varsity contest with Santa Ana. The victory, 17 to 12, paved the way to the championship for the Saints, since they had only one more game to play. Although the game was dropped, the Firecrackers gave the Santa Ana boys plenty to worry about and bothered them consistently. Coach Wolfe started Steele, Johns, Forrester, Sherman and Cole, but they were bewildered by the large floor and were unable to get around fast enough.

The Firecrackers dropped the next league game with Alhambra, 23 to 6. It was the worst playing that the Glendale team had shown the entire season. The game was terribly one-sided and very tame. Steele and McCombs secured the only two goals of the game, while the additional two points were gained on fouls. Coach Wolfe varied his lineup as much as possible and tried many different combinations, however, the Babes played as if in a fog and at no time threatened the Moorlets, who had a 12 to 1 lead at the end of the half. Flood was the star for the victors and wasequaled by Merriam in the last period.

The Whittier game proved to be another disastrous tumble and the Firecrackers barely managed to exist. The complete score was 19 for Whittier and 7 for Glendale. During the first quarter, "Windy" Sherman and Waldo Forrester started the game grand, scoring five points in the first period. However, they were not strong enough to make but one more goal the rest of the game. Wolfe shot in substitutes to instill life into the struggle, but the Red and Black boys seemed to be finished. In the third quarter eight points were chalked up against the locals, which were followed by 11 more in the last period.

The team dropped into the cellar position after a hard fight against the Pasadena Puppies, which ended with a score of 20 to 10. The Babes played a good floor game as far as passing went, but the old shooting jinx kept them from hitting the hoops. Luck was against them in the first half, when their repeated shots glanced from the ring, and the half ended with a goose egg for the Red and Black boys. The third quarter was Glendale's best, for Johns, replacing Wenstrom, displayed a brilliant game of dribbling and shooting, making six points. Pasadena also had a good period by scoring ten points.

Track

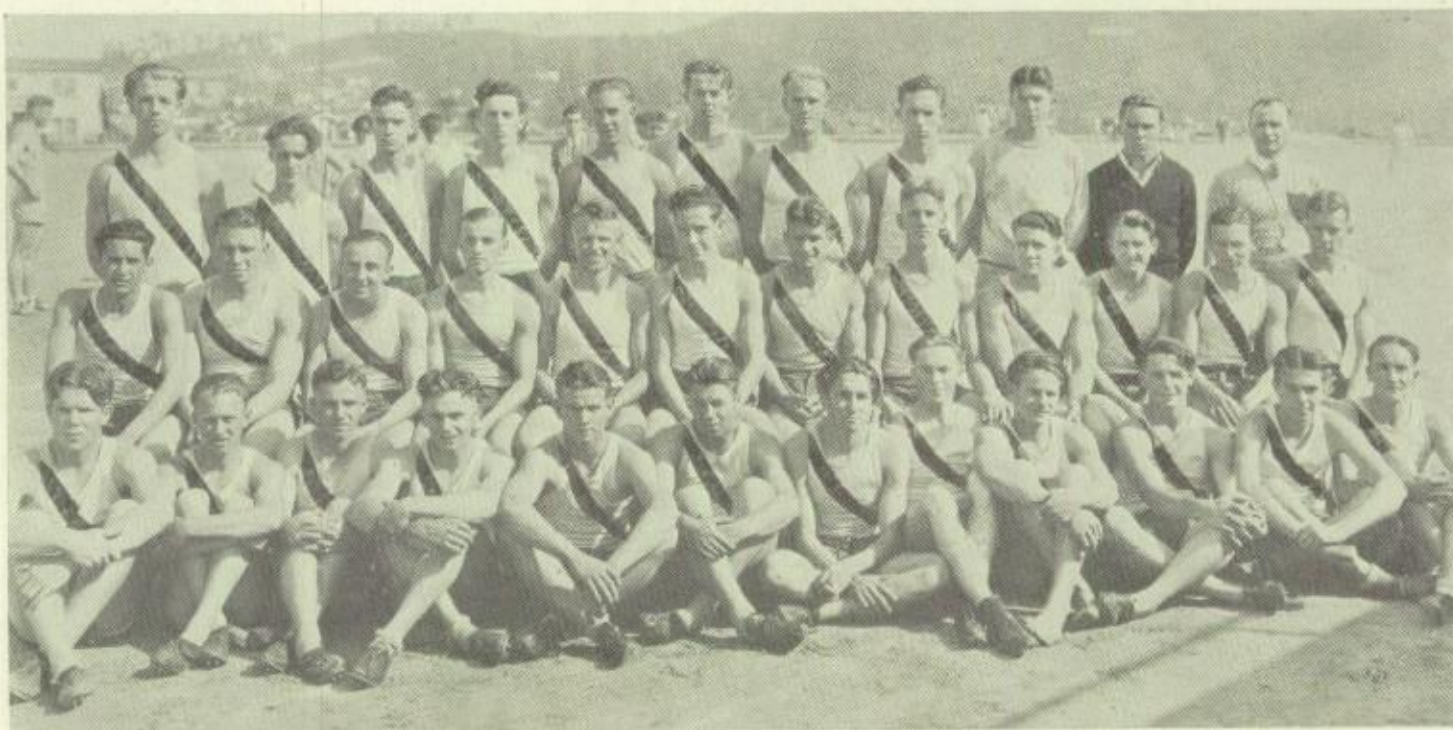

Hayhurst

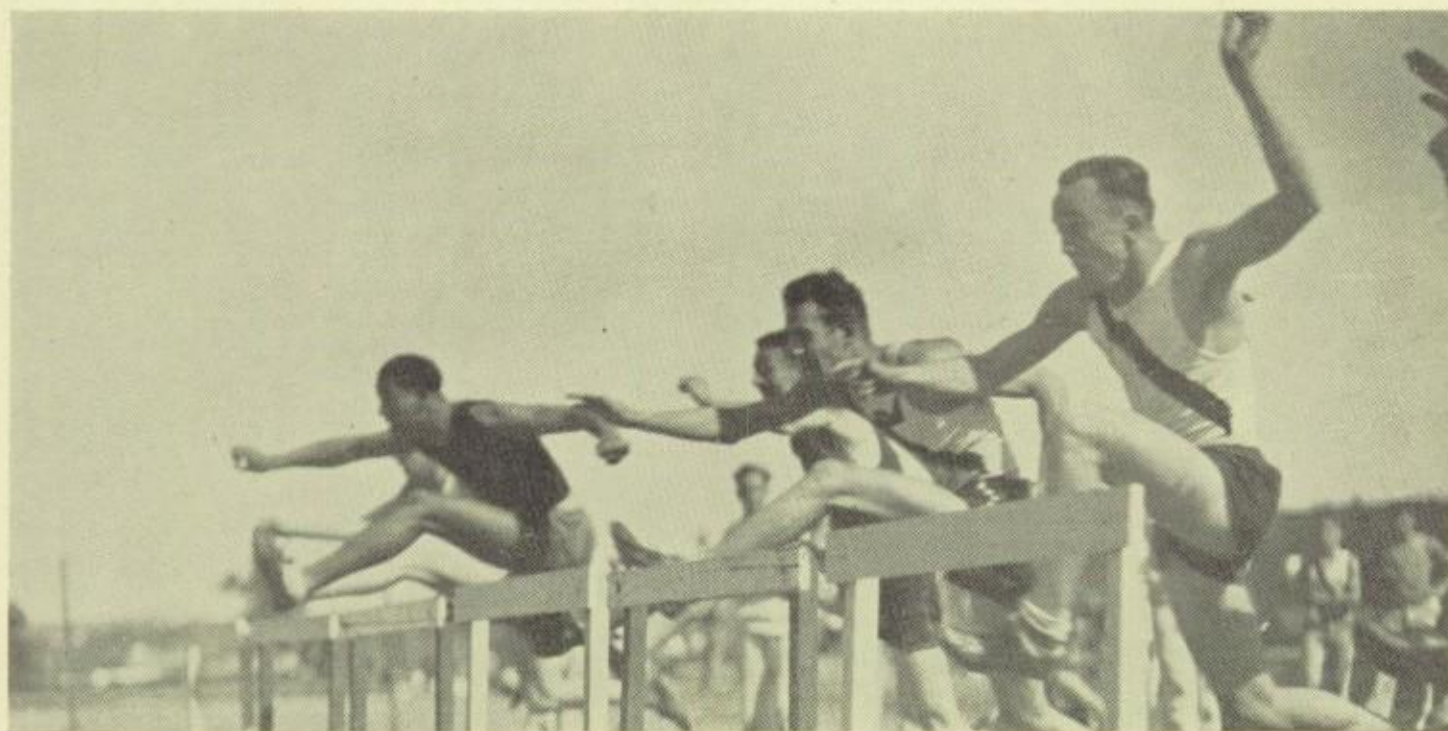

The annual track season opened with the inter-class track meet to determine new material for the team. Ed Patrick, sensational half-miler, proved to be a real find when he ran the 880 in 2:04.9 seconds, which was but eight-tenths of a second slower than the league record. Many other new stars were discovered and fans realized that Glendale had a real track team. The Juniors won first place easily, the Sophomores were second, Seniors third, and Freshmen last.

The first meet was held with U. S. C. on the Bovard field, which resulted in victory for the frosh team, 78 $\frac{1}{4}$ to 34 $\frac{3}{4}$. However, the record made by the Dynamiters was remarkable, considering that some of the world's best athletes were in the meet. Frank Wykoff, running for the first time in the new season, made the century in 9.8 seconds, tying the Coast League record. Patrick won the 880 easily with a slow time.

The Red and Black spikers next journeyed to the San Bernardino Orange Show, where it won many medals, sixteen in all. The team broke the 440-yard four-man open relay record in 43.6 seconds. It also won the two-mile four-man open relay and the one-mile eight-man open relay.

Long Beach was the first victim of the varsity track team and was beaten by a score of 61 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 51 $\frac{1}{2}$. Frank Wykoff was the high point man, with 12 points to his credit, and Tiny Falter was second with 10 points. Wykoff broke the league record for the century when he ran against a stiff wind in 10 seconds flat. This shattered the former record, of which he was joint holder, by two-tenths of a second. Russ Slocum won the 220, and his teammate, Wykoff, was second. Falter won both the discus and shot weights with tosses of 114 feet and 47 feet 10 inches, respectively. Bill Mainland created a sensation when he won the low hurdles in 27.1 seconds. The crack relay team was beaten when Slocum stumbled and dropped the baton.

Over the Top

The powerful team next vanquished the Santa Ana Saints by an overwhelming score of 74 to 39. Wykoff again broke the 100-yard dash record when he ran it in 9.8 seconds. He was followed by Slocum, who was clocked at 9.9 seconds. Harold Breeding of Santa Ana broke the league record for the mile when he made the sensational time of 4 minutes 33.5 seconds. Tiny Falter broke the shotput record by a heave of 49 feet 10 inches.

Three new Southern California records were chalked up when Glendale entered the A. A. U. relay contest held in the Coliseum. In addition to breaking the Southern California records in the four-man two-mile and the eight-man one-mile relay, a new world's record was set in the quarter-mile four-man relay. The records were 3 minutes and 5 seconds for the mile relay, 8:19.4 seconds for the two-mile relay and 42.4 seconds for the quarter mile. Steiner of Chaffee broke the record for the shotput with 49 feet 2 inches. Falter was second with a toss of only 48 feet 10 inches.

Alhambra was next swamped by a score of 78½ to 34½. The Dynamiters took 11 out of the possible 13 first places. Ed Patrick, when trying to let his teammates finish ahead, was almost beaten and managed to win only by several feet. Lannigan won his first race of the year in the mile. His time was 4:57.1 seconds, which was comparatively slow. Wykoff again ran the century in 9.8 seconds, followed by Slocum per usual. Mainland won the low hurdles in 26.6 seconds.

San Diego was unable to arrange a meet with the Dynamiters, so it was agreed that the two schools' scores in the Coast League meet would count as the dual meet. Glendale walked away with the Coast League meet, with Wykoff and Patrick setting their usual records that stand as final. Consequently the meet with San Diego was won and Glendale was ready for its final dual clash with Pasadena for the Coast League championship. Neither team had suffered defeat at anyone's hands.

Copeland

The meet was a real thriller, with Pasadena winning the title. The failure to place men in the high jump cost the Red and Black team the championship. The final score of the meet was 60 to 53. If the team had been able to take either first, second or third in the high jump it would have won the meet. The Dynamiters took six first places and two of them were clean sweeps. Frank Wykoff ran the century in 9.7 seconds, breaking the former record by half a second. Of the four watches timing, two caught him at 9.5 seconds, the world's record, one at 9.6 seconds and one at 9.7 seconds. Falter bettered the league shotput record by several inches, with a 48 feet 11½ inch toss. Patrick broke the 880 record when he ran it in 2:3.4 seconds. Bill Vinacke and Dick Webb were second and third. Frank Wykoff, a consistent man in the broad jump, won the event with a leap of 20 feet 6 inches.

To climax the season, Glendale won the Southern California track meet by one of the largest scores ever chalked up by one team in such a meet. When it was over Glendale's score tallied 31½ points, and that of the nearest school 15 points, so it was the walkaway predicted by all the sports writers.

Every member of the team showed up exceptionally well, and showed up some of the best runners in the south. Wykoff tied the record he and Slocum set at the preliminaries in the 100 of 9.8 seconds. Slocum came in second right behind Wykoff, and it is interesting to note that the first four men in the 100 ran it under 10 seconds, which was, up to this year, the Southern California record set by Paddock, so it can be seen that the competition was by no means weak. In the 880, Patrick failed to place, as expected, because a poor start and crowded field on the first turn, which made him break his stride. However, Vinacke sprung a surprise and placed ahead of him in the fifth position. Wykoff also broke the record in the 220-yard events with a time of 21.4 seconds. Slocum as usual was right behind him and placed second. As the runners passed the stands it seemed that Slocum was first with Bear of Santa Ana second and Wykoff third, but just before the finish he put on a burst of speed, which placed him out in front when they hit the tape. "Tiny" Falter made his best heave of the year in the shotput with a distance of 50 feet $\frac{1}{2}$ inch, nosing out Steiner of Chaffey by a goodly margin. In the broad jump Wykoff took another first place with a jump of 22 feet 2 inches. He made this on his second trial. Then came the half-mile relay, and the Glendale team with Wykoff, Mainland, Zaun and Slocum running set a new world's record with a time of 1:29.6 seconds. It was a great race and served as a fitting climax for the Glendale rooters, who were in the stands cheering the team on to its victory. Wykoff alone made as many points as the school placing second, taking three firsts. Altogether the team took five firsts, two seconds and one fifth.

On Saturday, May 7, the Glendale team closed its wonderful season by winning the State Track Championship at Modesto. The Glendale boys amassed a total of 30 points, with the nearest school, Pasadena, having only 15. The meet was a clean walkaway for the Southern end of the State, Southern schools taking the five first places.

The 100, as usual, was a battle between Slocum and Wykoff, Slocum leading up to the last 10 yards when Wykoff came up on him. There was quite an argument among the timers as to who won and it was at last decided that Wykoff took it with a time of $9\frac{4}{5}$ seconds. Falter took first in the shot, as was expected. Wykoff took the 220 and hung up a new record of 21 seconds flat. Beatty made his best performance of the season with a throw of 147 feet in the javlin.

Setting a World Record

Class C Track

The Class C track season started out rather poorly, but ended up with Glendale holding the Coast League championship. A loss to Long Beach opened the schedule, but victory in the rest of the meets, together with the winning of the league meet, gave the championship to the Firecrackers.

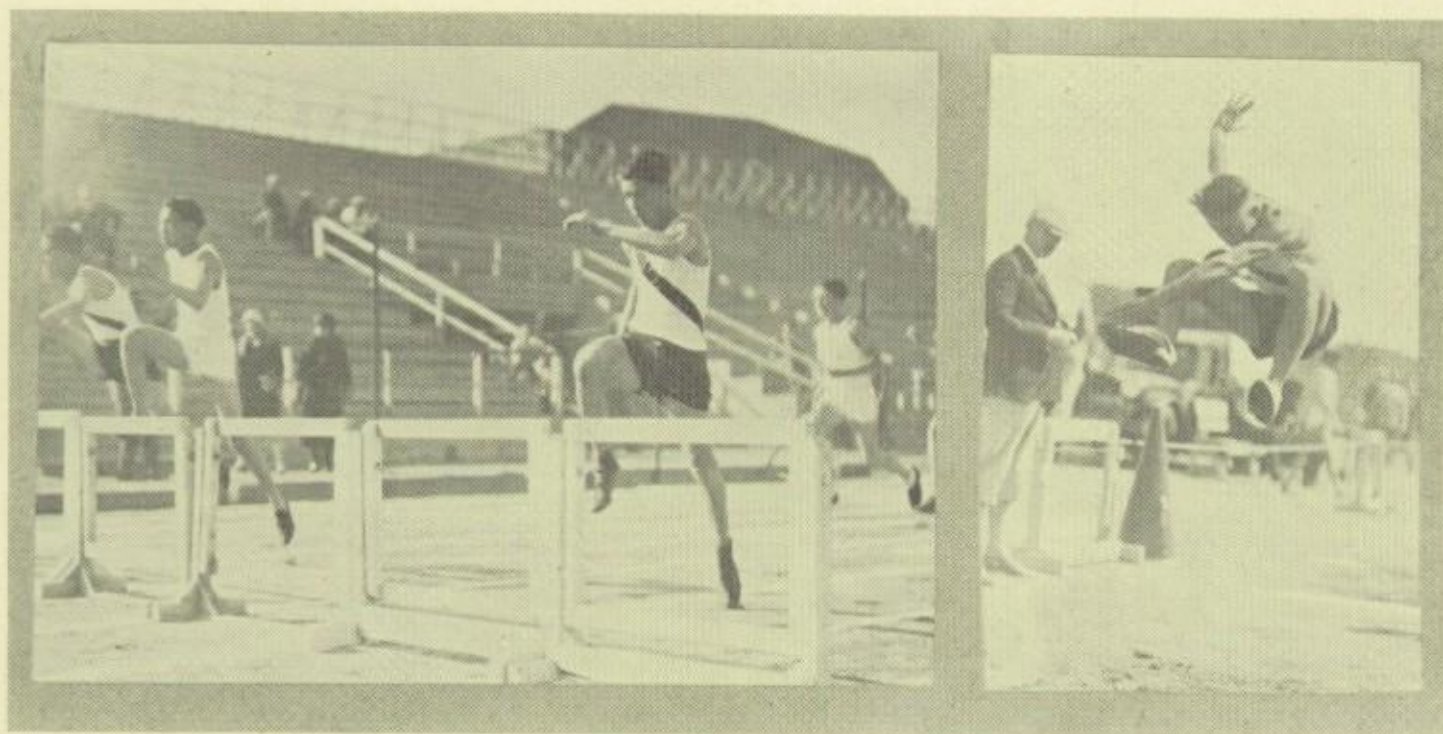

The Class C men were not able to get going against the fast Long Beach Midgets, led by Londers, and dropped the meet $31\frac{1}{2}$ to 20. Chick Clark was high point man, with 11 points, having scored first place in both the 50-yard dash and the broad jump. He also ran in the relay and gained another point for the locals.

The next meet with South Pasadena was a cinch for the baby Dynamiters, coached by Hayhurst, also varsity coach. The Tigers offered no competition, and the meet was won by a score of $40\frac{1}{2}$ to $11\frac{1}{2}$. Clark was again high point man, with 11 points, also in the fifty- broad jump and the relay. Tobin, trailed by his teammate Slocum, brother of the famous Russ, won the 100-yard dash and also the 220. Slocum was second and Sloan third. Sloan won the 120-yard low hurdles with Cole third. Glendale placed second in the shotput and first and second in the pole vault. Burns, Salyer and Scribner added to the Glendale score. The relay team, composed of Tobin, Slocum, Park and Clark, ran away from the South Pasadena crew and came in an easy winner.

The Coast League meet was next and, led by Clark, it was easily cinched by Glendale. Clark again was high point man with his usual 11 points. Glendale placed first in the 50-yard dash, the broad jump, the low hurdles and the relay. This meet made the Coast League championship possible for the fleaweights.

After this meet was over Pasadenas' crew came over to Glendale and were defeated, although they held all of the Coast League records. They were beaten by a score of 20 to 11. Widdis of Pasadena was high point man with 13 points, winning the 100-yard dash, the broad jump and second in the fifty. Clark won the 50-yard dash, as customary, but was not up to his usual self in the broad jump, and placed second. Sloan pulled a big surprise when he defeated his teammate, Tobinfi, in the 220-yard dash. He has been pulling down third place, but unhooked with a burst of speed in the last few yards to win. Tobin was second and a Pasadena man third. Sloan also won the 120-yard low hurdles.

In the shotput Glendale placed second and also second and third in the pole vault. The relay team, composed of Tobin, Slocum, Sloan and Clark, ran a very fast lap and set a new Coast League record for Class C relay teams of 47 seconds flat. This smashed the old record by a whole second.

In the preliminaries of the Southern California championship meet Glendale qualified six men. Clark won his heat in the 50-yard dash, Sloan placed in the low hurdles, Squires won his second of the pole vault, Cole placed in the broad jump and the relay team placed. In the finals Glendale was doped to win or tie with Huntington Park for first place. However, the Dynamiters failed to do anything and received $4\frac{1}{2}$ points. Clark placed fifth in the 50-yard dash, Sloan failed to place in the low hurdles, Squires tied for first in the pole vault, Cole failed to place in the broad jump, and the relay team, composed of Tobin, Slocum, Sloan and Clark, fifth. Squires was the only one to qualify for the State meet at Modesto.

Baseball

Sperry

Baseball season at Glendale High began under a new coach, George S. Sperry, who was quite handicapped at the outset of the season by the lack of experienced men, since only one letter man, Al Zuniga, was back. However, a host of other candidates turned out, from which a good team was formed.

The pitching staff was rather weak, because of the ineligibility of Charley Smith, star hurler. Tyler Robinson and Wilfred Hartley were the only men who specialized in pitching, and neither had had any previous experience. Marion and Ryan, both of whom had some experience, reported for the position of catcher. Hudson and Kelly looked fairly good at first base. The team started with two practice games each week until the league schedule opened. Six of the league schools, including Glendale, formed a secondary league, in which the second teams will participate.

The team managed to beat Van Nuys in the first practice game, 8 to 7. Tyler Robinson hurled the first five innings and did a fairly good job of it. Van Nuys opened with a pop fly and four straight hits until they were finely checked. Glendale came back with four runs and then added two more in the second. The first string was jerked in the fourth and Van Nuys threatened to win, but Hartley just managed to hold them. Al Madrid made a nice hit to win the game in the ninth. Glendale beat both San Fernando and Burbank teams, only to lose to Manual Arts. Al Zuniga pitched four innings of a perfect game against San Fernando when he was replaced by Robinson. The final score was 10 to 3. Kelly pitched against the Burbank wizards and walked five men and fanned five. The heavy-hitting Manual Arts team defeated the Blasters, 10 to 6. The local team started out fine, hitting everything the L. A. pitcher put over. But they slowed down in the fourth inning and the visitors chalked up enough tallies to win. Kelly again pitched, but was unable to show any control and was replaced by Robinson in the sixth.

The league season opened with a loud bang for the Dynamiters, when they defeated the South Pasadena Tigers 4 to 3 in the first game. The early part of the game was very slow and uninteresting and looked as if the Red and Black team was going to run away with things. But in the fourth inning South Pasadena made its first score and the game was livened up a bit. Tyler Robinson deserved more credit than anyone else for the victory, because he pitched a fine game, fanning eleven men and only walking one during the entire nine innings that he pitched. In the first two innings the Dynamiters ran wild, scoring four runs. However, during the third and fourth innings no scoring was done by either team and things were very dull. The Tigers went hitless until the fifth inning, when Al Zuniga muffed a fast one, which allowed the South Pasadena man to go to second. He then stole third and, on the next hit, scored. Lefty Hudson provided the big thrill of the game in the first inning when he hit a home run on the very first ball pitched to him. Pee wee Read shone brilliantly in the field during the game and took all honors there.

This victory put Glendale at the top of the league standing with Pasadena. The next game was with San Diego and resulted in the first league defeat of the Dynamiters. A brilliant rally in the sixth inning by the Hilltoppers caused the downfall of the Glendale team. The locals were unable to score once during the game, and the final result was San Diego 4, Glendale 0. Tyler Robinson pitched his usual good game for the Red and Black team and got in a tight place only in the sixth inning. Only two hits were made by the Dynamiters during the entire game. The same Glendale man, Lefty Hudson, playing first base, managed to get both of those. San Diego was able to get nine hits off of Robinson, but several of those were pop-out flies.

Marion

Those playing first string were: Lawrence Marion, catcher; Tyler Robinson, pitcher; Dixon Kelly, first; W. Doll, second; Alberta Zuniga, shortstop; Julian Zuniga, third; Bob Reel, left field; Sam Verwier, center field, and Don Harper, right field.

The second string, which was entered in the second league, was: Louis Ryan, catcher; Wilfred Hartley, pitcher; Arthur Hudson, first; Pee wee Read, second; Bob Price, shortstop; C. Doll, third; Franklin, left field; Curtis, center field, and Tobias, right field. This team played in between the regular league games.

As the Stylus went to press, the Dynamiters were leading the other Coast League teams for the championship. Four more games were left to play and the fans were confident of victory. Kelly, pitching, was the person whom the fans were counting on, aided by his fine teammates.

Wrestling

Wolfe

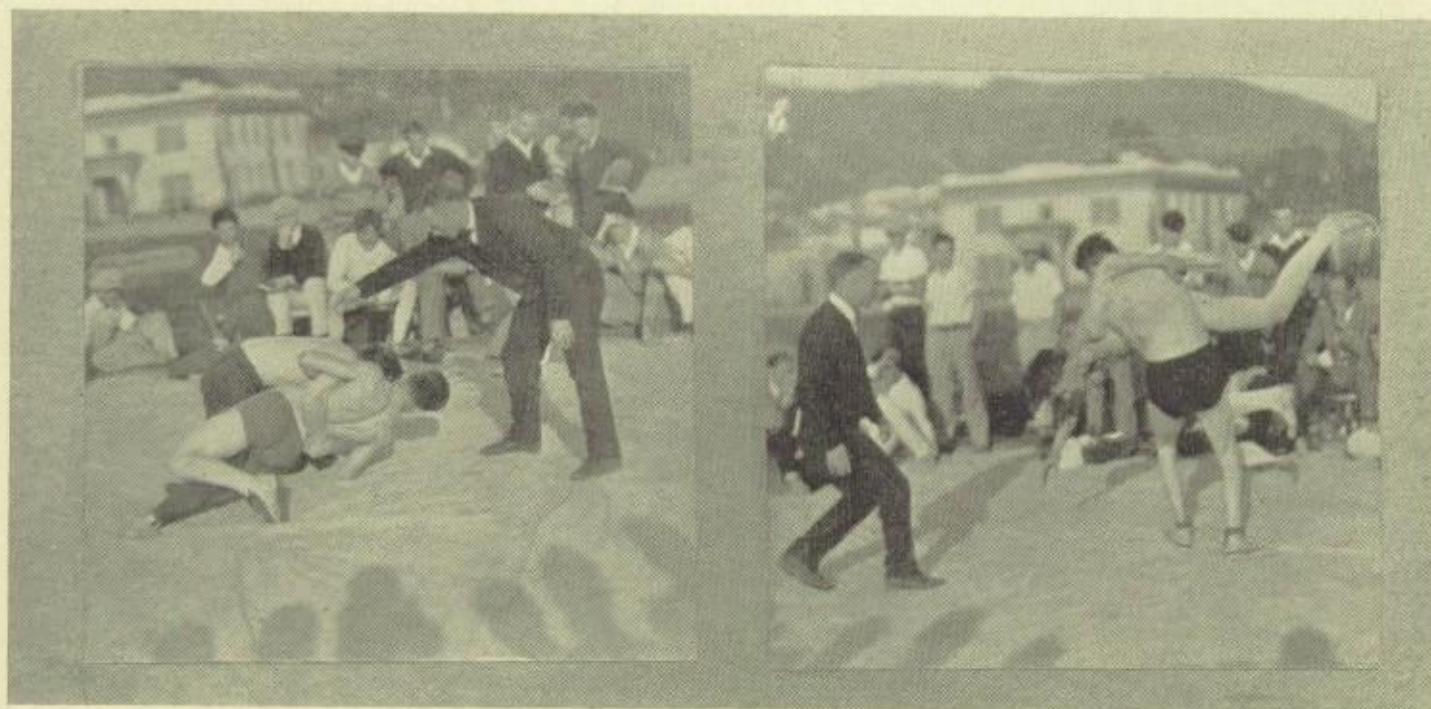

Wrestling is fast becoming a popular sport with the schools of Southern California. When teams first appeared there was some doubt as to their future, but last season and this season have shown different. Practically every school in the Coast League has now a wrestling team. Glendale had a great number of men back from last year's team and Coach Wolfe immediately began to work these over. Many practice meets were arranged, all of which were victories for the Dynamiters.

The first real meet was with Fullerton. The only points that were gained by the invaders was when Glendale forfeited the unlimited class. Julian Zuniga won his bout with two straight falls, as did Curtis, Cuncliffe and Elliott. Ezra Smith won his bout against a lanky opponent with two falls well earned.

Whittier invaded Glendale next, and was sent home defeated, 16 to 15. After the score had been tied, Smith's outcome would be the victory. He wrestled furiously and won after three draws and by two and one-half seconds. Gaylord Stigle, 114-pound man, won two decisions in the opening match. Neil Cuncliffe won a fall and a decision in such an aggressive way that Wolfe decided to enter him in the L. A. A. C. tournament. Groutage lost a hard fought battle. Curtis and Smith won on falls and decisions, but Elliott dropped his bout.

Bone Crushers De Luxe

Glendale continued its march toward the league championship when it defeated Alhambra at Glendale, winning all of its matches. Although the visitors had a good team, and the matches were close, Glendale came out on top.

The Dynamiters surprised every one and themselves by winning a match from Long Beach, one of the strongest schools in the league, 18-11. The meet started slow, with the first three bouts going to Long Beach. However, the remaining ones were won, which put Glendale ahead in the Coast League, having won all of the games up to that date.

The Southern California Mat championship was decided by a meet in which all of the schools participated. Four of Glendale's star bone crushers were on the sick list and were unable to compete. Consequently the Dynamiters did not stand any chance of winning. Gaylord Stigle, who wrestles at 112 pounds, and Frank Lathrop, the 135-pound man, were both laid up with injured ribs as a result of previous performances. Ezra Smith in the 160-pound class defeated his opponent in the finals and won the respective weight championship of Southern California. He was the only Dynamiter to place in the finals. Jack McDonald and Frank Looke were substituted for the sick men, but were eliminated in the first round. Earl Curtis, one of Coach Wolfe's veterans, wrestled against doctor's orders and dropped his first match. Neal Cunliffe and Lee Putter both put up good fights in their classes and won the first two matches of the elimination contest, but dropped the third. Smith drew a bye and consequently had only two matches. He won the first from Haulman of San Diego by a decision and the third with with Bowen of Whittier by an advantage of less than a minute.

Curtiss

The result of the meet gave the championship to Whittier school, which won seven out of the eight final matches. Either San Diego or Glendale were favored to win. The summary of the championship contest is as follows:

The Bone Crushers in Action

Swimming

As The Stylus went to press, a swimming team was just being called together. Coach Vic Francy was put in charge of swimming, both class A and C, and issued a call for candidates. Many boys answered his call and among these were three letter-men: George Grey, the medley and plunge; Frank Lipstreu, 50,100 and relay, and Bob Everett, diving and relay.

The swimmers were handicapped by the lack of a plunge and were forced to use the Fremont Park pool; however, Bob Everett, fancy diver, had to practice at Brookside Park for the first pool did not have a ten-foot board. The first meet, to take place a few weeks after the book was printed, was held in the Long Beach High School plunge and was the Coast League meet. The members of the League did not have dual meets but the championship was decided by the Coast League meet. Pasadena was favored to cop the league title. The team suffered a great loss in Albert Van Gilsen, who won the Glendale Athletic Club contest, because he was declared ineligible by the A. A. A. since he worked for the Athletic Club.

The events in the league meet were the 50, 100, 220 free styles; 100 yard breast stroke; the 220 back stroke; the medley, the plunge for distance, the diving contests and the relay.

Boxing

Coach Eugene Wolfe's fifth period boxing class opened the year with about ten members but as the class went on the students dwindled. There was no competition because no other Coast League school has a boxing team. The main purpose of the class was to teach the boys the art of self defense and daily they had practice bouts between themselves.

The boxers included: August Neman, Victor Dupuy, Emery Turner, Paul King, John Paglioluso, Robert Ruhl, Ralph Stanley and Harold Stancliffe.

Tennis

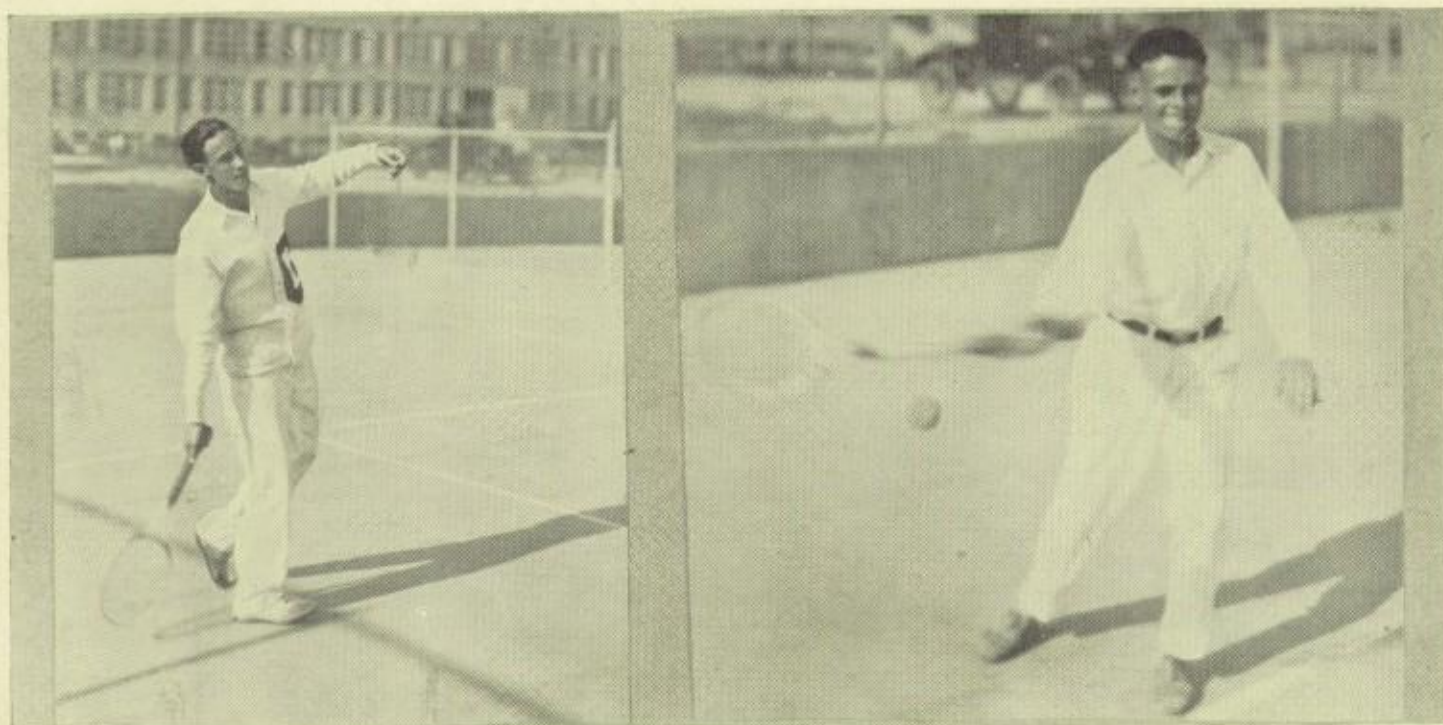

The tennis season, under the direction of Howard Butterfield, assumed a very brilliant picture at the opening. A large number of candidates answered the call for netmen and were soon put to practice. Manager Van Loon arranged for at least one practice game a week with some of the college frosh teams and neighboring schools. Victories were scored over Oxy frosh, U. C. L. A. frosh and Huntington Park, while the U. S. C. frosh defeated the Dynamiters very easily. Those who showed the best ability during the practice matches were: Captain Johnson, Bobbitt, Harris, Stone, Smart, Beals, Beech and Castlan. Johnson and Stone were veterans from last season's team.

Matches were proposed with Harvard Military Academy, but it was unable to send a team, so they were postponed. The new courts at Broadway High have been a great advantage over last year, when the team had to go down to Harvard High to practice.

The Glendale team was defeated by the El Monte crew by an overwhelming score of 14 to 8. The Dynamiters were not up to snuff and displayed ragged games at the best. Captain Johnson played first singles and defeated his man (Houser) easily, 6-3, 6-1. Keeley of El Monte defeated Don Harris in the second singles, 7-5, 6-3. The third singles were also won by El Monte, when Harrison defeated Henry, 6-2, 6-2. The last two single matches were won by Glendale, represented by George Smart and Kenny McCombs. Smart defeated his opponent, 7-5, 6-4, while McCombs won, 2-6, 6-3, 6-3. James Bobbitt and Jack Stone exhibited a poor brand of tennis when they lost the first doubles match, 6-4, 2-6, 6-1. Abbey Beech and Kenny Belas were both off form and lost the second doubles match, 6-2, 6-4.

If El Monte swamped the Dynamiters, Hollywood drowned them, for in a contest the movie city lads came out on top with a score of 19 to 9. The visitors were led by Cliff Robins, State titleholder, and were very superior to the Glendale team. The invaders won the second, third, fourth and fifth singles, as well as the second doubles.

Captain Sweeny Johnson won as usual by a score of 6-4, 3-6, 6-2. It was the hardest set that the captain had fought in a long time. Phil Castlan, playing second singles, started out fine and won the first set, 6-4, but lost the next two, however, by the same score. In the third singles, Johns defeated Don Harris in straight sets, 6-2, 8-6. Jack Stone was easily defeated by Robins in the fourth singles, 6-1, 6-4. Kenny Belas lost a hard fought match to Ray Patterson, 7-5, 7-5, in the fifth singles, but Grace defeated Don Patterson, 0-6, 6-2, 6-3. The first doubles match was called off on account of darkness with the Dynamiters leading, 6-3, 4-6, 5-5. The second doubles, which was played first, was won by Hollywood, 6-1, 6-1.

The Manual Arts crew of netmen was defeated by the Dynamiters in a match, 14-0. In a hard fought set, Johnson staged a fine comeback to win from his opponent in the first singles, 7-9, 6-4, 6-4. Don Harris, in the second singles, also won, 6-4, 6-4. Phil Castlan and Kenny McCombs finished off their men in great shape, as did Jack Stone and James Bobbitt in the doubles.

The netmen from South Pasadena were the next to fall before the strokes of the Dynamiters by a score of 14 to 3. Captain Johnson played first singles and completely outclassed his rival. Phil Castlan, second singles player, lost his match after he fought for three sets. This was the only match lost in the whole contest. Don Harris and Kenny McCombs seemed to be hitting normal again and easily won their matches. Charles Henry and George Smart played first singles, and James Bobbitt and Lloyd Morgan second. Both of these teams had no trouble at all in winning.

These games were all practice games, and up to the time when this book went to press no league games had been played.

Captain Johnson, playing first singles man, had made a clean sweep of games up to the time the book went to press. He had not lost a single set and was noted as one of the best players in Southern California.

Golf

Among the mashie wielders who put in an appearance on the squad at the opening of the season were: Kenny White, winner of many trophies; Gillie Eckles, Dave Hanna, Lee Mead, Bill McPherson, Dick Thompson, John Dietrick and Francis Van Duesen. The season started with many practice games at the Oakmont grounds. Only three schools had teams in the league and these were Glendale, Alhambra and Long Beach. The first practice game was lost to Los Angeles High, but a return match was held, and this time the Dynamiters came out on top. The Hollywood golf team was next beaten by the locals. This was quite discouraging at an early date, for no definite date was set for the opening of the league schedule and only three schools were in it. So the manager, Preston Hanning, made the best of it by having a big string of practice matches.

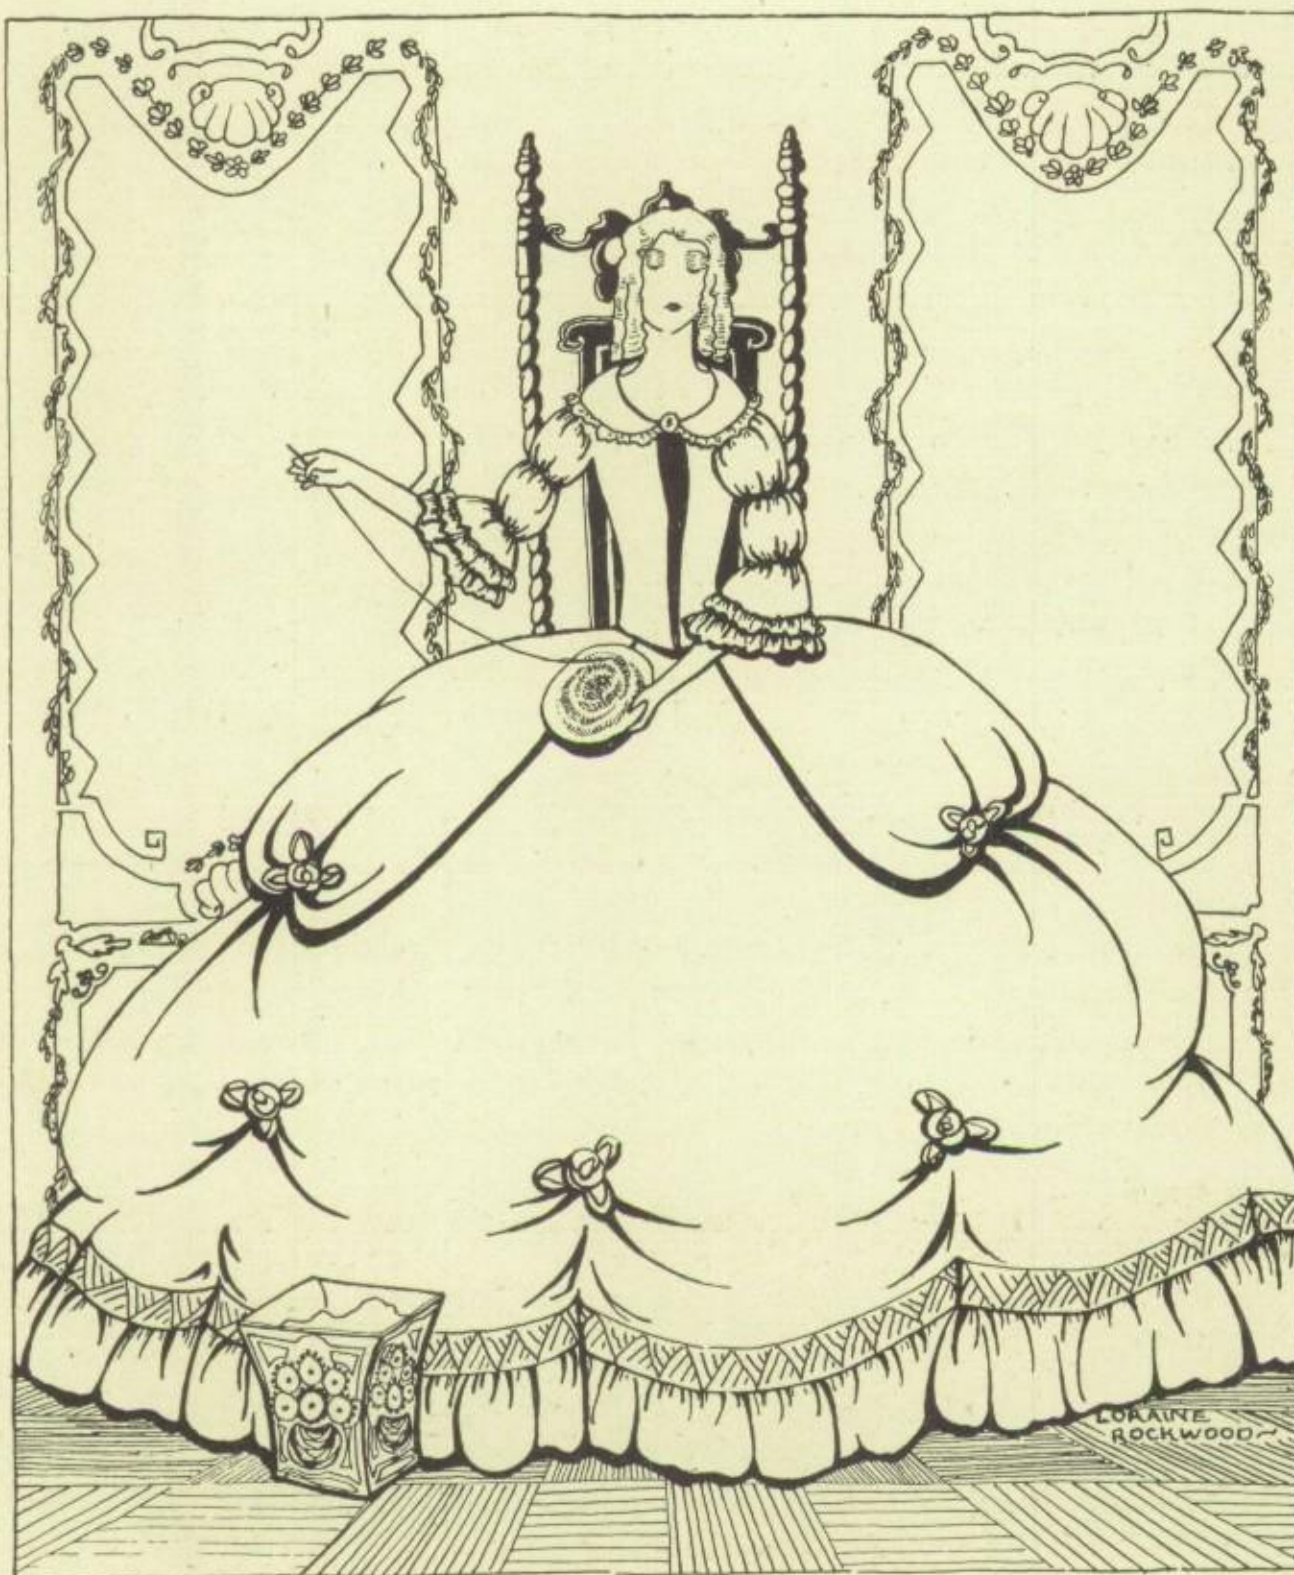

The Glendale team had another match with Hollywood and this time took four out of the five games. Gillie Eckles was unable to down the young man he was playing with. The first time the two schools met, the Glendale team took all five matches. Kenney White, elected captain, played first man and was an easy victor. Dave Hanna and Lee Mead played well in the second and third matches to win hard fought games. Eckles played fifth man, and Bill McPherson played fourth to win with a low score.

The Van Nuys golf team was next defeated by the Glendale team, as it patiently waited for the league season to open. The victory was close, the Dynamiters barely getting a 3 to 2 edge. The opposing team was not expected to be so much, but proved to have been under-estimated. Kenney White dropped his match, as did Bill McPherson. Dave Hanna, Lee Mead and Gillie Eckles all won their matches in fine style.

The league season had not yet opened as the Stylus went to press. However, Long Beach High School, with the assistance of Harry Moore, was developing a team that would give the two other members of the league a hard fight. Alhambra did not seem to have much of a team and the Dynamieers were confident of a victory when the two finally met.

Girls Athletics

Coaches

For the year 1926-27 the girls of G. U. H. S. may truthfully say that it has been the most successful one we have ever had.

The coaching staff, consisting of Miss Bailard, gym supervisor, Miss Champlain, Miss Burbank, Miss Havermann, Miss Musselman and Miss Franklin, have been the ones who have made this possible. Through their continued hard work and loyalty to the girls there has developed a greater spirit of cooperation, of understanding, between teachers and students. Miss Farnsworth, the school nurse, has faithfully discharged her duties, and has taken care of all girls injured in gym classes, besides teaching hygiene several periods during the day.

There has been an excellent showing of girls at all after school practices this last year.

Nothing could be more fitting as a beginning page in the Girls' Sports Section than these brief words which cannot fully estimate the esteem in which the girls of G. U. H. S. hold their gym coaches.

Volleyball

The Junior and Freshman teams, though not among the winners, played equally as good volleyball as any of the teams, and it was only after very hard playing that they were finally defeated. The Sophomore second and the Senior first teams also played good games of volleyball. Miss Haverman and Miss Bailard coached the volleyball teams and both deserve much credit.

Volleyball

The volleyball interclass schedule was hotly contested this year, as the teams were so evenly matched. Eight teams were chosen out of approximately 125 girls who tried out for class teams.

The Sophomores showed exceedingly good teamwork and won the school championship for first teams. The Senior second team took first place in the second team interclass playoff

Speedball

The Junior speedball team vanquished the Sophomores, though not without concentrated teamwork and hard playing. The Juniors had a dangerous system of passing which could not be equalled by the other teams. The Senior team was aggressive and swift and used ground balls to great advantage, while the Sophomores relied upon passing for their main plays. Miss Champlain and Miss Ballard played official rule givers for the speedball girls. As this is the first year speedball has been played, and since it is so well liked by the girls it will be played each year, instead of soccer, which has been played for a number of years at G. U. H. S.

Speedball

The Senior Girls won the school speedball championship by one point over the Junior Girls. The final game was the most exciting of the series. The score at the end of the half stood 10 to 4 in favor of the Seniors. Neither team scored in the third quarter. During the fourth quarter the Junior ire arose and the girls made one field goal and one touchdown, making the score 10 to 9 as the whistle sounded victory for the Seniors.

Hockey

Playing fine hockey, with lots of pep and clever dribbling, the Senior hockey team won the school championship. The final score between the Juniors and Seniors was 3 to 2. In many plays the Juniors surpassed the Senior team, especially in passing to teammates, but the Senior team seemed to make up for the loss in speedy running. Much the same predicament was found with the second teams. The Senior second team finally outplayed the Juniors, thereby giving both hockey victories to the Seniors. Miss Bailard and Miss Champlain coached the hockey teams during the entire season, and turned out all strong teams.

Basketball

The Juniors and Freshmen also had strong basketball teams. The Freshmen girls gave a splendid performance with both their teams. The Juniors were not as lucky as their friends, the Sophs and Seniors, but their teams were very good. The final scores of all the games were not large and the winners gained only two to three points than did their opponents.

Basketball

More interest was displayed during basketball season this year than has heretofore been manifested. The excellence of the teams may well account for the exciting games, both with the first and second teams.

The Sophomores won the second team interclass play. The Sophomores' ability to drop baskets won for them the championship. Quite a few girls were interested in the games and came out after school to watch the game.

Tennis Team

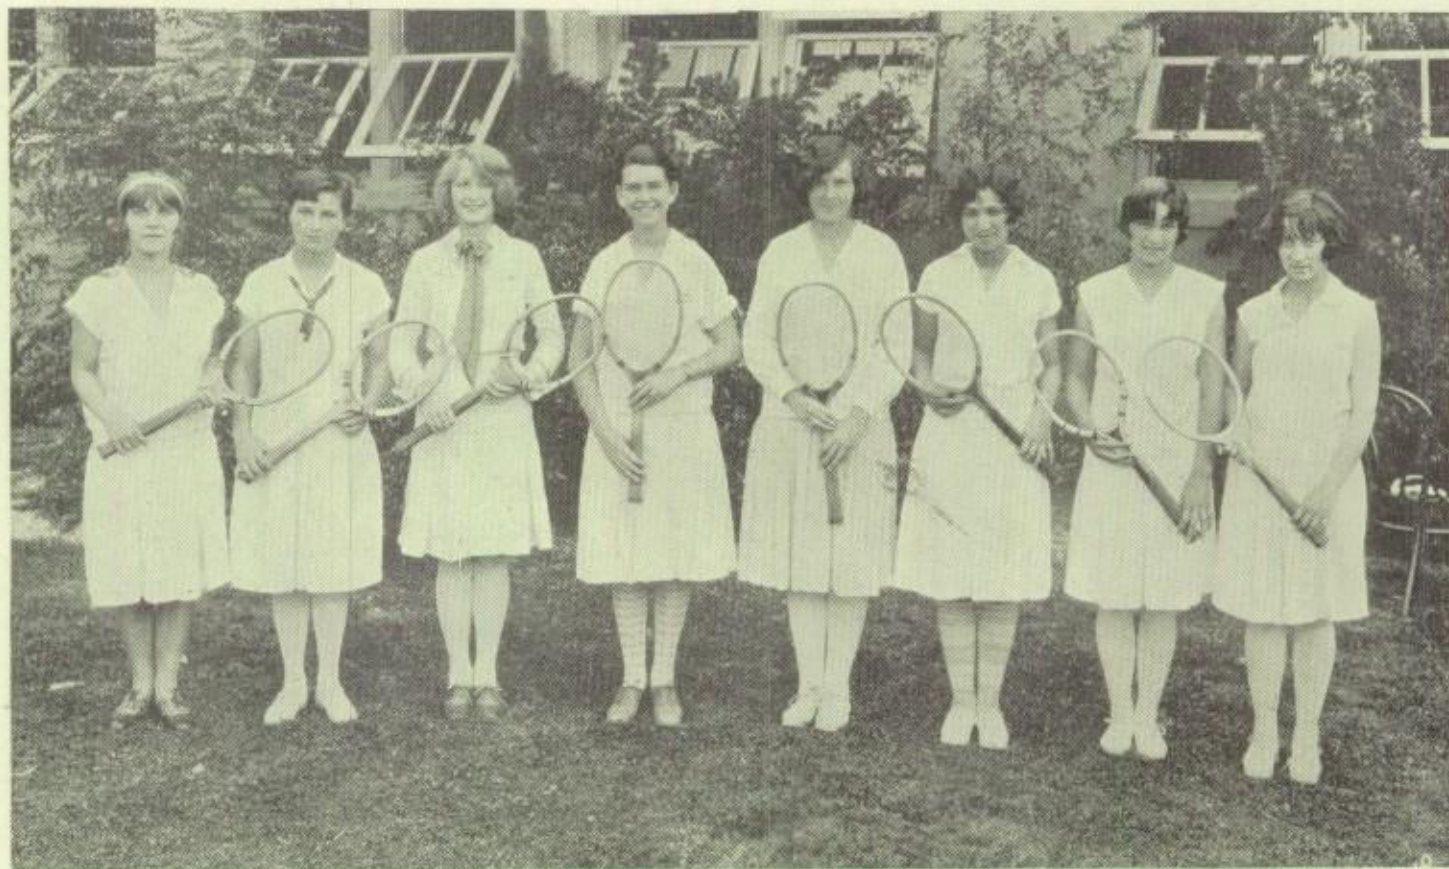

Playing at their best all season, the girls' tennis team has completely squelched their opponents this season. The Glendale girls played the Huntington Park team, which ended in a clean sweep for Glendale over the Spartan tennis sharks.

Louise Hoyt, tennis manager, played first singles and made quick work of her opponent to the tune of 6-1, 6-4.

Virginia Clark and Caroline Spradling played first doubles. They easily won their sets, 6-1, 6-2. Second singles was played by Ruth McCabe. Through consistent driving, Ruth finally won the match, 6-4, 6-4. Second doubles was played by Naida Taylor and Mildred Reindl. Naida and Mildred won after being forced to play 32 games. The score for second doubles was 6-4, 12-10, which ended a most exciting tennis tournament.

The girls' next opponent was Santa Monica, who has always come forward with powerful recquetters. Marjorie Gladman was absent, so Santa Monica sent another girl in her place. Louise won, 6-1, 4-6, 6-4. Glendale dropped first doubles to Santa Monica. They played three hard-fought sets to the tune of 6-3, 4-6, 4-6. Virginia Clark and Caroline Spradling played first doubles. Ruth McCabe, second singles player, won her sets, 6-1, 6-2. Eleanor Johnson and Mildred Reindl played second doubles. They were victorious to the tune of 6-4, 6-1.

"G" Club

The Girls' "G" Club had only eight members this last term. The other girls receiving "G's" have been graduated. Six hundred points are required for the first six-inch block G. The requirements are such that it is a real honor to be a member of the club. Thirty-six girls received their G's at the G. A. A. banquet. For 900 and 1100 points, a star or an emblem is given. The fourth honor which is won by earning 1300 points is a gold block G. A comparatively small number of girls receive the gold G, as it is the highest honor bestowed on the girl athlete.

Playday

"The best playday we have ever had," was the repeated remark heard about the G. U. H. S. campus Saturday, April 30, when Glendale High entertained eight Southern California schools with an annual playday. Schools participating were: Alhambra, Pasadena, South Pasadena, John Muir Technical, Monrovia, Van Nuys, San Fernando, Burbank and Glendale.

The Playday was scheduled to begin at 9 A. M. The representatives from the several schools began to arrive about 8:15, and from then until 9:45 they checked in at the main entrance. Upon entering the main building the girls were sent to the table representing their school, where they were given clever paper flower corsages with their school's colors attached. These colors were in the form of ribbons, which had tags attached giving the name and school the girl attended. After receiving these, the girls were directed to 109, where all coats and hats were checked. From here they went directly to the gym, where each school was assigned a division in which to dress.

The line of march began at 9:30 with practically every school participating. Glendale took part in the march, but as she was hostess, she did not accept any honors in marching. Alhambra took first place in the marching, with Monrovia and Pasadena following a close second and third. The sight was quite thrilling and won much applause from the audience. The Harvard High Freshmen girls exhibited beautiful form of marching, each girl dressed in her gym clothes with a black and red visor.

The inter-school games followed immediately after the marching. Glendale entered two teams in speedball, basketball, volleyball and one team in hockey. The teams were quite evenly matched in most of the games. Glendale girls won every game but one in their round of the inter-school playing. The other high schools shared equal honors in the several sports.

unison or separate schools giving their own yells. Each school sang its own school song. Glendale contributed three besides "Hallelujah, Bananas," which song was repeated many times. Several very amusing incidents happened at Glendale's table during the hour and to cheer up everybody, the entire coaching staff not forgetting Mrs. Moyse were asked to stand between bites of a much interrupted lunch.

At 12:30 the girls adjourned to the auditorium, where each school put on a stunt. Alhambra, Burbank, Pasadena and Monrovia's stunts received much applause. Between each stunt the girl yell leader for the following school's stunt was asked to the stage, where she demonstrated how well she could be a contortionist and at the same time make her school yell.

At 1:30 the girls went to the patio and the forbidden front lawn, where the various schools had groups who danced "The Ace of Diamonds," "Uncle Steve's Quadrille" and "The English Ribbon Dance."

To climax a wonderful Playday, Glendale girls gave a maypole dance in the patio as their stunt. They won much praise for their piece of work. After this everybody left for home, tired but happy.

Miss Bailard, head of the Gym Department, deserved much credit for the splendid way in which the Glendale Playday was in all ways successful. Miss Burbank worked faithfully with the committees and the dancing. Miss Champlain, Miss Haberman and Miss Musselman took charge of speedball, volleyball and basketball. To Miss Champlain may be extended credit for the beautiful maypole dance and the folk dancing. Congratulations are extended to all girls who in any way participated in the planning and carrying out of Playday.

Athletic Interests

GIRLS' ATHLETIC FEDERATION

Glendale had the honor of being the first vice-president of the Girls' Athletic Federation of Southern California, which was started a year ago at Southern Branch. The first formal meeting was at Pasadena. About thirty Southern California high schools attended. Two representatives from each school were present as voting delegates. Other students were also there to help in the discussions. The second meeting was held at Hollywood High and at this meeting Glendale was a member of the board. The third meeting was held the first part of May at San Diego. As is the custom, the secretary of Girls' Athletics and Glendale's other representative went to San Diego. Glendale presiding as secretary at this meeting and was elected president for next year when the meeting will take place in the new girls' gym early in the fall.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

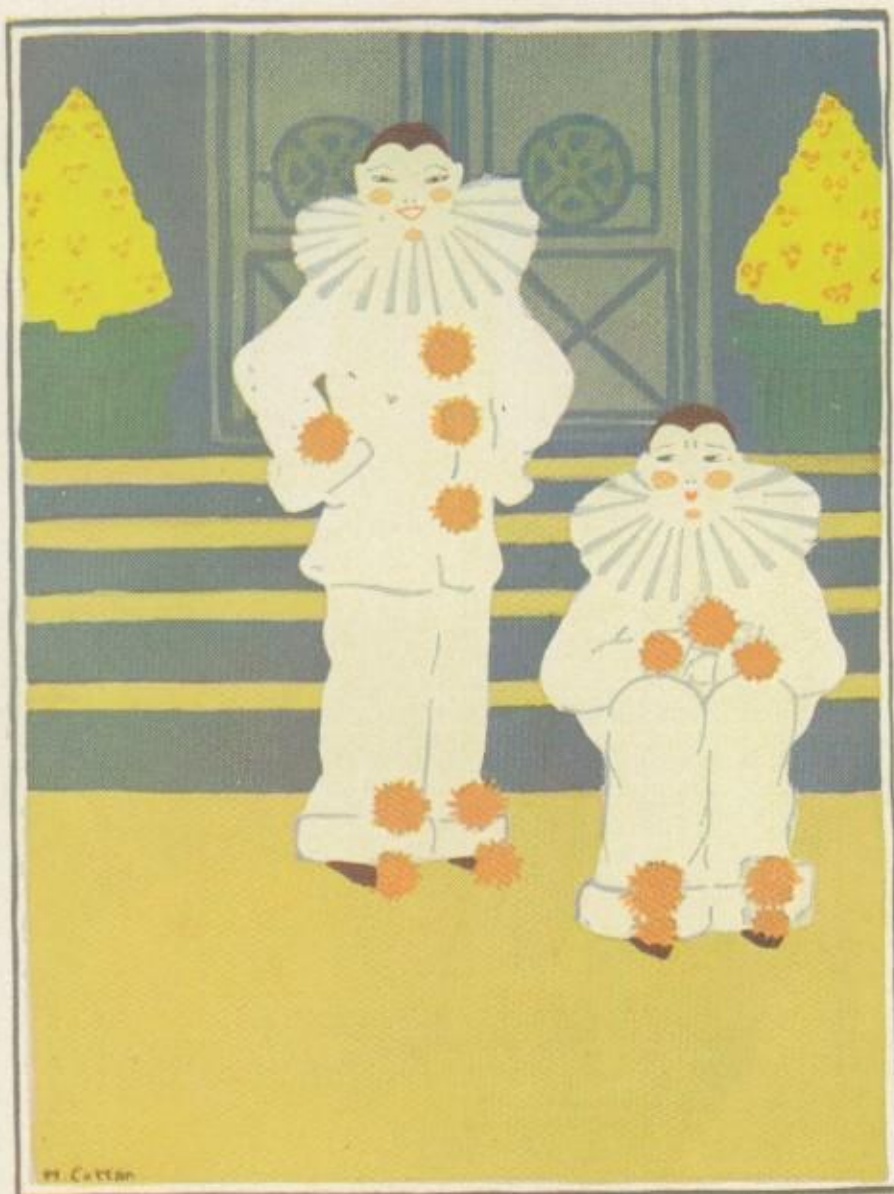

The Girls' Athletic Association of Glendale was formed several years ago, but until last year the girls have not shown active interest in the association. Last year the successful season began with a hard times party in the girls' gym at Harvard. This was an original idea in order to get all the girls together. The annual banquet was held last year at the Glendale Hotel with about two hundred girls in attendance. It has been made a custom for an annual banquet. The one this year was held June 3 in the school cafeteria. Each class gave a clever skit which were directed by the gym teachers. A musical program was also enjoyed and toasts were given. The banquet was under the auspices of the Girls' G Club.

The association has been very successful under the leadership of Audrey Phillips and Beatrice Case. Early this semester the girls received their club pins, which were very attractive. The officers had guards made for their pins. A gavel for the president and also the vice-president with the letters v.p. for the latter. The treasurer has a money bag, the secretary a book and the team managers an M. At present the G. A. A. has 250 members.

BASEBALL

As the baseball season comes too late for team pictures in the Stylus, the most that may be given is a writeup. Baseball practice has been held for two weeks and the teams were chosen May 22. On May 26 the first interclass games were played off. The remaining games were played the following week. Miss Burbank coached the baseball teams.

The season, as a whole, was very successful for girls' sports.

Preston: "U say, you 'wanted a man to retail canaries.'"

Storeman: "Yes, and you are ready to work?"

Preston: "I don't want a job. What I want to know is how did those birds lose their tails?"

She: "You have pretty lips. They would look nice on a girl."

He: "Well, I never miss my chance."

Mary B.—"Do you like boys with black hair?"

Ruth B.—"Yes, but I like boys with green backs better."

Teacher: "Use 'statue' in a sentence."

Abbie: "Ven I came in last night, mine papa says, 'statue, Abbie'?"

Cop: "Did that car hit this woman?"

Answer: "No, it slowed up for her to go by, and she fainted."

OH, MAN!

Before a man's married he's a dude. After marriage he's subdued. Before marriage he has no buttons on his shirt; after marriage he has no shirt. Before marriage he would not marry the best woman on earth; after marriage he finds that he hasn't.

BEFORE AND AFTER

At the front door two weeks before the wedding:

He: "My dearest darling."

She: "Willie, my love."

At the front gate two years after:

She: "Bill, where are you going?"

He: "It's none of your blankety, blank business."

SAD STORY

Two Scotchmen went bathing.

First: "I'll bet you sixpence I can stay under water longer than you."

Second: "All right."

Both submerged.

The police are still looking for the bodies.

He: "You've got to have a pull to get ahead."

She: "Yes, and you've got to have a head to get a pull."

I'LL BE THERE

*When the Angels take the roll call, I'll be there.
I'll take a clean shirt, socks and underwear.
When I go sailing through St. Peter's gate,
I'll leave my breakfast call for a quarter to eight.
When they call my name in the list of fame,
I'll call out "Here," and they'll know I came.
I'll sign for a pair of thirty-six wings,
A harp and trumpet, some other things.
I'll drift on clouds, lead a life of joy,
Play the Devil's March and Ship Ahoy.
When the whistle blows I'll bring my lunch,
And grab a seat with the rest of the bunch.
I'll see my friends from earth below,
Slim, Pat and Red, some others I know.
We'll smoke and enjoy our poker games,
Let St. Pete keep bank, and the players' names.
I'm a-workin' like Hades to earn my fare,
'Cause when they take the roll call I'll be there.*

—Al Moore.
